Viet Allies Are Shot In Evacuation Panic

WASHINGTON (UPI) —U.S. troops had to shoot several South Vietnamese to overcome panic and permit the evacuation of wounded last week during the Communist attack on the Special Forces camp at A Shau near the Cambodian border, it was reported today.

The exact number shot was not known, nor was it known here whether they were killed or merely wounded. But one estimate was that seven of the Vietnamese were shot.

The U.S. military command in Viet Nam still is investigating the matter and the Defense Department had no official comment.

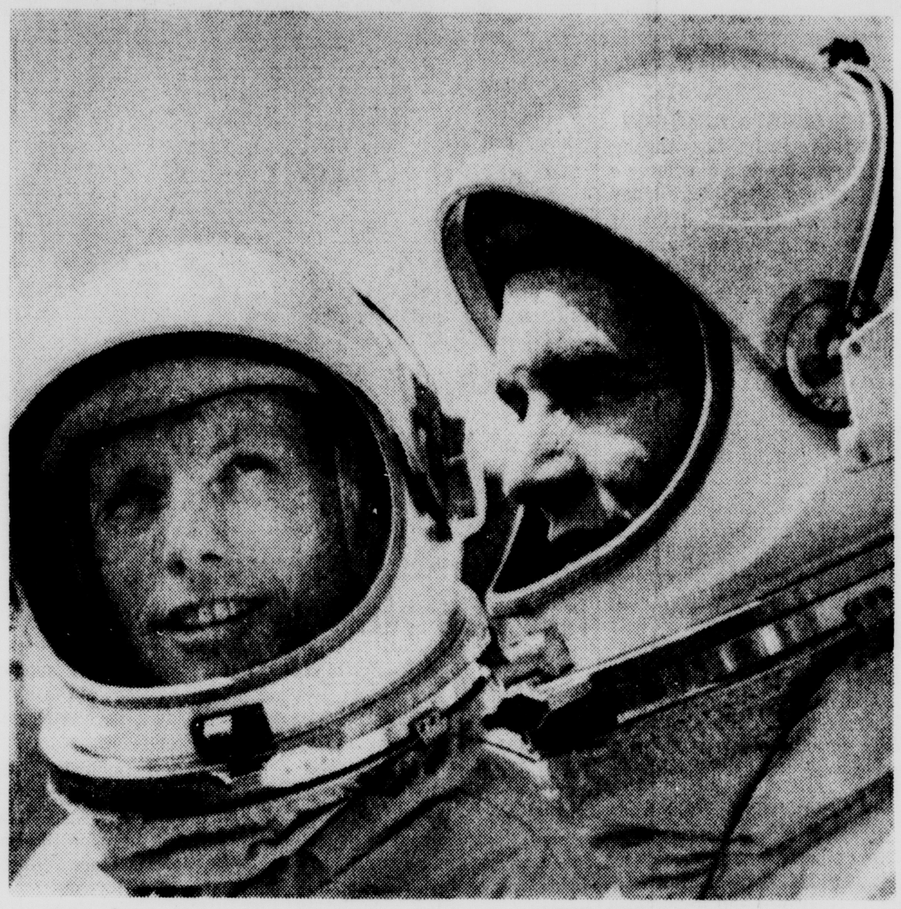
The Special Forces camp, a small facility that kept watch on the South Vietnamese-Cambodian border, was attacked by an estimated regiment of enemy troops which could have numbered as much as 1,500 men. The camp was overrun and had to be evacuated.

On the first day of the evacuation effort, March 10, efforts were being made to load wounded aboard the helicopters when there was a surge of non-wounded Vietnamese to get on the choppers.

With non-wounded hanging on the outside, the helicopters were unable to take off. That was when it became necessary to fire the shots as a reluctant last resort to save the wounded who were aboard. There was but it was understood no more shots had to be fired.

On March 12, enough helicopters got in to complete the evacuation.

Gemini's Wild Space Dance Revealed By Tape Records



SAFE AFTER ADVENTURE—Gemini 8 crewmen Neil Armstrong (left) and David Scott were being ferried back to land today after a forced landing in the Western Pacific when their mission went awry late yesterday. The two are shown in their space suits as they prepared to enter the capsule for launching. (UPI Telephoto)

Astronauts Return 'In Good Condition'

COMBINED AP & UPI

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON—Gemini 8 astronauts radioed from space that their space capsule and the Agena target it was docked to were rolling and veering "violently" before they had to cut short their flight, tape recordings showed today.

A stream of messages from ground stations and the Gemini craft speeding 185 miles high in the heavens disclosed the build-up of still-unexplained difficulties that forced the astronauts to bring the ship down before it became a potential death trap.

They were warned on docking that they might run into trouble and take control if the steering control system of the Agena target satellite "starts running wild."

Shortly thereafter, the Agena and the capsule started to buck and heave.

TAPES REPLAYED

While the hard-luck astronauts were heading today for Okinawa, aboard the destroyer Mason which plucked them from the Pacific late yesterday, Gemini Control played back the tapes of the hair-raising episode which forced the Gemini mission to halt on the seventh orbit of a planned three-day, 44-orbit mission.

The tapes ran about 42 minutes.

The Tananarive tracking station at Malagasy Republic in Africa radioed docking instructions yesterday and included the warning:

"If you run into trouble and the attitude control system (steering system) of Agena starts running wild . . . turn it off."

Gemini 8 acknowledged the order.

'CAN'T STOP IT'

Over the coastal sentry Quebec tracking ship in the Pacific Gemini 8 reported he had separated from the Agena target and "he's in a roll and he cannot stop it."

"He say he can't seem to stop it," came from the ship.

"The Agena's tumbling violently!"

Gemini reported a "stuck hand controller."

The ship was beginning to heave and yaw "violently" sideways.

The Manned Spacecraft Center said it was dispatching astronaut Walter Schirra, who has been on a personal appearance tour, and Dr. Dwayne Patterson from Hawaii to meet the Gemini 8 crew in Okinawa.

The Space Agency said Schirra and Patterson would pick up Armstrong and Scott for a 20-hour flight to Cape Kennedy.

RICHARD F. WOOD
Third in coroner race

Richard Wood Files To Run For Coroner

Richard F. Wood, 66, a consultant in industrial relations, today became the third person to file for the post of county coroner in the June 7 primary.

Other candidates are Dr. Donovan O. Cooke of Tiburon, a general practitioner and surgeon, and Gilbert F. Freitas, San Rafael policeman.

The incumbent, Frank J. Keaton, has not announced whether he will seek re-election. Considered a likely candidate if Keaton does not run is his assistant, William C. Bradley.

Wood, of 27 Harbor Street, San Rafael, declared today that the office should be held by a person of legal training and experience, rather than medical or embalming experience with no law background.

The candidate, a former law-

Low Pay Denied In Prison Rift

A San Quentin Prison official's assertion that low salaries and general prison conditions were reasons why two psychologists resigned brought a hot rebuttal today from one of them, Dr. Thomas Lowry of Kentfield.

Lowry, one of the key figures in a rift which broke into the open this week, declared that he was given good pay and "a lovely office," but quit because he was frustrated by a prison system which has not reduced the rate of returnees over a period of many years.

Dr. David G. Schmidt of Larkspur, chief prison psychiatrist, declared that Lowry and Dr. Arnold L. Knepfer of Kentfield, who also resigned, had prescribed the tranquilizer Miltown on a mass basis in 1964. Schmidt contended this practice brought about a black market in the pills which resulted in a spate of knifings.

Knepfer denied the charge, and Lowry said he would demand an investigation by state medical authorities. Associate Warden James L. Park, meanwhile, blamed salaries and conditions for these and other fallings-out between psychologists and prison officials.

Today, Lowry said Park's explanation was "really not correct."

$17,000 a YEAR

"I was paid $17,000 a year and had a lovely office with all the equipment I needed and a view of the bay," said Lowry. "What really frustrated me was the need for some changes in the system."

"For instance," said Lowry, "they have a rule which prohibits any research by the psychologists with the patients."

Lowry said he ran headlong into this rule when he tried to set up a research project on the behavior of 100 child molesters who were serving time in the prison. The plan, he said, was endorsed by experts in penology here and abroad, but prison officials said it could not be carried out due to lack of funds and of staff workers.

FORCED TO WAIT

When Lowry obtained a foundation grant which would have solved both these problems, he still was forced to wait 18 months, then was told his proposal had been turned down by Warden Lawrence E. Wilson, the psychologist declared.

"That is the reason people quit," he added. "It makes me convinced they are not really interested in preventing crime or learning more about its cause."

Lowry said he has records to prove Schmidt has often limited inmates to 75-second "psychiatric interviews."

"I think even a layman can sense that 75 seconds is not quite adequate," he said.

U.S. Bombers Followed By Enemy Jets

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Two unidentified jets, believed to be Communist MIG-21 fighters, shadowed American planes bombing targets in North Viet Nam, U.S. military spokesmen said today. The U.S. Air Force surface-to-air (SAM) missiles near Hanoi.

An Air Force F-105 Thunderchief was shot down by enemy ground fire during the raids yesterday while attacking the Dien Bien Phy highway bridge about eight miles east of the historic city. No parachute was observed and the pilot was listed as missing.

It was the first time American spokesmen have announced the possible sighting of the sophisticated, Chinese Communist supplied MIG-21s over North Viet Nam. Informed sources said, however, the swift jets have been seen before but not reported.

In ground action, the Viet Cong death toll today rose to 275 in the Communist attack on Allied forces sweeping War Zone D 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

A battalion of U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade paratroopers was hit from four sides yesterday by hundreds of Viet Cong. They called in additional troops, air and artillery support and beat off the attack in four hours of heavy fighting.

The paratroopers, along with U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops and the Royal Australian Army Regiment pushed into the jungles after the Communists had retreated. At least 142 Viet Cong were known dead in the first battle and 133 others were killed later.

One hundred Americans were reported killed and 808 wounded in action in Viet Nam during the week of March 6-12. A U.S. military spokesman announced

Farm Workers Start March To Sacramento

DELANO (UPI) — About 100 farm workers and their sympathizers left this farming town today to begin an ambitious 300 mile trek to Sacramento, dramatizing their fight for collective bargaining rights.

The marchers, members of the National Farm Workers Assn., panned to spend 25 days walking to the capital, marching between 12 and 15 miles each day and conducting rallies at 25 small farming towns in the Central Valley. They planned to arrive in Sacramento Easter Sunday.

The farm workers have been on strike for six months against grape growers here, seeking a union contract. Growers have refused to recognize the unions.

A National Farm Workers Assn. spokesman said the marchers took no food and depend solely on farm workers in communiies where they stop for meals and overnight lodging.

Among those beginning the march were Jack T. Conway, executive director of the Industrial Union Departent, AFL-CIO; the Rev. Keith Kenny, a Roman Catholic priest from Sacramento; Paul Schrade, Western director of the United Auto Workers Union, and Larry Itliong, organizer for the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO.

Russia Successfully Launches Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet Union today launched the 112th unmanned Cosmos satellite in its program of space study.

As is customary with Cosmos shots, the Russians did not disclose the weight of the spaceship nor reveal the precise nature of the mission.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Cassius Clay's draft board said today that the heavyweight champion's classification to 1-A will stand.

Dubliners March For St. Patrick

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A parade celebrating St. Patrick's Day streamed along Dublin's famous O'Connell Street today —and all eyes turned to the spot where Nelson's pillar once stood.

The 134-foot monument to Britain's most famous admiral was blown up in the early hours of March 8. The explosion was believed to be the work of the English-hating outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Irish demolition troops this week finished off the 50-foot pedestal that remained.

Patrick Files, Takes Swipe At Opposition

William Penn Patrick, 35, of Tiburon, who seeks the GOP nomination for governor, filed his candidacy papers today at the courthouse in San Rafael with a St. Patrick's Day promise to "run the snakes out of Sacramento."

"And I think we've got a couple more snakes in Mervin Field and George Christopher," he quipped, in reply to a $4 million suit filed against him by Mervin Field of California Poll.

"The whole idea of the Jan. 15 poll was designed to make Christopher look good," said Patrick. "It seems devious and dishonest for respected pollsters to allow slanted polls to be published in an attempt to falsely influence public opinion."

The optimistic Irishman, who heads a San Rafael cosmetics firm, conceded he is running behind Ronald Reagan and Christopher. But he insists his campaign is "on target and on time." By mid-May, he hopes to be only 7 or 8 points behind the front runners, "and on June 7 I'll come out ahead.'

His wife, Marie, and their two children accompanied Patrick as he plunked down his $882 filing fee before County Cerlk George H. Gnoss.

H-Bomb Missing Off Spain Believed Being Recovered

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —U.S. officials are almost certain a missing hydrogen bomb has been located in the Mediterranean off the coast of Palomares, Spain, and recovery operations have started, highly informed American sources said today.

In Washington, officials said they had no immediate confirmation of the report.

The sources said the parachute which brought the bomb down in the water had been recovered and the searchers were almost certain the bomb was lying in more than 1,200 feet of water several miles off the coast.

The nuclear weapon was lost two months ago today after a B-52 bomber carrying "unarmed nuclear armaments" crashed near the village of Palomares following a collision with a KC-135 jet tanker during a refueling operation over the southeast coast of Spain.

Quake Is Reported In Rocky Mountains

BERKELE Y(AP)—An earthquake centered "somewhere in the southern Rockies area" was recorded at the University of California seismograph station at 3:49 a.m. today.

Seismologist Cinno Lomnitz said the quake registered 5 on the Richter Scale.

Defamation Suit Filed By Pollsters

Operators of the California Poll filed a $4 million defamation suit against gubernatorial hopeful William Penn Patrick of Tiburon yesterday in San Francisco Superior Court.

The suit stems from charges by Patrick that a California Poll last February was "dishonest" and "rigged" in favor of George Christopher.

Mervin D. Field, director of the California Poll and president of Field Research Corp., declared:

"These charges that Mr. Patrick has been making up and down the state for the past month are completely untrue. They have no factual foundation whatsoever, and they are a serious slander on the reputation of the poll, on Field Research Corp., and on me personally."

Field called on Patrick to offer proof of his charges or to retract them.

"The California Poll is entirely sponsored by 20 newspapers and TV station subscribers who pay an annual subscription price to publish the findings," Field continued. "The California Poll does not accept, and has never accepted, financial support from any candidate or partisan group."

Patrick, as he took out petitions of candidacy today in San Rafael, said he welcomes the suit and a chance to go to court. "This is an opportunity to prove to the people that they are using gimmicks."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Labor Leader Dubinsky Retires

NEW YORK (AP)—David Dubinsky talks hoarsely, shouts because he likes to and breaks into a broad grin when he says he's leaving his Garment Workers Union with a $500-million "knippel" in its treasury.

Dubinsky

Dubinsky, 74, a Polish immigrant who rose from a buttonhole maker to head the 447,000-member organization, says "knippel" is Yiddish for money stashed away for hard times.

"I'm not expecting any, but it's pretty nice to have on hand," he said.

Dubinsky retired yesterday as president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union after 34 years in office.

Dubinsky was one of the last of the union leaders who grew up with the labor movement, guiding it out of the sweatshops and hiring halls into an era of member-owned hotels and health clinics.

Duck Grounds Plane

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A jetliner with 60 passengers landed safely here yesterday after a collision with a duck tore a 12-inch hole in a wing. Ford of Michigan said he believed the vice president ultimately should have an official residence but added: "There is a time to build and a time to mark time on a project of this kind."

New Appointee

Watts Is Quiet; War Of Words Is Escalating

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES—Police maintained a tight grip on Watts today to prevent a recurrence of wild disorder that wracked the area twice since last summer.

The Negro district of southwest Los Angeles was quiet last night but authorities were ready to roll in force should they detect indications of another outburst of violence like Tuesday's rioting. Other city agencies and residents of Watts worked quietly to calm tensions. But police remained concerned that an incident might inflame the trouble again.

SACRAMENTO REACTION

In Sacramento, Los Angeles' latest riots prompted a flurry of activity in the legislature today.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, R-Inglewood, proposed rewriting the governor's $260 million local school aid bond issue to permit big city school districts to borrow money to refurbish or rebuild old schools in the slums.

An aide said no new schools have been built in Los Angles' Watts district, in the riot area, for 37 years.

The governor has a different idea. He wants to use $20 million of the bond issue for portable classrooms in poverty area schools, aiming to reduce class size to 25 students for each teacher in kindergarten through the ninth grade.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee delayed a decision for a week on the bond issue.

POLITICS ARISE

The Watts riot threatened today to become a major issue between Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Republican Ronald Reagan in their contest for California's governorship.

Reagan bluntly charged the Democratic governor with "flagrant dereliction of duty" in failing to warn Los Angeles officials that he had hints of new racial troubles.

But Brown said he had received no "specific evidence"—only a vague warning from a Negro state assemblyman.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, meanwhile, pointedly said Brown failed to give him any advance hint of possible trouble.

SPACE SURVIVORS—Soviet scientists are checking Blackie (above) and Breezy (below) after their 23 days in orbit. (AP Wirephotos)

Soviet Space Dogs Hold Key To Next Spectacular

MOSCOW (UPI) —Scientists today studied Russia's two "guinea pig" space dogs before giving the go-ahead for a new Soviet space spectacular involving two or more cosmonauts and an attempt to set a three-week endurance record in space.

The dogs, Blackie and Breezy, returned yesterday from a 23-day whirl in space and were immediately subjected to a battery of tests to follow up data received while they were in orbit.

The Soviets indicated that only after a final evaluation of all the information would final approval be given for the new manned Soviet space effort—the first in a full year.

The dogs came through in "good condition," Tass announced. But authorities admitted some minor problems with heart rhythm and initial adjustment from weightlessness.

But the chief hurdle—coping with the dangerous Van Allen radiation belts more than 500 miles out from earth—appeared to have been negotiated, according to the Tass announcement.

Nazis Are Accused

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —A former general in Hitler's brown-shirted storm troopers, the SA, and a former Nazi diplomat have been charged with the wartime murder of thousands of Jews. The two men, Adolph Beckerle and Fritz von Hahn, are accused of taking part in the deportation of 11,343 Jews from Macedonia and Thrace to the Treblinka death camp.

Escapee Gets 23-Year Term For Robbery

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Charles L. Gove, who escaped from a California prison on Halloween, pleaded guilty yesterday to robbing a New Orleans bank and was sentenced to 23 years in prison.

Gove, 40, and Ralph D. Owen, 24, both serving robbery terms, broke out of the California prison medical facility at Vacaville, disarmed two Napa County sheriff's deputies, terrorized a family of three at a ranch near Lake Berryessa and fled the state in a stolen car.

They were charged late last year with twice robbing a bank at Cold Springs, Ky.

Owen, sentenced originally from Sacramento, was arrested last week in Kansas City, shortly after he got married.

Gove, a San Franciscan, was arrested by FBI agents on Bourbon Street during the Mardi Gras Carnival here March 16. A federal grand jury charged he took $4,500 from a Whiteney National Bank branch Feb. 10.

Judge Herbert W. Christenberry sentenced Gove in U.S. District Court.

Gove was captured hours before his name was to be put on the list of the FBI's 10 most wanted men. Owen made the list.

Tax Roll Trims System Recited

OAKLAN D(UPI) — Earl T. Parrish testified yesterday that he approved certain Alameda County assessment reductions merely by writing the initials of Assessor Donald Feragen on the files.

It was the fourth day of the former Alameda County auditor-appraiser's testimony at the bribery trial of his ex-boss, Feragen.

Defense attorney Herman Mintz asked if Feragen had ever written that he approved these reductions.

"No sir," Parrish replied.

Parrish said he used the Feragen initials "D.E.F." to clear asessmentr eductions for clients of Castro Valley tax consultant James C. Tooke in 1963.

Wolden Aide Tells Assessing Method

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A long-time aide to Russell Wolden testified yesterday that the San Francisco assessor always passed final approval on six large tax accounts.

Francis D. Brayton, a Wolden aide for 25 years, said the assessor's final approval was necessary even though he had computed assessments already.

Brayton testified that one of the large firms was American Can Co., which employed the services of James C. Tooke. Tooke is the Castro Valley tax consultant whose files triggered the assessors scandal.

"I can't remember who represented American Can prior to Mr. Tooke," Brayton said. "I can't remember what year he took over."

Asked bluntly by the prosecution who ordered Brayton's decisions on assessing the large companies, he answered: "Mr. Wolden."

Testimony by Brayton, still employed in the assessor's office, highlighted the latest procedings in the Wolden trial in San Francisco Superior Court.

Wolden, San Francisco assessor for 27 years, is charged with accepting bribes to reduce property assessments for large firms, thereby lowering taxes.

In other proceedings, witnesses from downtown San Francisco department stores continued reports that the assessor made large payments in cash.

The witnesses' sworn testimony added up to $36,000 in purchases that they said Wolden made in cash, rather than by check, in the past five years.

Wolden is drawing an annual salary of nearly $28,000.

One witness, Mrs. Lois Deal, credit manager of a Roos-Atkins store, said Wolden made $7,250 in cash payments from 1960 to 1964.

She said two receipts had to be made of one $1,000 payment because "our IBM at that time couldn't handle any payment larger than $999."

Bill Proposes Billboard Rules

SACRAMENTO (AP) — About 14,000 miles of state and interstate main highways would come under billboard and auto junkyard beautification controls under a measure now pending before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The bill cleared the Assembly Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works Committee yesterday and now carries the support of outdoor advertising interests.

That's because 4,000 miles of state secondary roads were eliminated from its controls. The measure is the California version of President Johnson's highway beautification program.

Hit-Run Auto Leaves Tell-Tale Evidence

DALLAS (UPI) —Accident investigator J. T. Forston of the Dallas Police Department had only a trickle of evidence, one might say, in a hit-and-run accident.

He followed a thin stream of water, leaking from the guilty auto's broken radiator, several blocks until he found the car and got the clues he needed to trace the owner.

government owns 47.1% of the Golden State's land surface now ....all exempt from local taxation can we afford to give them more of Northern California for remote park lands?

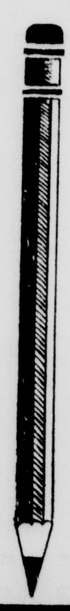
Nearly one-half of our state is government-owned right now, and since 1902 big government has been acquiring nearly 775,000 acres of our state each year. Now, redwood park proposals would seize many more thousands of tax-paying acres in the remote, northernmost tip of California...paying for them with your tax dollars and taking them off our counties' tax rolls forever...proposed parks that are not needed for the preservation of park-type redwoods. Let's put our parks near the population where people can enjoy them.

don't "Park" jobs & payrolls

If these unrealistic redwood park plans were to be adopted, the economy of the northern half of our Congressional District would be irreparably damaged. The growth of the forest products industry would be choked off. Every business in the Redwood Region would suffer. Drastic unemployment and higher taxes would be the result.



You can help put the parks where they will be used...

Lynch of San Diego admire commendation certificate given Lynch today by the patrol for saving the life of a San Francisco man who tried to jump from the Golden Gate Bridge (shown in background) early last Oct. 9. Lynch stopped his motorcycle, leaped over the bridge rail, and held Frank Lopez until a bridge employee slipped a sling around both of them so firemen could haul them to safety.

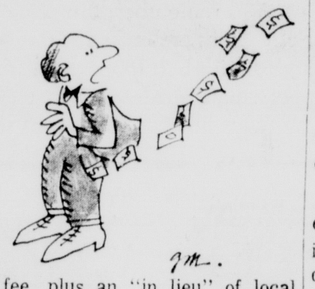
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

How Are Tax Funds Shared?



Much tax money goes right to the locality from which it was collected. The amount spent for national defense cannot be traced directly but the state and federal governments merely collect some tax money for the local community.

1. One cent of your sales tax goes right back to your county or city. The state tax rate is 3 per cent. Almost all communities add 1 per cent. The state charges a small collection fee, but most of the 1 per cent goes back home.

2. Most of the car registration fees go back to the car owner's county as a flat $8 registration fee, plus an "in lieu" of local personal property tax on your car.

3. Some of the gasoline and highway tax money goes back to the city according to its population.

4. Ninety per cent of the State Alcoholic Beverage Department's license fees go back to the city or county to help pay for the police, and other government services where these alcoholic licensees do business. The state keeps the rest.

5. Some federal taxes are directly spent where they are collected. A proportion of the federal highway taxes go to the state according to population.

6. Many of the state expenditures rest on the population of a locality. For example, school spending depends upon daily average attendance.

Welfare payments depend upon the demand, by population in a given community.

Some share of fines and fees collected for violation of state laws go directly to the local treasury.

7. Many of the "special fund" fees and taxes go right back where they came from. Fish and game licenses fees, for instance, mostly go to develop wild life. Park and recreation fees go back to the beaches and parks.

Proposition 14 Court Check To Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A recent U.S. Supreme Court decision has prompted the California Supreme Court to inquire further into the constitutionality of Proposition 14, dealing with the sale and rental of houses.

Opponents contend that the proposition, passed in November, 1964, permits racial discrimination.

The State Supreme Court heard arguments last October on seven cases, six involving Negroes who complained they were denied housing because of their race.

Today the court said it would hear further arguments next Monday. This is being done because of a Jan. 17 U.S. Supreme Court decision on a case in Macon, Ga. The high court held that a city cannot avoid constitutional restrictions on racial discrimination by turning its park over to a private agency.

Prior to passage of Proposition 14, California had a law forbidding racial discrimination in rental and sale of multiple housing. Proposition 14, repealing this, forbids any restriction on a property owner selling or renting to persons of his choice.

The seventh of the cases being argued was brought by the Fresno Redevelopment Agency because it has a $6.4 million redevelopment project at stake.

Is Promoted

Stephen M. Mathews, 24, son of Dr. and Mrs. Benton D. Mathews of 53 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, has been promoted to first lieutenant in the Air Force. He is a communications officer at Fuchu Air Station, Japan.

tonight. Eight were listed as missing in action.

There was an increase in all categories from the previous week. American losses from Feb. 27 to March 5 were listed as 61 killed, 177 wounded and one missing.

The spokesman said that, under a new system of units reporting direct to Washington, some of the newly listed casualties may have resulted from action before March 6.

The U.S. Air Force sent a flight of B-52 bombers today against a North Vietnamese regiment spotted in the D Zone jungle only 35 miles north of Saigon. Intelligence officers said it was the closest North Vietnamese regulars had been reported to the capital.

The B-52s dropped their huge bomb loads only four miles ahead of thousands of U.S. and Australian foot soldiers cutting through the brush with machetes and jungle knives.

An American source said two enemy wounded identified the troops as North Vietnamese regulars. One of them—a Viet Cong—said that his battalion of 400 men was 90 per cent North Vietnamese army regulars.

The U.S. command reported at its daily briefing:

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division cracked into the Bao Trai area, 20 to 25 miles west of Saigon, in a sweep dubbed Operation Honolulu, after the jungle division's home base. Its aim is to clear the Viet Cong from the many waterways and underground networks in the sector.

American Air Force planes joined the U.S. 101st Airborne after the paratroopers stirred up light contact with the Communists in ricefields 12 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, on the South China Sea 240 miles northeast of Saigon. It appeared a major battle might be developing.

In the central highlands, the 25th Infantry's 3rd Brigade skirmished with an enemy force of unknown size near the Laotian border 195 miles north of Saigon. The brigade is hitting at Communist supply routes linked with the Ho Chi Minh Trail across the border.

Tax Equity Sought

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill to equalize tax bites taken by special districts located in more than one county was introduced today by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond. The measure is designed to correct a situation in which residents of one county pay higher taxes than those in another because of a higher ration of assessed valuation.

WOOD

yer and newspaper publisher in Nebraska and Illinois, said it is a little known fact that the coroner's office is also that of public administrator and public guardian, both requiring legal knowhow.

Wood was admitted to law practice in Nebraska in 1924, and was elected to the Nebraska legislature that year.

He said he co-sponsored legislation which closed the office of coroner in Nebraska by making the district attorney "ex-officio" county coroner, with pathologists and experienced investigators as deputies.

If elected coroner, he said, he would initiate and support legislative reforms to that purpose in California.

"One of the problems in California," Wood said, "is to inform the public that a mortician does not conduct autopsies. The coroner, whether he be a general physician or surgeon, lawyer, layman or mortician, must employ the services of a pathologist who can correctly interpret and report his findings to the coroner."

Wood, a widower, came to San Rafael in 1958. He became an associate member of Marin County Bar Assn.

He has served as industrial and public relations consultant for several sub-contractors associations here.

Others filing today included James Andrew Smith, 47, seeking re-election to Democratic Central Committee, District 2. Smith resides at 16 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, and is a meat cutter.

J. Wallis Madocks, 45, filed for Republican Central Committee, District 5. He is an engineer living at 14 St. Johns Court, Novato. Seeking election to Republican Central Commitee, District 4, is Walter I. Dahl, 57, of 220 Canal Street, San Rafael. Dahl is a real estate broker.

Anthony W. Leal, 58, an incumbent, filed for a directorship of Muir Beach Community Services District. He is a steamfitter residing on Pacific Way, Muir Beach.

Ghana Declares Togo President's Assassin Found

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Ghanaian authorities are holding a man they say confessed the assassination of Togo President Sylvanus Olympio on orders from ousted Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, travelers from Accra said today.

Jacob Fulani, 34, was quoted as saying he was ordered personally by Nkrumah to commit the murder but that after Oympio's death the ex-president feared the assassin might talk and had him jailed.

Fulani has told Ghana's new revolutionary leaders Nkrumah financed the Togo coup with $140,000.

Hero Official Fired In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Maj. Efigenio Ameijeiras, a hero of Fidel Castro's revolution, was fired today from the post of armed forces vice minister and expelled from the Cuban Communist party's central committee.

He and several dozen other persons were arrested as part of a crackdown on "immoral revolutionaries," the committee's political bureau said.

Ameijeiras was purged because of his association and friendship with former Maj. Rolando Cubelas, sentenced last Thursday to 25 years in prison for plotting to assassinate Castro.

Redwood Roads Study Supported

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Creation of a commission to study a possible National Redwood Scenic Road and trail system from San Luis Obispo County north to Oregon was approved today by the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

The bill by Sen. Fred Petersen, D-Ukiah, asks for $10,000 to be used by a 12-member commission representing coastal counties and appointed by the governor.

Petersen said existing state, county and federal roads could be used in the scenic highway.

GRANT WILLS

OBITUARIES

Ex-Architect Grant Wills Dies At 100

Grant Wills, who celebrated his 100th birthday at his home at 77 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, on Feb. 10, died today at that home after a short illness.

Wills came to California in the 1880s and built a contracting business and an architectural firm, starting with only a horse and buggy.

For 10 years he was a member of the Hollister City Council, he helped rebuild that city's downtown area after it was devastated by the 1906 earthquake. He retired to San Rafael in 1940.

"My namesake General Grant was a fighter, my father was, and I am a fighter too," he said shortly before his birthday this year.

A native of Evansville, Ind., Wills settled in Colusa in 1887, and had established a contracting business, working up from being a carpenter's apprentice, in two years. He married his first wife, Anna Kretchmar, in 1889.

In 1896 Wills moved to Hollister, establishing a contracting firm there, and then also spent part time working in a San Jose architect's office to learn that profession.

In addition to serving on the Hollister council, he was many years president of the chamber of commerce there.

In 1912 he sold his business and a ranch in the San Joaquin Valley and moved to Berkeley, working as an architect and later as an appraiser for several banks in San Francisco. He retired in 1926 and built a home in Carmel, but soon started work again, establishing a real estate office.

His wife died in 1936, and he moved to San Francisco, where he met Mrs. Rita Derby, whom he married. He built his San Rafael house after that marriage. His second wife died soon afterward, and he married Mrs. Alice Nagle of San Rafael, who died in 1961.

He was a member of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, and California Bodies of the Scottish Rite, San Jose. He had been a Mason 69 years.

He is survived by three sons, James R. Wills of Santa Cruz, Dr. Irving Wills of Santa Barbara and Henry L. Wills of Lucerne; a daughter, Mrs. Fullerton; two brothers, Aaron Wills of Evansville, Ind., and Donald Wills of Santa Barbara; a sister, Mrs. Letitia Bergwitz of Gilroy; a grandchild; seven great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Wills may have been, for one day, the oldest living Master Mason in the United States. Thomas Yould of Minneapolis, who at 109 was the oldest member of the order in this country, died yesterday. Wills was believed to be the only other Mason to have passed his 100th birthday.

Memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the San Rafael Masonic Temple. The family has requested memorials be gifts to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, San Francisco.

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — "A major breakthrough in cement production" has been claimed by the Northwestern States Portland Cement Co.

The company says it has developed a computer control system for a giant rotary kiln that adjusts fuel, heat and material balances to obtain optimum conditions.

Funeral for Louis E. Gilbert, 52, of Martinez, father of Mrs. Patricia Lamb of Point Reyes Station, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Connolly and Taylor Funeral Chapel in Martinez.

Gilbert died Monday in a Martinez hospital. He had moved there six months ago from Santa Rosa, where he was an ambulance driver. He was a native of Washington and a Navy veteran of World War II.

He leaves his wife, Ivy; three daughters, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Elizabeth Bickford of Santa Rosa, and Mary Ellen Gilbert of Washington state; his father, James Gilbert of Martinez; two brothers, John Gilbert of Martinez and James Gilbert of Washington state; a sister, Mrs. Zora Rafanan of Washington state, and seven grandchildren.

M. J. CONDAS

Funeral for Michael J. Condas, 41, of 100 Cypress Avenue, Mill Valley, will be conducted at Holy Trinity Church in Salt Lake City Saturday.

Condas, a civil engineer, collapsed and died in a San Francisco tavern Monday evening. The San Francisco coroner's office reported that he died of natural causes, but that the exact cause of death will not be listed until pathology tests are completed.

Condas was employed by the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings. A native of Salt Lake City, he had lived in California for 10 years and in Marin County for three years.

Surviving are his wife, Joanne, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Condas of Salt Lake City.

CASA MARIN

these important facts can help you!

Wool is an animal fiber that has been used for centuries. The pros for wool are many and proven. We know it is noted for resilience. This means the ability of the carpet to fight back to its original position as you walk on it. Wool is living all the time, fighting to recover, so that it keeps its original look as closely as possible to looking tomorrow as it looks today. Nylon and acrylic fibers do not have the resilience of wool. Over the years the traffic areas in nylon or acrylic will show up more than wool carpeting. As a natural fiber wool has the ability to blend fibers for different texture effects. Wool has a natural look. It has sheen and color highlights. It has clarity of color which you can only see by comparison with other fibers. Look at the same color in acrylic or nylon, and you'll be amazed at how much brighter is the color of wool You'll find that acrylic fibers look more like wool in appearance than nylon.

Cleanability is a big question in everyone's mind. This is one of the most difficult questions to answer with reliability. We have found that nylon seems to attract soil more rapidly than wool, needs more care, more often in vacuuming than wool. But in turn, for spot cleaning of different problems nylon is generally easier to handle than wool. Acrylic fibers do not seem to attract soil as much as nylon, but a little more than wool.

Wear is the big question always asked. How long will it wear? How long will this carpet last? We feel there is a lot more than this to the question. However, if wear is your only thought, then nylon is the carpet to buy, with acrylic your second choice, and wool your third. Again, if you will analyze the prior statements you will see there is more to your selection than just wear.

You can see all three fiber types (plus even newer fibers now available) in Casa Marin's fine collection of famous brand carpets: Karastan, Lees, Wunda Weve. Make your decision then which type of fiber is the most suitable for your needs.

Our salesmen are qualified experts, capable of helping you intelligently in making the proper selection . . . and in answering all of your questions to your complete satsifaction.

Astronauts' Trouble Still Not Explained

There the crew will go into a normal nine-day debriefing cycle.

"They are in good condition," was all a Space Agency spokesman said about Armstrong and Scott in a morning briefing at the Houston Manned Spacecraft Center.

The nation was kept in suspense for five hours—from the time the trouble cropped up until the first word came that they were safe and sound aboard the rescue ship. An estimated 70 million or more Americans stayed near their television sets during the crucial hours.

Space technicians said last night they simply did not know what caused the Agena and Gemini 8 to start heaving and pitching in space while linked. The pitching continued on Gemini when it "undocked."

The shaking and vibration could have ruptured fuel tanks of the Agena or even the skin of the pressurized Gemini craft itself.

An air rescue pilot who flew over the Gemini as it bobbed in the calm waters of the Western Pacific said the pilots were "acting real cool" after the harrowing experience.

Armstrong and Scott had opened the spacecraft hatches, Capt. John W. Maddox, of Mesa, Ariz., said, "and they were just sitting there enjoying the sun and eating lunch."

The trouble cropped up only half an hour after they achieved the first linkup with another satellite.

At 3:30 p.m. PST, command pilot Armstrong climaxed a brilliant space chase by gently nudging the Gemini 8 nose into a funnel-like docking collar of a 26-foot-long Agena space vehicle.

Mission directors at the control center in Houston, Tex., suddenly were jolted out of their seats when tracking data indicated the joined spaceships were rolling.

"It took off in roll and yaw," Armstrong reported.

Here's what the data now available indicates:

Armstrong and Scott were preparing to make some maneuvers, using small Agena control jets to yaw the coupled craft. Purpose was to study resulting vibrations and their effect on the joined vehicles.

For some reason, there was a violent sideways movement, then the spaceships started to spin at a rate of about once every 10 seconds.

During this period, Armstrong's heart rate pulsed up to 150 beats a minute and Scott's to 135. Both normally register in the 70s. Armstrong managed to control the craft sufficiently to disconnect and back away from the Agena, which carried about 4,000 pounds of potentially dangerous fuel.

The Agena then stabilized, but the Gemini resumed its rolling motion and went out of control.

Armstrong was unable to operate his main engines to stop the motion. He activated a set of 16 thrusters that are normally used only for re-entry and was able to stabilize after wrestling with the problem for 30 minutes.

Gemini mission rules make it mandatory that the spacecraft return to earth as swiftly as possible once the re-entry jets are used. This is because continued use would deplete the fuel supply of the only system available for controlling the space ship during the vital re-entry.

Batman Fans Flay Breaks For Gemini

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

At 4:15 p.m., PST yesterday, America learned through the familiar "we interupt this program to bring you a special announcement" that the Gemini 8 astronauts were in trouble in space.

The stark reportof the near disaster brought 70 million or more Americans to their television sets. Most watched, anxiously and eagerly, for any word on how the emergency landing in the Pacific was going. Other viewers, a small but agitated minority, griped because their favorite programs were interrupted or canceled.

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) in New York said more than 1,000 angry "Batfans" called to complain that the Batman television series was interrupted three times for bulletins on the progress of the space emergency.

"What are you trying to do?" asked a Detroit father. "I've got seven kids and they're all howling and screaming."

There were so many calls coming into the ABC switchboard at times that newsmen had trouble placing outgoing calls concerned with the network's coverage of the emergency.

Kennedy To Talk In Mississippi

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Worried University of Mississippi officials imposed tight security on this tree-studded campus today on the eve of an appearance by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The senator, who played a major role in ending the university's century-old segregation policy, will address the law school student body tomorrow afternoon.

The appearance of the late president's brother has provoked some criticism in Mississippi. A "rebel flag day" protest rally is set for tonight in Jackson, the state capital 180 miles to the south.

State Harbors Change Revived

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Natural Resources Committee today approved transferring the Division of Small Craft Harbors in the Department of Parks and Recreation to a separate department with a seperate commission.

Last year Gov. Brown failed to sign a similar measure which would have set up a separate harbors commission with an executive officer. The present bill by Sen. Fred S. Farr, D-Carmel, would establish a Department of Harbors and Navigation.

OTTAWA (UPI) —They were talking about other things in the House of Commons today. Gerda Munsinger was nearly off the front pages and no longer a topic of parliamentary debate.

Out of sight, but by no means out of mind.

The judicial inquiry appointed to look into her affairs may go to Europe to ask some questions.

Justice Wishard F. Spence of the Canadian Supreme Court left open the possibility that he and his staff may travel to Europe to interview Mrs. Munsinger, the 36-year-old shapely blonde who was alleged to have been a friend of Conservatives in high offices. The justice minister, a liberal, alleged the improprieties in the former Tory government constituted a breach in national

Water Study Reported

Marin Municipal Water District is continuing work on a survey for proposed service to Muir Beach, Jack F. Harris reported to the Muir Beach Community Services District board last night. Harris, board president, said no date has been set for completion of the survey, to which the district has contributed $3,000.

State Spending, Income Increase

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State general fund income up 9 per cent and spending was up 11 per cent during the first eight months of fiscal 1965-66, State Controller Alan Cranston said today.

Revenues totaled $1.19 billion and expenditures $1.72 billion during the period, Cranston said.

The controller reported that the general fund borrowed $321 million from other state funds to help it through the months when revenues slow down. The money will be repaid before June 30, the end of the fiscal year, said Cranston.

CHP Beefs Up Watchdog Patrol

Watchdog patrols of Highway 101 in Marin County will be stepped up beginning this month in an effort to cut the accident rate and keep traffic flowing smoothly, Capt. T. F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol's Corte Madera office announced yesterday.

By March 30, 13 extra officers will have been assigned to patrol the highway from the Sonoma County line to the Golden Gate Bridge. Another 12 men will join the patrol by the end of May.

The 75 per cent building up in the Marin County highway patrol force is part of the patrol's "Operation 500" accident prevention program.

During 1965, Highway 101 in Marin was the scene of 1,065 reported auto accidents, of which 13 were fatal and 498 resulted in injuries.

"We are going to do more than investigate accidents," said Parnow. "We hope to be able to make people aware we're there, so they drive a little more carefully than if we weren't around."

Another job of the patrol, he said, will be to ensure stalled engines or blowouts do not snarl traffic, particularly during commuter and high tourist traffic periods.

During daylight hours, nearly all the new officers will patrol solo in cars, except for a small number of motorcycle officers. At night, most of the patrol cars will have two officers.

Similar force buildups along the highway in other Bay Area counties will make a major recruitment program necessary, according to highway patrol inspector Daniel J. O'Connell.

Transit Consultant Choice Approved

Marin County Transit District directors agreed last night to hire a New York consulting firm to conduct a $60,000, six-month bus transit study.

The contract, yet to be ironed out, is slated to go to Coverdale and Colpitts, one of eight firms that submitted study proposals.

The firm was recommended by Arthur C. Jenkins, engineer for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, who was hired to work part-time for the county on the study project.

Directors also approved an agreement with Jenkins whereby he will be paid $1,000 for his work thus far and $245 a day for future work, not to exceed an overall total of $4,000.

The board received a message from Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who was absent, requesting it to hold up a vote on the study until he and Supervisor Peter H. Behr, another absentee, were present.

Directors pointed out that their action last night expressed their intent, but that the contract with the firm is not slated to come up until their April 13 meeting.

Jenkins was authorized to start drafting a contract to cover the study.

Among possible methods of operation to be studied are:

1. Continuing private ownership of the bus system with a public subsidy and a limited degree of public control.

2. Public ownership of buses and public control of service, but using the fixed facilities, servicing processes and operating personnel of the existing carrier (Greyhound) under a contract.

3. Public ownership of all required facilities and buses and public management, and operation with complete severance of the system from Greyhound.

Although the eight firms also had submitted estimates on a separate study on water transportation, directors stressed that the study will be on bus transit only.

Thomas D. Hardcastle, one of Marin's two directors on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, said: "This study is urgent and there shouldn't be the least delay. If bus service is not improved, the commuter problem will become utter chaos in a matter of a few years."

Jenkins said he felt the "ferry boat problem" was a separate issue and not the immediate problem.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported that the City of Oakland has banned heavy trucks on the MacArthur Freeway, and possibly the county could put a ban on truck traffic on the Waldo Grade during certain hours.

Directors suggested that staff members should explore this possibility with the State Department of Public Works, whose approval is needed for such a ban.

More Money Asked For Pollution Study

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Appropriation of more than $1 million was requested of the Legislature Tuesday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a comprehensive three-year study of water quality and water control in the San Francisco Bay and Sacramento-San Joaquin delta area.

The study was authorized in 1965, and additional financing is necessary, he said.

Corte Madera Chamber Sets Up Study Committee

Directors of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce yesterday named committees to study a program of development of unimproved land, keeping businesses and preventing economic blight, reported chamber president Beverly A. Sill.

Directors appointed a committee to be led by luggage manufacturer Maurice J. Koch to work up a program for land development, then schedule a series of public forums on for discussion of that program, Sill reported.

Another committee will plan furnishing and staffing of the present Corte Madera Sanitary District office, which the chamber plans to occupy in June when the Town Hall remodeling is complete and the sanitary district moves to that building.

Sill reported that the chamber has received $800 in contributions for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July fireworks display. He said collections from local merchants should make up the remaining $700 needed for the program.

Clerk Pay Hike Asked In Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Clerks working for the state would receive an early $1.2 million pay raise under a bill sent to the floor by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The bill, covering 27,000 persons, would give them a 4 per cent pay raise effective April 1, which is three months before the pay hike of 4 per cent already budgeted for all state workers.

The explanation was that the clerks have gotten smaller pay raises in the past two years than their fellow employees.

Many Union Workers Due Pay Raises

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Nearly two-thirds of California workers covered under major labor-management agreements will receive automatic wage increases this year and negotiations will be relatively light.

The State Department of Industrial Relations has just published its annual calendar of collective bargaining which is based on a review of 511 large union agreements covering 500 or more workers each.

Director Ernest R. Webb said almost all of the 834,000 workers under major agreements not scheduled for wage negotiations in 1966 will automatically receive wage increases, agreed to in 1965 and earlier. The median increase will be 10.2 cents an hour, with one-fourth receiving raises of 8.4 cents or less and another fourth receiving 16.4 cents or more.

About two-thirds of the 320,000 workers for whom wage talks under 167 contracts are scheduled this year are in six industries — food and kindred products, except canning; telecommunications; electric, gas and sanitary services; construction; water transportation, and eating and drinking places, hotels and other lodging places.

Large-Area School Unity Study Backed

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night voted 9-0 for a unification study area to include the Petaluma, Tamalpais and Tomales high school districts.

The area can be reduced in further sessions of the committee but not increased. Next discussion of the proposal will be April 20.

Last night's action came after the state board of education turned down the two-district proposal that would have put the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area and the Bolinas-Stinson Elementary District in with Tomales as one unified district and put the rest of Tamalpais High School District into a second unified district.

Main argument behind last night's proposal was that the Tomales High area alone cannot be unified alone, Robert Stannard, assistant county school superintendent, explained.

He said that after unification, a portion of the Tomales District could be split away to join Analy High School District in Sonoma County.

Committee members John Hamren and David D. Ring were absent last night.

The committee set public hearings on the Dixie-San Rafael unification proposal for 8 p.m. May 18 at the Civic Center. The proposal is to go to voters June 7.

The committee endorsed a senate bill for a constitutional amendment that would reduce the school bond majority requirement from 66.67 per cent to 60 per cent. The bill is under study in the senate education committee.

Session Changed

The meeting of the San Rafael Sanitation District board scheduled for 5 p.m. today has been postponed to the same hour next Thursday because board member Fred E. Jensen is ill. The session will be held at city hall.

Economy Run Cars Reach Half Way

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The half-way mark will be passed today in the annual Mobil Economy Run between Los Angeles and Boston.

The fifty cars in the competition will travel from Wichita to St. Louis, a distance of 447 miles.

All of the leaders have averaged more than 20 miles per gallon since leaving Los Angeles Monday, except for the luxury group, paced by Mel Alsbury Jr., driving an Oldsmobile Toronado and averaging 17.84.

Les Viland, driving a Rambler American, is averaging 24.39 miles per gallon. He is a nine-time winner in the Class A for compact six cylinder cars.

In Class C, Bob Binder, driving a Plymouth Belvedere, is closing in on Viland in the informal mileage competition with a reading of 24.56.

Bob Checkley leads in the compact 8-cylinder Class B with an average of 22.33 in a Dodge Dart. George Miller, in a Dodge Coronet, is averaging 22.03, the best in Class D.

Pat Sawyer, in Class E, maintains a lead with an average of 22.12 in a Chevrolet Biscayne.

Grand Jury Continues Organization Talks

Marin County's new grand jury held an organizational meeting yesterday afternoon, then continued the session until 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to complete selection of committees and naming of a permanent secretary.

Foreman is James S. Goodale, 27 West Crescent Drive, San Rafael.

REFLECTIONS ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Sausalito Candidates Disagree On Marincello, Street Widening

Candidates for Sausalito City Council today disagreed sharply about Marincello, street widening, and appointment of top city officials, in a discussion of city problems on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

But all six running for the two council seats up in the April 12 election agreed that police patrolling must be improved.

AGAINST MARINCELLO

Incumbents Mayor Jan Paul Dyk and Earl F. Dunphy were supported by hopeful Serge Trubach in their filing of a city suit against the county over the zoning of land for Marincello, over Wolfback Ridge from Sausalito.

Trubach said development of Marincello will make Sausalito "just the other side of the tracks." Dyk and Dunphy both said Marincello would have a seriously bad effect on their city.

Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) countered that Marincello was a county problem that did not directly concern the city,, except for schools. Candidate Matthew J. Perry agreed. S. Robert Politzer said the city should work to improve Marincello planning, not harrass the county with lawsuits.

POLICE QUESTIONS

On police, all the non-incumbents said they were shocked that Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck had resigned on such short notice to take a job as chief of police in Union City, Alameda County.

Mrs. Owen said the new chief should be chosen from the ranks of the present department. She argued that the topography of the city requires long experience by a policeman to give adequate service.

Dunphy said he felt foot patrols in the downtown could be provided from the present force, and Dyk noted only 10 per cent of the reported crimes in the city occur downtown. Perry said he wanted to wait for the new police chief to decide.

Trubach said police should work only four hurs per shift on any one assignment, thereby covering more of the city with patrol. He also said the mayor should "walk up and down Bridgeway some morning when the bars close, and see what is going on."

Politzer said crime in the city would be cut if a new library and a teen-agers' center were built. "This city is a desert for teen-agers," he said. He also asked for repeal of last year's law prohibiting drinking wine and beer in city parks.

On a question phoned in about a high rate of venereal disease in southern Marin, each said the problem was not a direct concern of the city council.

Widening Bridgeway to 44 feet, as planned, would bring chaos, Trubach said. He said the city should buy service stations in the downtown and build a three-story parking structure there.

Politzer said parking should be provided on the edge of the downtown, with shuttle buses for tourists. He also opposed widening Bridgeway. Mrs. Owen said a parking area should be created by building an extension from the seawall at the south end of Bridgeway.

Dyk said the widening was the minimum for using state funds and would provide a lane for emergency vehicles.

Perry, retired Sausalito fire chief, commented that almost all streets in the city should be widened, but Politzer said streets and trees should be left as they are.

On appointments, Mrs. Owen said City Mgr. Charles A. Brown should be replaced by a civil engineer who can check building plans and do land use planning for the city.

She was bitter that she had not been appointed to the council when vacancies occurred, although she was the closest runner-up in the last election. "I guess they didn't want me because I was Sally Stanford," she said.

She said she should be elected to give representation to business operators.

The program, directed by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Tunnel Rebuilding Preparations Set

Morrison-Knudsen Co., hired by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to rebuild the Puerto Suello Tunnel in San Rafael, probably will not move any heavy equipment to the site until next week, a spokesman for the Southern Pacific Co., parent company of NWP, predicted today.

Work so far has been limited to preliminary surveys of the area, a search for an office and meetings with engineers of the city, county and state. One such session was held today.

The SP news bureau said Jack Wilson will be in charge of the project for Morrison-Knudsen, while A. L. Chisholm will be resident engineer for NWP. Wilson is now looking for a parmanent office.

The American League champion Minnesota Twins had identical home and away records in 1965, 51 wins and 30 defeats.

County Officials Draft Park Bonds Revision

Recommended changes in the June 7 county park bond proposal will go to Marin County supervisors March 29, Asst. County Administrator John W. Barrows said today.

Barrows announced that date after he, Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, and Walter Horchler of the county planning staff held a second staff meeting on the park proposal.

Joske said today's session was devoted to review of park projects with cost estimates.

"We are trying to hold this within the original $4.3 million," he said.

Review of the bond proposal began last week after complaints arose over the proposed distribution of $2.3 million of the total to cities and districts on a population basis. County Administrator Alan Bruce ordered study of distribution on a project basis.

If the original proposal is to be changed in time to get the change on the June 7 ballot, supervisors must act by April 8.

Drug Addicts Law Tested In Sausalito

An 18-year-old drug addict suspect was committed to Napa State Hospital by Sausalito police last night, believed to be the first civil commitment in Marin County under a new state law passed last year.

Brian A. Baeszler, who gave his occupation as carpenter but gave no permanent address, was committed on the basis that police believe he is in danger of becoming a narcotic addict.

The youth was picked up at 6 p.m. in the 500 block of Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, by Sausalito detective Jim Kane and sheriff's Deputy Richard Keaton.

He will be given a physical examination to determine whether he is an addict. If so, a court hearing will be set. If termed an addict, the youth would be sent to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona for medical treatment instead of being prosecuted.

Baeszler was arrested twice in January by Sausalito police on suspicion of burglary and has a history of suspected drug addiction, Kane said.

The San Francisco Bay area consists of the nine counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

Planners Consider Changes In Sausalito Zoning Rules

Proposed changes in the Sausalito zoning ordinance, including underground utilities requirements, were discussed last night by the city planning commission. No action was taken, the commission setting April 20 for further talks.

Other proposed changes in the ordinance, which was adopted in 1963, include making location of public schools and public buildings subject to review, discouraging creation of parking lots away from the users' own property in residential districts, and requiring specific approval for business activities which relate to automobiles in the commercial-industrial district.

Commission Chairman Alan D. Bonapart said the commission will discuss a preliminary fiscal 1967 budget at its April 6 meeting as well as hold a public hearing on pre-zoning areas outside the city but adjacent to it.

Youth Conference Full House Seen

Pre-registration for Saturday's Marin Youth for Action conference at College of Marin had passed the 850 mark at noon today and additional sections will have to be added to at least one of the forums, according to Lawrence A. Lindberg of the county schools office.

The forum on human relations has attracted most registrants, Lindberg said.

Co-chairmen for the event are Joe Freidman, Tamalpais High School senior, and Peggy Blackmore, a senior at San Domenico School for Girls.

Registration on the day of the conference will open at 8 a.m. at the college gymnasium.

Marin Man Named To Pilot Rate Board

Gov. Edmund G. Brown today announced appointment of Capt. George E. Melanson of 69 Rafael Drive, San Rafael, as a member of the Pilotage Rate Committee for the San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays.

The committee bienially makes recommendations to the Legislature on the establishment and/or changes of rates for bar pilotage for vessels that pass through the Golden Gate.

Candidate's Night Lacks Candidates

The Terra Linda Community Services District has scheduled a candidates' night without candidates this evening.

The session will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, Mrs. Cleo D. Murray, district secretary, said.

"It will just be an informal session," she explained, "the main idea being to stimulate interest in the district's June 7 election."

Two positions are open and candidates have until March 25 to file papers at the district office. So far no one has filed. Incumbents whose terms expire are Melvin Warenback and Sesto Lucchi. Lucchi has said he will not run again.

FIGHTING THE JUNGLE

The war in Viet Nam also must be fought against the jungle and swamps of the country. South Vietnamese Rangers wade through a chest deep stream in the Mekong Delta during an operation near Saigon last week. The group made what spokesmen called "light contact" with the Viet Cong and killed one near Duc Hoa.

Russian Says Treaty Wanted With France

PARIS (UPI) —Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin said today Moscow is ready to conclude a treaty of alliance or nonaggression with France at any time such a treaty is acceptable to President Charles de Gaulle.

Such a treaty would bring France closer than ever to the Soviet Union and would further strain ties between de Gaulle and his NATO allies.

Zorin said the Soviet Union is perfectly ready to conclude such an alliance during de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union in June.

The Soviet diplomat was answering questions following a luncheon given in his honor by the French Diplomatic Press Assn.

Zorin also used the question-and-answer period to pledge that the Warsaw Pact nations would either reduce their military forces or even abolish them if a corresponding move was undertaken by the NATO allies in western Europe.

Interview Put Off

A candidate for appointment as San Rafael city planner was unable to appear for interview by city councilmen last night because he had an attack of influenza, City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson reported today. The interview has been rescheduled for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

Tiburon's Downtown Approved In Principle

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously approved in principle a sketch plan of the city's downtown area, though several aspects of the plan still remain in dispute.

The action was taken on recommendations of City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and Planning Administrator Leslie Gross.

The plan, prepared by planning consultants Callister and Payne, will be reviewed by the commission at a final study session March 28 at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School. Commissioners then will decide what procedure they will follow in giving the plan public hearings, according to Gross.

Aspects of the plan still under dispute are:

1. Re-alignment of Tiburon Boulevard to by-pass the downtown area to the north while still connecting with Paradise Drive at its present intersection. The plan calls for location of the road at the base of Red Hill, but several commissioners would like to see it moved closer to the waterfront.

2. Amount of downtown area to be zoned for tourist-oriented businesses. The plan calls for nearly two and one-half times the present area for such businesses on the basis of growth of the tourist industry at the same rate as population growth. The commission may decide to restrict the development of tourist industry.

3. Amoun of open recreation space left along the waterfront. The plan calls for a park with about 500 feet frontage on Raccoon Strait; this would allow for more development along the waterfront than some commissioners feel is reasonable.

4. Size and nature of yacht harbor facilities. The plan calls for a yacht harbor of about 80 berths, with a sizable portion of this free for "port of call" docking. Robert Moor's Tiburon Tidelands Co. proposal, recommended for denial by the commission in August, calls for a 180-berth yacht harbor.

5. Location and character of a convention center. The plan calls for convention facilities for 200-300 people near the present Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard. At least one commissioner would like to see development of rustic, outdoor-oriented facilities instead of motel-style development.

Water Project Bids High, Low

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has gotten both good and bad news on big bids involving the multi-billion-dollar state water project.

Yesterday, it received a low bid of $4.57 million to build intake channels at the Wheeler Ridge and Wind Gap pumping plants south of Bakersfield. The state had thought the cost would be $5.87 million.

However, it got only one bid for an automated control system for the Oroville-Thermalito power complex. The state had put the cost at $821,645. The bid was $2.2 million.

Red China, Germany In Steel Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany informed the United States several weeks ago that it was involved in a prospective steel mill deal with Communist China and Washington authorities said today there was nothing they could do to stop it.

The deal was announced by a West German government spokesman in Bonn today.

The United States has a basic policy of economic boycott toward Red China but the European allies do not. The allies subscribe to a list of "strategic" goods which they agree to bar from Red China trade but the proposed steelmaking equipment is not on that list, officials here said.

Privately, however, authorities conceded a policy conflict dramatized by the steel mill deal. At a time when the United States holds Red China in part responsible for Communist persistence in the war in Viet Nam, they would like to maintain pressures against the Chinese Reds as an inducement to move toward a peace settlement.

GOP Council Wants Change In Span Board

The Marin Republican Council today called for greater Marin representation on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board of Directors.

Rodgers C. Broomhead, president of the volunteer GOP organization, said a majority of the 14-man board of directors should be from Marin County. At present, Marin has only two directors.

A formal resolution passed by the Marin Republican Council calls on Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley to introduce legislation necessary to carry out the recommendation.

FOR CHRISTOPHER

"Only with Christopher are we assured of victory in November," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told the Contra Costa chapter of the California Republican League in Lafayette last night.

"George Christopher epitomizes political maturity, personal strength and stability, proven leadership and experienced administration," said Bagley. He noted that Christopher is the only Republican candidate who leads both Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Samuel Yorty in the polls.

BRADEN LUNCHEON

Thomas W. Braden, chairman of the state Board of Education and candidate for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, will meet Marin County Democrats at luncheon Saturday at Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera.

Michael Dunne Healy of San Geronimo has been named to head the Braden for Lieutenant Governor Committee in Marin.

Puppies, Adult Dogs 'Fun Match" Set

Both conformation and obedience classes will be offered, with ribbons and trophies for winners.

When Can A Girl Call A Boy? For 'Just Friends,' Not Date

DEAR HELEN:

Why can't a girl call a boy just to talk? I don't agree on your answer to "T.," that a girl must have a real good reason or stay off the horn. There is a boy I know quite well. I only met him this year and we don't date, yet I call him anytime. Whenever he calls me, and one of us has to get off, he'll usually say "Call me later, huh?" And I say, "Yeah, if I can." So I call and say "Hi" and away we go.

Now, why, why, WHY not? Maybe it doesn't go in etiquette books or charm schools, but this boy and I are the best of friends, we confide a lot in each other, and nobody's chasing anybody. Okay, Helen?—16-YEAR-OLD BOY CALLER

DEAR 16:

A honk on the horn is okay—for your "just friends" relationship. But not okay for date-baiters. . . . And boys know when girls are "horning" in, don't doubt it!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a girl of 15 and when I tell you what I've done, you'll probably look down on me. But don't, please don't. Your column is for those who need help and believe me I need it now.

I'm not trying to brag, but I am built, and I get loads of dates, but most of them are with hoods. I go with guys about 20 to 24 years old and I get drunk, but I can take care of myself—or thought so. My folks have taken off and I'm staying with my grandmother, and if they couldn't manage me, how is she expected to?

Well, there's this wild, wild guy, but he's so cute, you just don't know. I went out with him once and we had a blast. But you see, he's married, yes married, and has a family. He had to get married, and he says he don't live with his wife. I said I wasn't going to get mixed up in a mess like that but he says I'm just playing hard to get and he'll wait. I read his mind through his eyes, and I don't think he'll have to wait long. He's 21 but looks and acts about 18.

All I want is advice to stay away from "lover boy," but how do you keep away from a guy with looks like that? Please don't give me no religious talk. I've been through that, and it wasn't enough. If my folks knew they'd send me to boarding school like they threatened before when I came home looped. —JAYNE II.

DEAR JAYNE:

The best way to stay away from "lover boy" and all your OLD drinking buddies is — enroll in that boarding school before it's too late! You're not having a blast, little "Loopy": you're playing with dynamite; and if you weren't ready to run, you wouldn't be writing to me.

Give it a try. You'll hate it at first — I wouldn't kid you about THAT, but I'll bet in six months you'll realize there's a lot more to life than getting drunk with 21-year-old hoods. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a sensible girl of 14 and my mother will no longer let me wear bangs. I have been wearing them for two years and they have become a part of me. I wear them just below my eyebrows. Please tell me how I can convince her. — BANGS LOVER

DEAR B.L.:

Try compromise: Cut your bangs just ABOVE your eyebrows. Yes, I know the thought makes you scream, but it's better than no bangs at all, isn't it?

Mothers kind of like to see their daughters' eyes. We're funny that way. — H.

Americans Prefer Living In Family To Single State

The single state may be bliss, but Americans apparently don't believe it. The vast majority of people in this country live in families, and the number of families has increased markedly in the past 18 years.

According to staticians there were about 47.8 million families as of March 1965, a gain of about 12 million in 18 years.

By 1980 they predict there will be some 62 million U.S. families. The experts attribute the spurt in part to the many millions of post-World War II babies reaching marriageable age.

How many individuals live in families? A whopping 177.6 million people or 92 percent of the resident population.

About a quarter of the heads of families are under 35, and another quarter are between 35 and 44. Seven out of eight families are headed by a husband whose wife is present. About one out of every 10 families has a woman as its head, including widows and divorcees.

In a single ring ceremony on March 5 at the City Hall in Pacific Grove, Linda Diane Geraghty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Geraghty of Novato, became the bride of Ronald P. Fair of Daly City.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white wool suit with matching accessories.

Mrs. Loretta Meeker and Joseph Meeker II, both of San Bruno, attended the couple.

A dinner party at the Outrigger in Monterey followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended Golden Gate College in San Francisco. Steven Geraghty of Novato is her brother.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fair of Daly City, was graduated from Westmoor High School. He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Bordi, Mrs. Joseph Testo, Mrs. William Clark and Mrs. John Knoll, all of South San Francisco and Mrs. John Schoonover of El Segundo.

Following a Carmel wedding trip, the couple will reside in San Bruno.

Mother-Daughter Style Show Tomorrow At Marion School

The third annual mother-daughter fashion show will be presented at the Marion School in Novato at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the multipurpose room of the school.

A spring-Easter theme will be featured. Hand knits, suits, coats and sweaters will be modeled by pre-school through college students as well as mothers and teachers.

Chairman is Mrs. William Bowen, who will also serve as commentator. She will be assisted by Mesdames Tom Pilkington, co-chairman; Peter Ruona, Richard Beadle, Clint Harrison, Earl Marshall and Lawrence Cato, in charge of decorations.

Shirley Spencer will provide the music and refreshments will be in charge of fifth grade mothers and served by the sixth grade girls.

BAY'S FUTURE TO BE TOPIC OF MARIN FORUM

The future of San Francisco Bay will be the subject of Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley in a talk to the Marin Forum on March 25. Bodovitz is the executive director of the recently formed San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The luncheon meeting will be held at noon at Sabella's Restaurant, in Mill Valley, with Mrs. Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley as program chairman.

Mrs. Arthur L. Sell of San Anselmo is reservations chairman for the luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Schultz Named Regional Officer For Mills

Mrs. Robert L. Schultz's widely known and appreciated talents for organization have led to her appointment to two of the biggest undertakings in a career marked by years of leadership in music, educational, social and civic affairs.

Holder of bachelor and master of arts degrees in music from Mills College, she has been elected Regional Governor for Middle California by the alumnae association of the college.

Also Thelma and her husband, who live in Mill Valley, have been named regional co-chairmen of the Mills College current challenge fund drive to raise $6,700,000 by 1967. This is the amount necessary to secure a three-to-one matching grant from the Ford Foundation.

MRS. ROBERT L. SCHULTZ

With the help of seven other husband-wife co-chairmen working under their direction, they expect to contact personally every alumna, parent and friend of the college in an area consisting of Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties.

Other Marin women involved in this program are Mrs. J. Benton Bostick Jr., of Tiburon, research chairman, and Dr. Margaret Greene of Mill Valley, special gifts chairman.

As a regional governor, Thelma Schultz will be responsible for three programs in middle California—the alumnae fund, student recommendations and public relations.

Previously she served as president of the national, San Francisco and Marin Mills alumnae clubs.

Marin organizations that have benefitted from her leadership as president have been the Symphony Guild of Marin, the Marin Symphony Auxiliary and the Marin Music Study Club.

Some of the groups in which she is or has been active include the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, the Founders Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital, the Mill Valley Community Church Club, Mill Valley Branch of the American Assn. of University Women and the Marin Mineral Society.

Because of her new responsibilities, it is not surprising that Thelma says she will have to curtail her activities in some of these groups.

Old Mill P-TA To Hear Panel

A panel discussion dealing with a school racial integration experiment will be the program for the meeting of Mill Valley's Old Mill School Parent-Teacher Assn. on March 24, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Speaking on a "Progress Report on the Mill Valley Experiment at Richardson Bay School, Sausalito" will be a five-member panel. They are Henry Horowitz, chairman inter-district committee; Amil St. Augustine and James Martin, Mill Valley teachers at Richardson Bay; Sausalito teacher Bonnie Clark at Richardson Bay; and Sausalito school board trustee Bruce Woelfel.

A recent joint decision by Mill Valley and Sausalito school boards of trustees was made to continue the Mill Valley classes at Richardson Bay School.

Card Party Sunday

A card party will be given on Sunday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito beginning at 1 p.m.

Dinner Set Sunday

The annual spaghetti dinner sponsored by the Our Lady of Loretto Parents' Guild will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. Sunday at the parish hall of the church in Novato. The date was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

Headphone Allows Quiet Practicing

Know someone who's learning to play an electric guitar? Can't stand listening to him practice? Then investigate a musical instrument headphone amplifier that lets the budding guitarist practice to his heart's content without disturbing anyone. Only he, through the headphone, hears what he's playing.

LEAVING Marin County this summer to assume the position as associate head of teacher education at the University of California at Davis is Dr. Dorothy S. Blackmore of Belvedere. Dr. Blackmore has been associated with Dominican College since 1951, and is professor of education and director of student teaching on the San Rafael campus.

Woman Educator To Teach At Davis

Marin County will lose one of its most distinguished women educators when Dr. Dorothy S. Blackmore leaves Dominican College to become associate head of teacher education at the University of California at Davis this summer.

Dr. Blackmore has been associated with Dominican College since 1951, and is a present professor of education and director of student teaching on the San Rafael campus. During her work at the college a number of honors have been accorded her department. The most recent is the award for distinguished achievement in 1966 given by the American Assn. of Colleges for Teacher Education for Dominican's teacher education program. Sister Mary Patrick, college president and Dr. Blackmore went to Chicago to accept the award last month.

SHE IS MARRIED to Edwin L. Blackmore, Marin County coordinator of elementary and secondary education. Mr. Blackmore will also leave his duties here and will be working in the school administration field in the Sacramento area. The couple have lived in Marin County since 1937, and have been Belvedere residents for 20 years.

"LIVING HERE has been an enriching experience," says the slender blonde woman, "We regret leaving our friends and associates. Our entire professional lives have been in Marin County. This is a professional move that is so intriguing it is irresistable."

A native of Willows, the education expert is a descendant of the Drew and Vanderford pioneer families who settled in Glenn County in the 1950's. She was valedictorian of her graduating class at Glenn County High School, and received her bachelor of art degree cum laude from Chico State College, majoring in both biology and English. She earned her master of science degree in education in 1957 from Dominican College, and the doctor of education degree from the University of California in 1962.

The Blackmores have two children, Bill, 19, and Peggy, 17, a senior at San Domenico.

THE LIST of Dr. Blackmore's professional honors and affiliations is already a long one and keeps increasing. Last week in Sacramento she was appointed to the state board of directors, California Council on the Education of Teachers. Another recent appointment was to membership on the national commission on internships, the association for student teaching. She is regional chairman of the California Council on the education of teachers, a member of several educational honor societies, the International Reading Assn., the California Assn. for Supervision and surriculum development, and the California Council on the Education of Teachers.

SHE IS ALSO the author of numerous professional publications, and is a recognized authority on the subject of teaching internship. Dr. Blackmore is now revising her handbook for supervising teachers, which was originally published in 1960.

Despite a demanding career and family responsibilities, the Belvedere woman has participated in community activities, including terms as director of the YMCA and Camp Fire Girls in Marin. She is a past president of the Reed Parents Club, and has worked with the Belvedere Nursery School, Cub Scouts, Little League, Girl Scouts and the Redwood High School P-TA. She has served on the Altar Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Belvedere, and is educational consultant of St. Stephen's parish day school.

THE FAMILY has a summer home on Silver Lake in Lassen County. "This," Dorothy says enthusiastically" is a primitive retreat. There is no telephone within 20 miles, we cook with wood and bake our own bread. One advantage of the move to Davis will be being a little closer to the cabin." At Silver Lake, Mrs. Blackmore indulges in two of her hobbies—hiking and bird-watching. Another favorite recreational activity is sewing.

By June 20 this outstanding woman will be on the campus at Davis, where in addition to her administrative activities, she will be a lecturer in education and a supervisor of student teaching. Thoughtfully she says, "I did not seek this change and feel quite venturous to be setting off in this new direction."

Emergency Buttons To Stick On Shirt

Just the thing for bachelors are emergency buttons. They solve the problem of what to do when a shirt is missing a button and there's neither time nor inclination to sew it back. The emergency buttons are a new stick-on type that will hold a fairly heavy strain while giving the appearance of being hand-stitched. Pull the button off the card and stick it on.

Scholarships Are Plentiful This Spring

By ALAN M. ADELSON

Springtime is scholarship time.

Knowing this full well, Marin high school guidance counselors have turned their fancies to finding ways for their students to tap into the deep pool of money which is given away annually for pursuit of higher education.

So great is the number of scholarships offered, and so varied are the qualifications for winning them, that every high school in Marin has a guidance counselor whose special responsibility is to inform students about opportunities for receiving financial aid.

Announcements of new scholarships come into the counselors' offices in large daily batches during the early spring.

"No matter what we do, it's inevitable that some of the students will eventually ask, "Why didn't I ever hear about that scholarship?" lamented Mrs. Grace Nelson, Redwood High School's guidance counselor specializing in scholarships.

But she and her colleagues around the county, are fighting that "inevitability."

Most Marin high schools hold at least one large assembly at which procedure for selecting and applying for scholarships is explained. In addition, the schools maintain bulletin boards devoted especially to newly announced scholarship opportunities. Newsletters are published monthly in the Tamalpais High School District listing scholarships and telling students how to apply for them.

"One of our greatest problems is that the students are modest, and even if they feel they need the money, they don't realize how well qualified they are to get it," said Mrs. Nelson.

Parents, who have a much better idea of the family's financial needs than their children, are often well advised to consult personally with guidance counselor if they feel there will be a need for aid, Mrs. Nelson said.

Sources of aid, and guides on how to get it, are myriad.

The best single source of scholarship money, most counselors agree, is the individual college, which gives money on admittance or during the student's college years if his need suddenly increases or his grades or extracurricular activities make him newly qualified.

Deadlines have already passed this year for some awards, including the California state scholarships, for which applications must be made in January.

Besides scholarships, there are low-interest loans available to help finance college. Greatest source of these is National Defense Education Act loans, which are given in amounts up to $5,000 for undergraduate studies. These are usually administered through the college.

Following is a listing of most of the local scholarships offered for Marin students only, and of some regional, state, and national scholarships which local counselors have found good financial resources for their students.

The Great Sonnet Storm: Poets Protest Politico's Promulgation

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus is one step away today from becoming the fifth poet laureate of California.

Shunting aside opposition from 45 state poetry organizations, the Senate Rules Committee yesterday approved a resolution that would bestow the honor on the Reedley Democrat.

Sen. Vernon L. Sturgeon, R-Paso Robles, cast the lone negative vote on the five-man committee.

"I don't know a sonnet from an ode," said Sturgeon, adding "somebody besides us ought to make this sort of decision."

An audience consisting of poets from throughout the state applauded.

"I wish you folks lived in my district," Sturgeon said.

"We'll move," someone yelled from the rear of the hearing room.

If the resolution, now on the Senate floor, is adopted by the upper house, Garrigus—an English instructor at Reedley College—would receive the honor, for which there is no pay. The measure, already adopted by the Assembly on a voice vote, doesn't need Gov. Edmund G. Brown's signature.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, the resolution's author, told the committee it is "extremely difficult" to gauge the relative merits of poetry.

But, he said, "it is proper to confer this title on one who has acted so well in this capacity."

Stout opposition came from Mrs. Grace Callahan of Sacramento, vice president of the northern chapter of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets, who said she was representing the 45 poetry groups.

Mrs. Callahan, seated alongside Crown, presented the committee samples of Garrigus' work with attached critical comments and declared:

"No poet who is a master of his craft would have this many trite phrases."

Mrs. Callahan then proceeded to lecture Senate President Pro Ten Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, committee chairman, and Sens. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael; Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point; J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco; and Sturgeon on technique, meter and couplets.

With one exception, she said, the 45 organizations are supporting Miss Edythe Hope Genee of Hollywood for the honor that has gone begging since 1961.

McAteer challenged Mrs. Callahan, asserting that if the legislature didn't like Garrigus' work they could pass a resolution rescinding the action.

The San Francisco Democrat called Garrigus an excellent "working poet" and said he has performed with excellence when called upon to compose poetry for state functions.

But Mrs. Callahan, avoiding the icy stare of Crown, told the committee point blank that "the word of poetry craftsmen should be taken" instead.

Burns, joining McAteer in support of Garrigus, said no one should draw the inference th lawmakers were naming the best poet, but that they were "just recognizing his service to the state and to the people of California." Garrigus has announced he won't seek re-election to the legislature.

Crown, quoting from Hamlet, said the line, "To take arms against a sea of troubles," was just as implausible as some of Garrigus' work. But, he said, Shakespeare is applauded anyway.

The audience groaned.

Base Stabbing Report Asks Lesser Charge

The written report on the pre-court martial hearing of A/1c James O. Young has recommended that he be tried for second degree murder, Hamilton Air Force base officials said today.

Maj. James E. Greene, judge advocate of Travis Air Force Base, who conducted the pre-court martial hearing which ended on Feb. 24, has made the recommendation that the charge be lowered from first to second degree murder.

His report, which was sent to Col. Ralph M. Wanderer Jr., base commander, is being studied by the judge advocate of the 28th Air Division. He will report to Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the 28th Air Division, who will then decide when and if a court martial is to be called.

Airman Young was accused of murder in the Christmas morning slaying of A/1c Robert M. Jennings in their barracks after a drinking party.

AWOL Marine Sets Self Afire

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Mervin R. Ryker, 19, an AWOL Marine, was in critical condition today after attempting to destroy himself in the manner of a Vietnamese Buddhist monk by setting himself on fire.

Henry Hoyt said he heard screams at about 10:30 p.m. yesterday. He looked out his window and saw a "ball of fire" streaking down the street. He rushed out with a blanket and smothered the flames.

Neighbors called police and took Ryker to the hospital. Police said the victim's clothing reeked of gasoline. His home was more than half a mile from where he was found afire.

His condition was so critical that he could not be removed from Sequoia Hospital to a naval hospital.

Seven Prep Graduates Sign For Navy Hitches

Seven Marin County high school graduates have enlisted in the Navy and will undergo recruit training at San Diego and Great Lakes, Ill.

They are: Michael J. Anderson, 21, of 49 Lyford Drive, Tiburon, a graduate of Novato High School; William T. Anderson, 18, of 440 Alameda De La Loma, Novato, (San Rafael High School); Phillip A. Gazzano, 18, of 67 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, (Sir Francis Drake High School); Edward F. Ghiringhelli Jr., 20, of 25 Harcourt Street, San Rafael, (Marin Catholic High School); Bradley C. Dever, 18, of 701 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, (Drake High School); Robert G. Gomez, 19, of 311 Molino Avenue, Mill Valley, (Tamalpais High School); and Gary L. Wallick, 19, of 443 Bolling Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Child's Eye For Diamonds Is Rewarded

Sharp-eyed Douglas Pope, the 7-year-old Tiburon boy who found a diamond Tuesday which a Belvedere woman had lost from a ring, got a reward for his discovery today.

Mrs. Edith Imrie of 555 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, who lost the diamond on Friday in the Boardwalk Shopping Center in Tiburon, admitted she gave little Douglas a check which, she said, "He'll probably put away for his college education."

Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Pope of 675 Hawthorne Drive, Tiburon, had taken his find quite in stride, Mrs. Imrie said.

"I complimented him on being so alert. He saw the tiny stone at his feet, but he said, 'Oh, I always look down. I do it when I'm studying my books in school.' "

Credit Union Elects Directors For Term

Independent-Journal employees Frank Turner and Jack Lucey were re-elected directors of the I-J Federal Credit Union at the annual shareholders' meeting last night, attended by 10 persons.

The group also elected Loren Lind and re-elected Kent Dreitzler to the credit committee. Lind replaces Albert G. Todaro.

Government Faces Riots In Indonesia

SINGAPORE (UPI) —Indonesia's anti-Communist students rose up in new anti-government demonstrations today less than 24 hours after President Sukarno claimed he still had full power. One report said the students gave him 48 hours to form an anti-Communist cabinet.

The students occupied the residences of six government ministers and seized two government officials, the reports from Jakarta said.

Private reports from Jakarta indicated that pro-Communist Foreign Minister Subandrio, the first prime minister, remained the major target of the students. The students were angered because they said he had been linked with a secret pact with Communist China.

STUDENT DEMANDS

The students are demanding that the 100-man cabinet be dissolved and food prices lowered in addition to seeking the resignation of Subandrio.

Sukarno insisted in a speech yesterday that he was still the supreme leader and could name anyone to the cabinet he chose.

Observers in Singapore expressed doubt as to the validity of Sukarno's claim he was in undisputed control as broadcast by the official Radio Jakarta.

LIFETIME CHIEF

The radio rebroadcast a 15 minute statement, heard in Singapore for the first time yesterday, that the Indonesian "president-for-life" continued to rule unimpeded by the powerful military chieftains who crushed an attempted Communist coup last October.

An earlier Radio Jakarta broadcast yesterday carried the same assertion by Lt. Gen. Soeharto, to whom Sukarno delegated "political powers" last Friday.

Parking Fines Change Studied By County Aide

A proposal to have cities collect parking fines is under study in the county administrator's office.

The idea was proposed by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Municipal Court. Collection of parking fines, now the job of the Municipal Court, would be done by the city treasurers. A parking case would come into court only after a treasurer was unable to collect.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the move would save the municipal court considerable effort now expended on paper work.

The suggestion has the support of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who argues that the county is spending money to collect fines for the cities without reimbursement.

Father Faces Court Test On Son's, Youths' Music

Wilfred G. Barnet of 165 Pixley Avenue, Corte Madera, will be arraigned in municipal court Monday on a charge of disturbing the peace, because he let his son and three other boys hold a mid-afternoon jam session in his condominium apartment Sunday.

At 1:25 p.m. Sunday, when the youthful combo's music began emanating from electrical amplifiers and wafting through the condominium building, William T. Etchison, who lives at 161 Pixley in the same building, called the police.

Etchison said he had complained about the strident sounds before and thought this was the time to put a stop to them. In the words of responding officer Charles E. Newman, "Mr. Etchison was very emphatic in his denunciation of the so-called nuisance."

Officer Newman reported that both he and Barnet tried to "work things out" with Etchison, but the man insisted he wanted to file a formal complaint. He did so at the district attorney's office Monday.

Barnet said he saw nothing wrong with the boys wanting to play their instruments on a Sunday afternoon. Their music was banned from the condominium's club room, he said, so he invited them to play in his apartment.

"This is a test case," declared Barnet, "to see if young people are to be denied all right to enjoy themselves."

Meeting Cancelled

The citizens Advisory Committee on the Development of Marin was unable to muster a quorum for its meeting last night and the session was cancelled, according to Mrs. Evelyn Partridge, secretary.

Airman Arrested

A/3C Kyle R. Shakesnider Jr., 19, of the 78th Combat Support Group at Hamilton Air Force Base, was arrested by Novato police yesterday on a warrant from Alameda County charging him with robbery, and booked into Marin County Jail.

Spring In Marin's City Parks

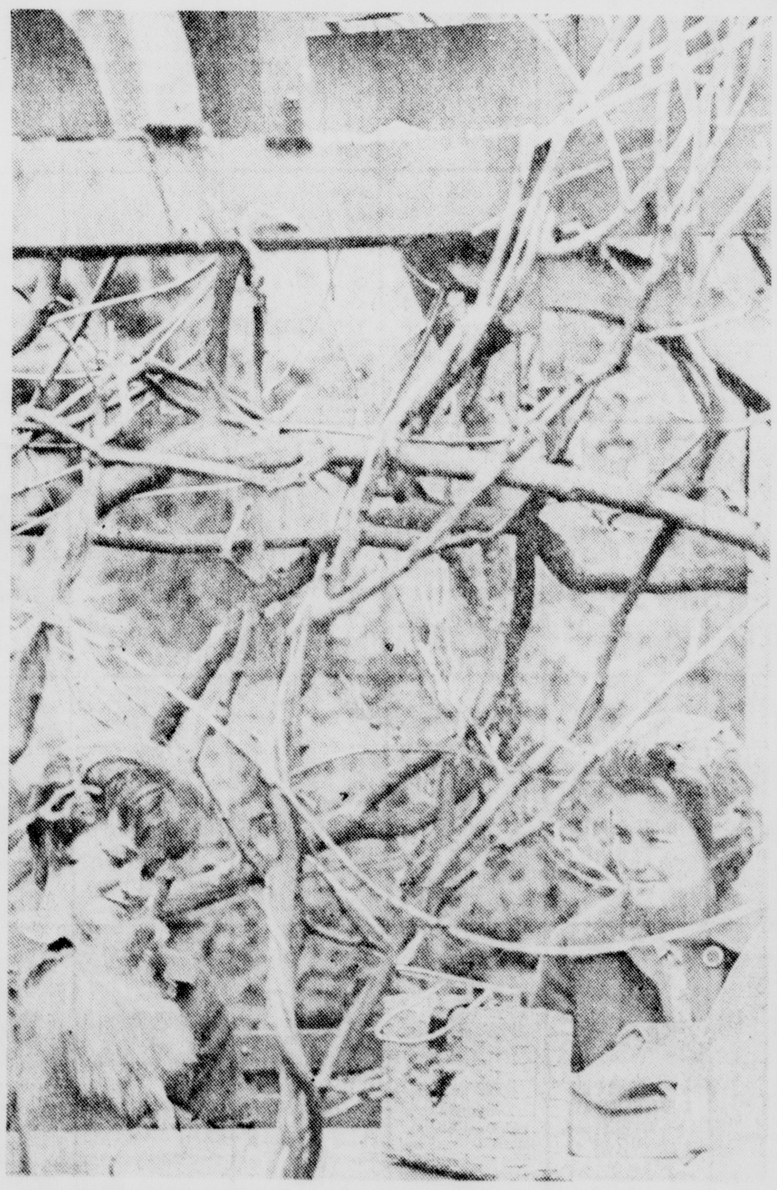
TIFFANY BEACH—On a morning in Sausalito, this beach park is deserted except for an early riser feeding the sea gulls. On a weekend in summer, the park will be filled with residents seeking sun tans. The city's Rotary Club helped construct the park. Also on Bridgeway are "vest pocket" parks where walkers can sit and look at the bay.

SPRING FLOWERS—In the small formal park in Ross, the flowers are just beginning to blossom, but the wild flowers hidden in the closely cropped grass already are in full bloom.

SHADY NOOK—Larkspur's small park is darkly shaded with trees and has swings and climbing apparatus for youngsters, near a brook. Parks are most often geared to children but some, most notably in Mill Valley, are fine for adult contemplation. (Independent-Journal photos by Ellen Bry)

INTO ORBIT — Youngsters waiting for the morning school bus swing high in Belvedere Park, with the hills of Tiburon behind them.

UPSIDE DOWN — Young Scott Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Carson of Corte Madera works out on the rings at the town park. Its spacious lawns also are fine for kite flying, with tennis courts in one corner. Newly planted trees soon will bring shade to the vast expanse of grass.



TRADITIONAL ARBOR—Mrs. Phillip Murphy (left) and Mrs. Fried Wight and Willie, a very small dog (though illegal in the park) have lunch at Gerstle Park in San Rafael. The semi-formal park has closely trimmed lawns, flower beds and winding paths and a children's play area. Boyd Park, also in San Rafael, combines tennis courts, play area and a slightly wilder atmosphere. Neighboring San Anselmo has just acquired more than 60 acres of rolling hillside, the former Sorich Ranch.

CASCADE PARK — The cascade is at its best in the rainy winter and spring in Mill Valley, in one of the "vest pocket" parks which this city and Sausalito have successfully developed. Park land costs usually are high; some of the parks are on land which has been donated to the cities.

State Unlikely To Buy Park Area Land Now

The State Division of Beaches and Parks is not likely to make any move to buy the 15-acre Scott property to add to Mount Tamalpais State Park before the county puts the property on the auction block on April 16.

The entire matter of adding several thousand acres (including the Scott property) to Tamalpais State Park is now up to the Legislature, according to D. F. Bruno, senior land agent at the Division of Beaches and Parks office in Sacramento.

"We cannot commit ourselves on the Scott property at this point," said Bruno. "We do recommend t[illegible] the Scott property be acquired. This has always been in our program."

Bruno said he doubts that the 15 acres can be singled out and given special priority since it is part of the overall acquisition proposal.

"About two or three years ago, we appraised the Scott property at $40,000 or $42,000," Bruno recalled. "But the owners wanted $50,000, so we backed out."

Marin County bought the property for $50,000 but now wants the state to buy it for $54,000. The county will put the property up for sale at public auction on April 16 at a minimum price of $54,000.

Sunny Hills Gets Memorial Grant

A grant of $7,550 has been made to Sunny Hills in San Anselmo by the William Babcock Memorial Endowment as a memorial to Sidney Braverman, Marin County civic worker and furniture store owner, who died Jan. 11.

Braverman was a director of both organizations.

The gift was in recognition of the therapeutic services to children of Marin County at the Sunny Hills facility.

It will be used, together with other gifts in memory of Braverman, forc onstruction and furnishing of new facilities.

Sign Vandals Hit

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A resolution calling for interim investigation of vandalism to street and highway signs has been introduced in the Legislature by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka. Collier said that, aside from the nearly million-dollar cost annually for replacement of damaged signs, the damaging causes a hazard to the motoring public.

Firm Denies Fault For Sewer Break

Members of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board argued for nearly an hour Tuesday with representatives of a San Francisco landscaping firm over the cause of a break in the district's major sewer line in the Del Miramar area.

In dispute was a January break in the sewer line across 16 Malvina Court. The district charges that the break was caused by undercutting of the pipe by Valentine Corp., which was landscaping the lot. Valentine Corp., contends the main broke as a result of a naturally caused landslide and refuses to pay a $1,000 bill for repair of the line.

The board continued the matter to a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the district's pumping station at Tiburon and Trestle Glen boulevards.

Engineer Loses Out On Demotion Protest

The Marin County personnel commission has ruled that there was no de facto demotion for Walter R. Noll of the county department of public works.

Noll claimed he was demoted when the number of engineering steps in the department was cut from three to two, placing him in the bottom step rather than the middle step, his former position.

Marin History Class Extended

Guest lecturers will again be featured in the class on Marin County history given by the Tamalpais High School District adult evening school.

Classes for the spring term are scheduled for Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, 7:30 to 9:30. George Irvin, Tam High history teacher, is instructor.

Topics will include land grants in Marin, railroads, the Bolinas area settlements, geological and biological aspects and the pioneer activities of William Richardson, John Reed and the Brione family. Class activities also include field trips, movies, slide presentations, and display of historical documents.

Druggists Offer Advice Against Poison Tragedy

Marin County druggists will give away one-ounce bottles of ipecac syrup next week as the Marin Pharmaceutical Assn. observes National Poison Prevention Week.

They also will be offering a set of common-sense tips about how to make homes safer from the danger of accidental poisoning.

Among those tips will be these:

1. Keep medicines out of the reach—and even out of the sight—of children, which means putting them back even if you have to leave the room for an instant. Same rule, say the druggists, applies to cleaning fluids and other household products.

2. Store internal medicines separately from other household products to avoid an easy error.

3. Keep products in their original containers, be sure they are properly labelled, and read the label before using. Cups and soft drink bottles mean food and drink to children.

4. Never give or take medicine in the dark. You may mistake one container for another.

5. Don't take medicines in front of children, lest they want to imitate you, and avoid calling medicines by made-up names so children will think they taste good. Use the real names, always.

6. Clean out your medicine cabinet regularly. Flush old medicines down the drain, wash out the containers and discard them.

Even the syrup, considered a good emetic, will carry a set of warnings.

If you get one of the bottles of ipecac, say the druggists, you should let your family doctor know you have it in the house.

Even in the event of an accidental poisoning, they say, you should not administer the syrup unless your doctor tells you to.

Finally—once more—keep it out of the reach of children.

Drunken Driving Fines Imposed

Milton Hendrix Jr., 42, Richmond, was fined $166 and placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol on March 6.

Josselyn William Hogue, 55, of 52 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Greenbrae, was fined $249 and placed on a year's probation, also for drunken driving. He was arrested Saturday by the patrol on Highway 101.

NOSE DOWN IN TROUBLE—Five high school students were on a joy ride in this car when it went off Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur and landed in the Larkspur Lumber Co. yard yesterday. Three of them suffered serious injuries.

Five Joy-Riding Students Wind Up In Wrecked Auto

Five Tamalpais High School students, four girls and one boy, took someone else's car for a joyride when they should have been in school yesterday and landed in more trouble than they could have imagined.

Particularly, they landed in the Larkspur Lumber Co. Yard at 11:30 a.m., the car nose down against a stack of lumber and three of the girls seriously injured.

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said the car, with an unlicensed, 15-year-old girl at the wheel, made a fast, sharp left turn from Doherty Drive onto Magnolia Avenue, then continued in an arc, skittered back across Magnolia, and plunged down a 15-foot embankment to the lumber yard below.

When police arrived, they found three injured girls. Barbara Morgan, 15, of House 130 and Patricia Young, 18, of 204 Drake Avenue, both Marin City, were slumped in the front seat of the car with the broken windshield. Deborah Turner, 15, of 55 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, was lying on the Magnolia Avenue sidewalk.

Clark said he later learned that two others had been in the back seat of the car with Miss Turner. After the crash, he said, they helped her up to Magnolia, where she slumped to the sidewalk, then ran. He said they were Charles Huff, 15, of 301 Drake Avenue, and Hattie Brooks, 15, of 11 Cole Drive, Marin City.

Miss Morgan, the driver, suffered a concussion, a broken rib, and a cut right knee. She was given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital, then reportedly transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco. However, Kaiser Foundation reported today she had not been received at any of its hospitals.

Miss Turner and Miss Young were both in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. Miss Young, whose head broke the car windshield, has a severe cut on the forehead, a concussion, a broken left shoulder and a cut left leg. Miss Turner suffered a concussion and multiple bruises.

Miss Brooks, who ran away after the accident, walked into Marin General Hospital at 3:45 p.m. yesterday and received treatment for a bruised left arm and knee. Young Huff, her companion in flight, went to the Larkspur Police Station last night to report his complicity and leave his name and address, Chief Clark said.

Miss Morgan reportedly told police at the hospital that the youngsters had been riding around and had stopped at Redwood High School. They had just left Redwood and were heading back for their own high school when the accident happened, she said.

Miss Morgan said she stopped at the intersection of Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue. Then, she said, Miss Young, who wanted to beat traffic coming from the right, shouted "give it the gun!" She did so. The car spun in an uncontrolable arc and went off the road.

The auto, a 1961 Oldsmobile, is registered to Lily Mae Knott of 15 Cole Drive, Marin City. Miss Morgan said she had permission to borrow the car from her sister's boy friend and both she and Huff had keys to the vehicle. There was a key in the ignition, Chief Clark said.

However, Levester Kilgore, who works for Mill Valley Refuse Service, Inc., at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, called Larkspur police yesterday and reported the car stolen.

Kilgore, who gave no address, said he had left the car parked at the refuse company since Friday.

Cruiser, Auto Contents Stolen

Theft of a $500 radio-telephone from a 44-foot cabin cruiser moored in Shelter Bay at 633 Redwood Highway, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said the instrument was dismantled from the open cockpit of the boat, owned by James R. French of Atherton.

Commission Cancels

The scheduled workshop meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday night was cancelled because two commissioners—Robert H. Lee and William G. Fleckles—were absent. Commissioners were to have discussed the planned district zone, but those present did not want to proceed without a full commission.

In San Francisco County, monthly average temperatures vary only from 50 degrees to 62 degrees.

Bircher Tells Of Freedom Loss

Breakfast Club Hears How Reds Chipping Away

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Using two modern-day parables—one about seagulls, the other about hogs—a John Birch society official explained to a Marin County audience this morning how his group feels the international conspiracy of communism is chipping away at freedom in this country.

Robert Newell, Northern California coordinator for the society, spoke to the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club at the Meadows in Terra Linda.

Each of his parables had a Florida setting and the theme was largely the same: if any species of animal loses the initiative to work for its own survival, it loses its freedom.

The first, he said, was a true story. It dealt with the seagulls which once thrived off St. Augustine. The birds were long admired for their stubborn initiative until they found out they could live off the spoils thrown overboard by fishermen.

In the process, said Newell, the birds traded opportunuity and liberty for security. Then, when the fishing fleet moved on in search of better waters, the birds died out.

Wild hogs were the victims of the young Birch Society official's second story, laid in the Okefenokee Swamp.

In this tale, a stranger entered the swamp, scattered ears of corn and began building a low fence. As he built up their confidence, he slowly raised the fence and put on a gate. One day, the man slammed the gate and the hogs were his.

"Fellow hogs," said Newell as he came to the point, "we've been fenced."

From there, he went into biographies of two men: John Birch, "first casualty of the cold war" for whom the society is named, and its founder, candy manufacturer Robert Welch.

He described Birch's background as a top student in schools in Macon, Ga. and a Fort Worth, Tex. Baptist Bible college, then told how Birch became involved in World War II while in China, where he had gone as a missionary.

Birch met American fliers who bailed out over China after bombing Japan. He offered to help the Allied forces and was made intelligence liaison for the 14th Air Force, better known as the "Flying Tigers" in China. He was later termed the most important man in the Chinese theater of war, said Newell.

Ten days after the war's end, communists captured Birch, tied him to a stake and bayonetted him to death. His parents were told he had died but found themselves up against a well of State Department secrecy in learning the details of his death, according to the speaker.

Newell contended that it was only after former California Sen. William F. Knowland, then Senate majority leader, waged a vigorous fight to uncover the facts that Birch's parents learned how he died. This, he said, was five years later.

Turning to Welch's life story, Newell described the Birch Society leader as a brilliant man, versed in five languages, higher mathematics and history, who became so disgusted with "Felix Frankfurter's socialism" that he quit Harvard Law School in disgust.

Hearing about the Birch affair, Welch wrote a book about the martyred missionary. Later, he formed the society.

Newell said the society bases its beliefs on "four cornerstones," each of which its members sees as slipping away.

These are beliefs in God, in the U.S. Constitution, in private property, and in individual responsibility

Americans' religious faith, he said, provided a morality which made possible a system of credit to distribute the nation's wealth to most of its citizens.

The Constitution, he said, "differs from those of most other countries, or the charter of the United Nations," in specifying a limited form of government, not to be expanded without the express consent of the people.

Of the third cornerstone, Newell contended "freedom of speech or the press is impossible unless you secure your property rights."

The society, he insisted, is "not just anti-communist," but is devoted to promoting private enterprise and to "getting people off their duff" so they will take a more active part in the affairs of their country.

He said the Birch program is based on "four levels of action," which are the education of members and others about what they feel is happening in the country today; "going on the defensive" against the onset of socialism, and "positive programs" to counteract the spread of communism.

Newell did not spell out any of these programs, however.

In reply to questions by members, Newell disavowed any association with actor Ronald Reagan, now a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and said the society "is not a political organization" although members "work in both political parties."

He declined to give the number of Marin County members in the society, saying such figures are kept secret, but estimated there are 100,000 members in the nation.

Asked how many of those in Marin were Negroes, Jews or members of other minority groups, Newell insisted such persons do belong to the society.

He said Birchers are for civil rights, but deplore some of the things which have happened in the name of these rights and are convinced the Communists have stirred up many racial demonstrations.

"They are not going to accomplish anything in the streets," he said.

Finally, asked his reaction to charges the society is an extremist group, Newell said members do not see it that way.

Viewed from a political spectrum starting at "ground zero" —where people believe in no government at all—the group is "a middle of the road organization," he said.

Sausalito Library Changes Planned

The Sausalito Free Public Library is being re-organized to meet accepted national criteria, Mrs. Audrey Kay Berteau, head librarian, reported last night to the library board. She said she is devising procedural manuals to the Sausalito library will conform with other public libraries.

Mrs. Berteau also reported that she has prepared a list of about 35 persons who are delinquent in returning borrowed books, the list to be posted in the library.

Trustees discussed the 1966-67 budget and new by-laws but took no action, according to Mrs. James J. Carroll, board president.

Marin Publisher In New Venture

Merril D. Grohman of Tamalpais Valley, publisher of the twice-weekly newspaper, Pacific Sun, in Marin County, will publish a reader-owned weekly newspaper, the Berkeley Citizen, with the first edition scheduled April 1.

Michael Palmer, 26, a former Mill Valley resident who now lives in Berkeley, has been named editor.

The newspaper will be a "cooperative" venture, with a share of stock including a subscription.

High School Students Outdo Elders In College Studies

By STEPHEN COOK

Almost three-quarters of the Marin County high school seniors who enrolled in courses at College of Marin last semester received higher grades than their average college student classmates.

Statistics show that 30 per cent of the high school boys and girls received final grades of "A", 40 per cent "B" and 30 per cent "C".

The grades were no fluke, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students at the college.

High school students enrolling in the college's credit program for high school seniors since its inception in 1961 have consistently scored better than the average college student, he said.

Nor are the high school students mollycoddled by instructors at the college. "The boys and girls receive the same treatment as our regular college students. Most of the time the faculty doesn't even know they are high school youngsters," Diamond declared.

Diamond has an explanation.

"To get into the program, the youngster must be a special student," he noted. The students, most of whom have completed their high school graduation requirements, must be recommended by their high school principals.

All are seniors and most are among the top students in their class. They have time for an elective course and find the high school does not offer what they want to take.

Diamond said the college gets two types of high school students: Those taking courses in their major interest area and those who want a head start on one of the college's special programs, such as the popular two-year data processing course.

The college recommends that the students only take one course a semester at the college, and most of them follow that suggestion. But some do not heed the advice and still prosper, Diamond said.

The dean cited the cases of three students who have been in the program. One girl had accumulated 24 college units before graduation from high school. Two other students had completed 15 units, the equivalent of one semester of college work.

"We expect these high school youngsters to do better than the average College of Marin student," Diamond said. "They are specially selected, they have good study habits, they take fewer courses, and they respond very well to the independence of college life."

The high school students favor no particular course at the college. The selections of the 51 youngsters under the program this semester range through the whole spectrum of courses offered at the college.

Many students who have taken all the mathematics courses offered by their high schools will take a college course in calculus, Diamond said. Others try to get such college required courses as English 1-A, American history, and political science out of the way.

Students under the program this semester include 14 from Tamalpais High School, 13 from Redwood, nine each from San Rafael and Terra Linda, and three each from Sir Francis Drake and Novato high schools.

The college watches the progress of the students throughout the semester, Diamond said.

"From time to time we run into some unable to adjust to what is expected of them in college life," he said. "We usually try to get them to drop the course if we see it coming in time."

All students, including the occasional few who fail, report their introduction to college life as worthwhile. In answering college questionnaires, most say, "I helped me become acquainted with the kind of course I will meet in college."

All students in the program claim their high school studies do not suffer because of it. At least a third have responded that their high school grades improved when they entered college, Diamond said.

Rent money once handed over is gone forever, but the money you put in "REAL ESTATE" is still yours. It changes form . . . BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE MARIN COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT
RESOLUTION NO. 8834
RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE MARIN COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT SPECIFYING ITS INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A REVISED PROJECT FOR FLOOD CONTROL ZONE NO. 9—ROSS VALLEY

WHEREAS, this Board of Supervisors has heretofore established Marin County Flood Control Zone No. 9, being a portion of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, and

WHEREAS, this Board has heretofore determined to undertake a project comprising the construction and improvement of Corte Madera Creek as specified in Resolution No. 8793, adopted January 11, 1966, and

WHEREAS, it now appears that the revision, by increasing the scope of said project, is necessary and useful in carrying out the purposes of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District Act, and

WHEREAS, this Board has received an engineering estimate of the cost of said project as revised and expanded;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED as follows:

1. This Board hereby specifies its intention to undertake a revised zone project for and on behalf of Flood Control Zone No. 9, which said project consists of the construction and improvement of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Channel within said Flood Control Zone No. 9 for the purposes hereinabove set forth.

2. It is hereby determined that said project, as revised, should be carried out, for the benefit of a single zone, to wit: Flood Control Zone No. 9, and that the cost thereof, other than reimbursable costs, shall be borne by said Flood Control Zone No. 9.

3. That certain map, dated March 8, 1966, and prepared by the Marin County Department of Public Works, which is on file with this Board of Supervisors, is hereby adopted as a map showing the general location and general construction of said revised project. The engineering estimate of the cost of said revised project is $2,450,000. However, the cost thereof, if any, to be borne by the Zone is minimal and cannot be ascertained with certainty since it is proposed that said project will be entirely financed by the United States of America and the State of California. Prior to imposition of any of said costs upon said Zone, a hearing will be conducted pursuant to Section 68-11 of the Water Code Appendix.

4. The 28th day of March, 1966, at 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the Supervisors' Chambers at the Civic Center, San Rafael, California, are hereby fixed as the time and place for a public hearing on this resolution.

5. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Women More Likely To Encounter Trouble With Anemia Than Men

VAN DELLEN

Women are more likely than men to develop iron deficiency anemia for several reasons. The amount of iron lost during menstruation is approximately the same as that absorbed from food, assuming that she is on a reasonable diet. This balance is easily upset when the diet is iron deficient or menstruation is profuse. This explains why a woman, throughout her menstrual life, requires two to four times as much iron as does a man.

DURING PREGNANCY a woman also must provide considerable iron for her baby. It comes from extra amounts in the food even though menstruation has stopped. Meanwhile there is always a possibility of bleeding from other sources or that nausea and vomiting will lessen the dietary intake.

It is important for pregnant women to eat foods rich in this element because the iron passed on to the baby must last the tyke until solid foods are started. Both human and cow's milk are low in iron content and babies develop anemia after six months if they subsist on bottle or breast. Anemia will develop sooner if the mother's dietary iron was deficient during pregnancy. The baby stores most of its iron during the last few months and many premies are anemic because they were born before they obtained their full allotment.

WHEN TOO LITTLE iron is consumed, the body takes what it needs from its storage deposits. When these stores are depleted, the amount in the blood (hemoglobin) begins to fall. In other words, the blood count and hemoglobin do not drop until the reserves are exhausted.

Any iron preparation given in adequate doses will correct this type of anemia. Exceptions occur when it is not possible to correct the cause. The normal person absorbs from 5 to 10 per cent of iron from food or tablet, but the anemic person may absorb as much as 40 per cent.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS RASH

Mrs. F. F. writes: My doctor says the rash on my arm is caused by hostility or frustration. I thought I was mature emotionally. What would you suggest?

REPLY

The skin often mirrors the emotions, and if your eruption is on this basis, take stock of your life situation and see what changes can be made. There also is a possibility that the diagnosis is wrong, and a consultation is suggested if the rash fails to improve.

CLOT IN THE EYE

B. C. writes: I lost the vision in one eye quite suddenly. The doctor said it was a blood clot. Why does my eye keep getting bloodshot? Is there any treatment or medication for this?

REPLY

None to my knowledge, unless a remedial cause can be found. There is a difference between a blood clot in the retinal vessels and a red "bloodshot" eye.

BIG BOY NOW

Mrs. V. writes: Should a 5-year-old boy still be eating strained baby foods instead of regular meals?

REPLY

No. There is no harm in this practice, but don't you think he is getting a little old for this type of food?

CHICORY

B. G. writes: Coffee causes my heart to palpitate and I am thinking of switching to chicory. Does this beverage contain caffeine?

REPLY

No.

Shelley Urges Bay Government

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley called yesterday for a new form of government to handle area-wide problems for cities around the bay.

He asked the board of supervisors to endorse a limited government to control such things as air and water pollution and transportation. The endorsement would be sent to the Association of Bay Area Governments, a volunteer group.

The new government must be an elected body, Shelley declared, "on the basis of one man, one vote."

Braden Predicts Senate Scandal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publisher Thomas M. Braden, president of the State Board of Education and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, says a public scandal will erupt in the state Senate.

Braden said in a news release yesterday that Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has made large profits by trading in savings and loan association stocks.

And, concerning the senate, Braden said "the conflicts of interest which rage in that body will someday make a first-class public scandal."

Muir Woods Assn. To Discuss Zoning

Rezoning of undeveloped land in Muir Woods subdivisions, pipe line tract, Muir Woods terrace and Marin View acres to larger parcels will be discussed by Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. members at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse, Ridge Avenue off Panoramic Highway.

Rezoning is proposed to retain the open, uncongested feel of the area, according to Margaret Hardy, club member. Members are also to discuss clubhouse and grounds development, 1966 fund raising activities, and the Marin Assn. for planning.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

District s Levy Up To A Dozen 'Override' Taxes For Services

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The number of "override" taxes levied by school districts in Marin County ranges from one to 12.

"OVERRIDES" are the taxes a school district is permitted to levy on top of the "maximum" rate authorized by the electorate and the payment on bonded indebtedness (which, of course, has also been authorized by the voters). Twenty - seven such overrides are permitted by state law, but no one district can use all of them, as some are restricted to certain kinds of districts and others duplicte each other.

The Marin district which levies only one override is tiny Point Reyes School District, which operates a one-room elementary school. Point Reyes District levies six and one-half cents for education of the mentally retarded. It also has the lowest total tax rate of any school district in the county—68.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (This, of course, is for the elementary school only).

THE DISTRICT levying 12 kinds of overrides is Novato Unified School District. It should be noted, however, that the combined overrides of elementary and high school districts elsewhere in the county often total 12 or more. Novato is the only district operating both levels of schools.

Novato's 12 overrides are for teacher retirement (10.3 cents), retirement of other employees (6.8 cents), social security (3.9 cents), "community services" (7.5 cents), adult education (10 cents), education of mentally retarded (8.5 cents), education of handicapped (6.5 cents), alleged "excess cost" of junior high school (28.5 cents), public loan repayment (37.9 cents), state loan repayment (6.4 cents), education of physically handciapped (one cent), and Olive Avenue Assessment District (3.2 cents). These are all in addition to its general purpose tax rate of $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation, and bond redemption levy of 63 cents, producing a total tax rate for elementary and hikh schools of $5.275. Its overrides total $1.215.

Novato is one of four Marin County districts that have taken advantage of a 1964 lay that permits an additional levy for junior high schools without asking voter approval — one of the strangest of the 27 overrides permitted under state law. Reed Elementary District levies 38 cents this year for this purpose; San Rafael Elementary District 8.1 cents, and Sausalito Elementary District, 5 cents.

AMONG the county's elementary school districts, the top number of overrides is eight. Lagunitas, Larkspur, Reed, San Anselmo and San Rafael all have this many, but their total varies greatly, from 25 cents in San Rafael to 50.5 cents in Larkspur and 55.1 cents in Reed.

District-by-district, here are the numbers and totals of the override school taxes levied, all in excess of the "maximum" authorized by the voters and not including repayment of bond issues:

Elementary School Districts:

Bolinas-Stinson, five totaling 10 cents; Dixie, seven totaling 29 cents; Fairfax, seven totaling 24 cents; Kentfield, six, 41.5 cents; Laguna, two, 97 cents (this huge amount is because residents of this district pay a 91-cent tax for junior high school tuition in Petaluma); Lagunitas, eight, 44 cents; Lincoln, two, 8 cents; Mill Valley, seven, 38.5 cents; Nicasio, three, 10 cents; Point Reyes, one, 6.5 cents; Reed, eight, 55.1 cents; Ross, six, 17.5 cents; San Anselmo, eight, 28.5 cents; San Rafael, eight, 25 cents; Sausalito, six, 19 cents; Tomales Bay, five 14.5 cents; Union, three, 42.5 cents; West Marin, seven, 39 cents.

Unified District (includes elementary and high schools).

Novato, 12 totaling $1.215.

High School Districts:

San Rafael, six, 16.5 cents; Tamalpais, five, 13.5 cents; Tomales, five, 18.5 cents.

IN ALL the elementary school districts making up Tamalpais High School District, there is an additional 67-cent levy which the voters imposed on themselves indirectly. This is decreed by the state under the Unruh Education Act because unification of these districts with Tam High School District failed to pass in an election last year. Having collected the levy, the state then redistributes it among the districts to give adidtional money where voters favored unification. This is done under one of those complicated formulas so dear to state education officials.

There is also a county-wide school tax of nine cents for "equalization aid offset" and education of mentally retarded (for which latter purpose many of the districts also levy their own tax).

Switchboard To Expand In Sausalito

Completion of a building addition in Sausalito to house equipment for Southern Marin telephone service was announced today by Troy E. Lewis, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager.

The addition to the company's central office at 414 Turney Street is a one-story reinforced concrete structure which adds 3,000 square feet for installation of new telephone switching equipment.

When the overall $180,000 project is completed later this year, the added gear will provide service for some 1,000 new numbers and augment existing equipment to meet the increasing volume of telephone usage in Sausalito and Marin City.

Lewis said the front of the building addition is to be landscaped and that off-street employee parking is provided.

Building contractor was Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

Alameda is derived from Alamo . . . poplar or cottonwood. Alameda was first called Encinal . . . oak grove.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Women are more likely than men to develop iron deficiency anemia for several reasons. The amount of iron lost during menstruation is approximately the same as that absorbed from food, assuming that she is on a reasonable diet. This balance is easily upset when the diet is iron deficient or menstruation is profuse. This explains why a woman, throughout her menstrual life, requires two to four times as much iron as does a man.

DURING PREGNANCY a woman also must provide considerable iron for her baby. It comes from extra amounts in the food even though menstruation has stopped. Meanwhile there is always a possibility of bleeding from other sources or that nausea and vomiting will lessen the dietary intake.

It is important for pregnant women to eat foods rich in this element because the iron passed on to the baby must last the tyke until solid foods are started. Both human and cow's milk are low in iron content and babies develop anemia after six months if they subsist on bottle or breast. Anemia will develop sooner if the mother's dietary iron was deficient during pregnancy. The baby stores most of its iron during the last few months and many premies are anemic because they were born before they obtained their full allotment.

WHEN TOO LITTLE iron is consumed, the body takes what it needs from its storage deposits. When these stores are depleted, the amount in the blood (hemoglobin) begins to fall. In other words, the blood count and hemoglobin do not drop until the reserves are exhausted.

Any iron preparation given in adequate doses will correct this type of anemia. Exceptions occur when it is not possible to correct the cause. The normal person absorbs from 5 to 10 per cent of iron from food or tablet, but the anemic person may absorb as much as 40 per cent.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS RASH

Mrs. F. F. writes: My doctor says the rash on my arm is caused by hostility or frustration. I thought I was mature emotionally. What would you suggest?

REPLY

The skin often mirrors the emotions, and if your eruption is on this basis, take stock of your life situation and see what changes can be made. There also is a possibility that the diagnosis is wrong, and a consultation is suggested if the rash fails to improve.

CLOT IN THE EYE

B. C. writes: I lost the vision in one eye quite suddenly. The doctor said it was a blood clot. Why does my eye keep getting bloodshot? Is there any treatment or medication for this?

REPLY

None to my knowledge, unless a remedial cause can be found. There is a difference between a blood clot in the retinal vessels and a red "bloodshot" eye.

BIG BOY NOW

Mrs. V. writes: Should a 5-year-old boy still be eating strained baby foods instead of regular meals?

REPLY

No. There is no harm in this practice, but don't you think he is getting a little old for this type of food?

CHICORY

B. G. writes: Coffee causes my heart to palpitate and I am thinking of switching to chicory. Does this beverage contain caffeine?

REPLY

No.

Shelley Urges Bay Government

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley called yesterday for a new form of government to handle area-wide problems for cities around the bay.

He asked the board of supervisors to endorse a limited government to control such things as air and water pollution and transportation. The endorsement would be sent to the Association of Bay Area Governments, a volunteer group.

The new government must be an elected body, Shelley declared, "on the basis of one man, one vote."

Braden Predicts Senate Scandal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publisher Thomas M. Braden, president of the State Board of Education and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, says a public scandal will erupt in the state Senate.

Braden said in a news release yesterday that Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has made large profits by trading in savings and loan association stocks.

And, concerning the senate, Braden said "the conflicts of interest which rage in that body will someday make a first-class public scandal."

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

District s Levy Up To A Dozen 'Override' Taxes For Services

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The number of "override" taxes levied by school districts in Marin County ranges from one to 12.

"OVERRIDES" are the taxes a school district is permitted to levy on top of the "maximum" rate authorized by the electorate and the payment on bonded indebtedness (which, of course, has also been authorized by the voters). Twenty - seven such overrides are permitted by state law, but no one district can use all of them, as some are restricted to certain kinds of districts and others duplicte each other.

The Marin district which levies only one override is tiny Point Reyes School District, which operates a one-room elementary school. Point Reyes District levies six and one-half cents for education of the mentally retarded. It also has the lowest total tax rate of any school district in the county—68.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (This, of course, is for the elementary school only).

THE DISTRICT levying 12 kinds of overrides is Novato Unified School District. It should be noted, however, that the combined overrides of elementary and high school districts elsewhere in the county often total 12 or more. Novato is the only district operating both levels of schools.

Novato's 12 overrides are for teacher retirement (10.3 cents), retirement of other employees (6.8 cents), social security (3.9 cents), "community services" (7.5 cents), adult education (10 cents), education of mentally retarded (8.5 cents), education of handicapped (6.5 cents), alleged "excess cost" of junior high school (28.5 cents), public loan repayment (37.9 cents), state loan repayment (6.4 cents), education of physically handciapped (one cent), and Olive Avenue Assessment District (3.2 cents). These are all in addition to its general purpose tax rate of $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation, and bond redemption levy of 63 cents, producing a total tax rate for elementary and hikh schools of $5.275. Its overrides total $1.215.

Novato is one of four Marin County districts that have taken advantage of a 1964 lay that permits an additional levy for junior high schools without asking voter approval — one of the strangest of the 27 overrides permitted under state law. Reed Elementary District levies 38 cents this year for this purpose; San Rafael Elementary District 8.1 cents, and Sausalito Elementary District, 5 cents.

AMONG the county's elementary school districts, the top number of overrides is eight. Lagunitas, Larkspur, Reed, San Anselmo and San Rafael all have this many, but their total varies greatly, from 25 cents in San Rafael to 50.5 cents in Larkspur and 55.1 cents in Reed.

District-by-district, here are the numbers and totals of the override school taxes levied, all in excess of the "maximum" authorized by the voters and not including repayment of bond issues:

Elementary School Districts:

Bolinas-Stinson, five totaling 10 cents; Dixie, seven totaling 29 cents; Fairfax, seven totaling 24 cents; Kentfield, six, 41.5 cents; Laguna, two, 97 cents (this huge amount is because residents of this district pay a 91-cent tax for junior high school tuition in Petaluma); Lagunitas, eight, 44 cents; Lincoln, two, 8 cents; Mill Valley, seven, 38.5 cents; Nicasio, three, 10 cents; Point Reyes, one, 6.5 cents; Reed, eight, 55.1 cents; Ross, six, 17.5 cents; San Anselmo, eight, 28.5 cents; San Rafael, eight, 25 cents; Sausalito, six, 19 cents; Tomales Bay, five 14.5 cents; Union, three, 42.5 cents; West Marin, seven, 39 cents.

Unified District (includes elementary and high schools).

Novato, 12 totaling $1.215.

High School Districts:

San Rafael, six, 16.5 cents; Tamalpais, five, 13.5 cents; Tomales, five, 18.5 cents.

IN ALL the elementary school districts making up Tamalpais High School District, there is an additional 67-cent levy which the voters imposed on themselves indirectly. This is decreed by the state under the Unruh Education Act because unification of these districts with Tam High School District failed to pass in an election last year. Having collected the levy, the state then redistributes it among the districts to give adidtional money where voters favored unification. This is done under one of those complicated formulas so dear to state education officials.

There is also a county-wide school tax of nine cents for "equalization aid offset" and education of mentally retarded (for which latter purpose many of the districts also levy their own tax).

Switchboard To Expand In Sausalito

Completion of a building addition in Sausalito to house equipment for Southern Marin telephone service was announced today by Troy E. Lewis, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager.

The addition to the company's central office at 414 Turney Street is a one-story reinforced concrete structure which adds 3,000 square feet for installation of new telephone switching equipment.

When the overall $180,000 project is completed later this year, the added gear will provide service for some 1,000 new numbers and augment existing equipment to meet the increasing volume of telephone usage in Sausalito and Marin City.

Lewis said the front of the building addition is to be landscaped and that off-street employee parking is provided.

Building contractor was Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

Schools Hit By Vandals, Burglars

Three Marin County schools were victims of burglaries or vandalism during the past few contest in Point Reyes Station. yesterday.

Mrs. Antonette Richtman, secretary at Bel Aire School in Reed School District, told deputies that juveniles climbed atop the school's auditorium and broke out $800 worth of skylight windows.

The vandals also filled a plumbing vent with rocks, and dropped other rocks through the broken skylights onto the auditorium stage below, officers said.

John Guendner, custodian at Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield, reported burglars pried open and disassembled a window of the library, then took about $20 cash from the library clerk's desk and stole two dissecting kits from the science department.

Burglars smashed a door window of the Marin County Child Care Center at Manzanita School, Marin City, and scattered food and school supplies within.

Hub Police Say Suspect Tells Of Burglaries

Carl P. Umland III, 18, a transient arrested Friday for car theft by San Rafael police Tuesday admitted two thefts in San Anselmo, according to San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

The chief said Umland admitted taking a rope, compass, blanket and bilge pump from a boat stored at the Signal service station at 717 San Anselmo Avenue on March 2. The only property owners Mr. and Mrs. Frank Danis of 2360 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, were able to recover from the youth was the blanket, the chief said.

Umland also allegedly admitted taking a battery from the car of Evelyn Siegne at 1556 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo. The chief said the battery was recovered from a 1962 Thunderbird the youth allegedly stole from Paragon Motors, 1532 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Buchignani said the youth will be tried in juvenile court.

Clay Faces Draft Board: Rifle Or Mop?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay may learn today whether he will spend the next two years in the Army or as an orderly in a mental institution.

Clay was to appear before his Louisville draft board to appeal his recent reclassification from 1-Y to 1-A. He was classified 1-Y when he twice failed Army intelligence tests.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of Clay's draft board, said he understood the champion would attempt to stay out of the Army by claiming to be a conscientious objector or on a dependency claim.

"Under Selective Service law if we rule that Clay is a conscientious objector then he will spend the two years working at a nonprofit civilian project in the state," Sherman said.

"The ones we have had in the past from Louisville have served as orderlies for the Central State Mental Hospital," he said. Sherman said some are also sent to the home for mentally retarded children in Frankfort.

As for the dependency clause, Sherman said he understood Clay would claim he was the sole support of his mother and also had to pay off $177,000 in alimony payments to his ex-wife Sonji.

"I am sure that alimony wouldn't come under the dependency clause," Sherman said.

If Clay's request is turned down by the local draft board he can take it to an appeal board.

When Clay said "I ain't got no quarrel with them Viet Congs" after being notified of his reclassification he set off a flap heard round the world.

Last month Clay was to defend his title against Ernie Terrell in Chicago March 29.

At the present Clay is going to fight George Chuvalo at Toronto, Canada. Only the date is the same—this far.

In the first game of his three-game series Foe rolled 11 straight strikes, but left the nine pin standing on his 12th ball for a 299 game.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Patrick O'Connor Saves The Day–Ex-Irish Champion Here

O'BOY, O'BOY!—Just look at the sports headlines today! A shame, it is. Not a good Irishman in the lot. Somehow Cassius O'Clay, Sandy O'Koufax and Jack O'Nicklaus just don't sound right.

'Tis a shame. A fine newspaper like ye olde I-O'J today should be greener than an inexperienced caddy, but, o'hell, I can't even find a bragh in the lengerie ads. The theater page at least could have advertised "Inside Daisy Shamrock" just for today.

We sons o' Ireland turned 18 shades of green yesterday when we turned to the I-J Food Page, there to find a recipe for Cannelloni!

MY ST. PATRICK's Day was on the verge of ruination until Mr. James J. Kean, our fine photographer, jigged into the office bright and early today with a photograph of Patrick O'Connor.

I didn't care if Mr. O'Connor were a ballet dancer, I had to have an Irish face on today's sports page and his was it.

AH, SUCH a fine name. And that face! Why it's the map of Ireland. Those eyes are Belfast. Sparkling. The nose is County Cork. The mouth? Blarney! And yes, Patrick, the chin's Dublin.

My St. Patrick's Day became even finer when I learned that Mr. O'Connor of 38 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo is a gardener. Ah, the greenery!

AND THE day became complete when I further discovered that Patrick O'Connor was middle and light-heavyweight boxing champion of Ireland back in the 1940's.

I checked old newspaper clippings to learn that O'Connor fought professionally for 12 years, retiring in 1950. Although Patrick himself can't remember his total record, clippings show he won 18 straight fights in the United States.

I TRIED to interview him this morning, but couldn't decipher the brogue and wound up with a notebook full of hash. (Corned beef hash.) But, ah, that thick brogue was music to my ears. What I did learn (I think) is that Patrick, now 45 years of age, is a native of County Cork and that his wife, Ann, also is a native of Ireland. Patrick came to Marin County in 1950 and his wife came here in 1960.

I wish the O'Connors a very happy St. Patrick's Day. Here I was wrestling around with Clay and Koufax and Mays and Cepeda. Not an Irishman in the lot when suddenly up pops a local angle with the name of Patrick O'Connor, ex-champ of Ireland, living right here in Marin.

I'll be a son of o'gun.

Sandy, Don In Tour To Japan?

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Pitchers Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax who have joined forces in holding out for $500,000 on three-year contracts from the Los Angeles Dodgers may make a movie and may tour Japan—for money—if their demands are not met.

Their agent, attorney J. William Hayes, said they will meet with Paramount movie officials today to discuss playing featured roles in the movie, "Warning Shot," starring David Janssen.

A Paramount publicity man said yesterday they had already signed movie contracts but this was denied by Hayes.

The so-called final offer to the dynamic duo by Dodger general manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi was $95,000 to Drysdale for the 1966 season and $105,000 to Koufax, according to Hayes.

In connection with the Japan junket on which they would exhibit their pitching wares, Hayes said it would last 30 to 60 days and would bring them American dollars "in six figures."

Bavasi has expressed resentment that Koufax and Drysdale who won 49 games last season hired an attorney to negotiate for them and would not talk to him without Hayes on hand.

Koufax, however, told Herald-Examiner sports editor Bud Furillo yesterday:

"I am willing to talk to Buzzie without Bill Hayes being present, but I feel that Don should be there.

"People have been playing Don and me against one another for years, comparing us and what have you. We are not competing. We're on the same team. People don't seem to understand that."

Koufax also said, "I'm sure that on certain things we can negotiate. Of course, it's possible, but nobody has offered to sit down and talk, so I don't know. We're not mad at Buzzie and I don't believe Buzzie is mad at us. This is a business deal. I hope it works out. If it doesn't, and I need a couple of tickets to a Dodger game this summer, I might even call Buzzie and ask for them."

A GREAT DAY FOR THE IRISH

Patrick O'Connor, former middle and light-heavyweight boxing champion of Ireland, enjoys St. Patrick's Day reminiscing about his 12-year ring career, which included 18 straight victories in the United States. O'Connor and his wife, Ann, reside in San Anselmo. See "Along Marin's Sports Trail."

Warriors Await Word On Vitally Important Protest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"It's vitally important," says San Francisco Warrior Coach Alex Hannum, "that the players believe as I do—that this game was no contest — it was never played."

More than this, Hannum wants his players to believe they are still in the race for third place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

He hopes for a double victory today—a victory over the third-place St. Louis Hawks tonight at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium preceded by the league office's allowing his protest of Tuesday's game.

The Warriors have asked NBA Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy to make an early decision on the protest—possibly before tonight's final game of the season against the Hawks.

In the disputed contest at San Jose, Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco got into a brief shoving match in the third quarter that resulted in a double foul.

Referee Norm Drucker awarded each player a foul shot. Beaty made his and Thurmond missed. The Hawks went on to win 110-109.

The victory gave St. Louis a 34-41 record while the fourth-place Warriors sank to 33-44. There are 80 games in the regular season.

Hannum brought out the rule book yesterday at a news conference, citing Rule 12, Section 11 on Page 42, "On all double fouls, a personal foul is charged to each player but no foul tries are attempted."

Hannum would prefer to have the game declared a tie so that a five-minute overtime could be played before tonight's game. Other alternatives suggested by Hannum were resuming the game at the time of the foul or replaying it entirely.

Rochester and Philadelphia replayed an entire game several years ago after the only allowed protest in the 20-year history of the NBA.

Warriors owner Franklin Mieuli has sent a telegram to NBA headquarters in New York followed by the required letter and $200 check, which must be forfeited if the protest is turned down. Once the protest is made, the league office has five days to reach a decision.

"There is absolutely no question as to the decision," said Hannum. "The only question is when the decision will be made."

Just to make sure NBA authorities knew he was serious, Hannum phoned Kennedy in Connecticut and then supervising official Sid Borgia in New York after the game Tuesday—at 3 a.m. Eastern Time.

Hannum also informed the two game officials of his protest and read the rule to them. He had the official scorer make a notation at the time of the incident. And the Warriors also have a movie of the entire contest, in case the commissioner should want more evidence.

Laver Paces Aussies To Pro Net Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Australian pro tennis stars have scored an 8-4 victory over the United States team in challenge cup play.

Four straight wins clinched the title for the visitors last night before 4,926 fans at the Sports Arena.

Rod Laver, the world's top-ranked pro, took just 29 minutes to overwhelm Butch Buchholz, 10-1, in the opening pro-set singles match. Australian Mal Anderson then downed Pancho Segura, 10-5.

The doubles team of Anderson and Laver assured the Aussies of the title by outlasting Buchholz and U.S. team captain Pancho Gonzales, 14-12. And Australian captain Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad completed the sweep with a 10-5 triumph over Segura and Alex Olmedo.

Independent-Journal Sports Gives Bat Coach A Birthday Gift

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP) — San Francisco Giants' second baseman Hal Lanier presented his batting coach, Hank Sauer, a birthday present a day early.

Sauer wasn't 50 until today but his efforts in helping Lanier with the bat were rewarded yesterday when the lanky young infielder belted an inside-the-park homer and two singles.

The homer came off the Los Angeles Angels' right - handed ace Dean Cahnce and started the Giants toward a 7-3 victory, their fifth without defeat in Cactus League exhibition play. Hal hadn't homered since 1964.

Lanier singled in runs off Dick Egan in both the fifth and seventh frames.

A great fielder, Hal hit just .226 last year following a .274 production after joining the club in mid-1964.

So Sauer was given the job of helping the 6-foot-2 infielder. Sauer, a big guy who won the National League's most valuable player award with Chicago in 1952 and later wound up his career with the Giants, has proved a good tutor.

"He showed me how to get more whip into the bat and how to time inside pitches so I can swing at them and not be all tied up," says the son of the former major league pitcher, Max Lanier.

Sauer was as happy with the production yesterday as Lanier and commented, "I think we're accomplishing something. The main thing was to coordinate the bat and the feet. Last year he was jerking the bat and his head went with it. You can't watch the ball that way."

Lanier explained that he now was trying to time the pitches and watches the hurler long before his time to come to bat.

"I don't think I'll get fooled as much as I did before," he added.

Even though he's played only one full season of major league baseball, Lanier is the infield captain of the Giants, a title bestowed by Willie Mays who appreciates fielding prowess.

Afield, there also have been changes. Lanier decided he'd have a better chance positioning himself a couple of steps in when there's a runner on first base.

"That gives me a better chance for a double play," he explains. "But basically this spring, I'm trying to improve my hitting."

The Angels scored three runs in the first inning yesterday helped by three San Francisco errors, two by Orlando Cepeda who is trying to become accustomed to playing left field. Then came the comback as Mays, Tito Fuentes and Cepeda knocked in runs after Lanier's homer broke the ice.

Right-hander Bill Wade, slated for pitching duty in the Pacific Coast League, helped his own cause twice—first when he retired the side after loading the bases in the fourth and again with a sacrifice bunt that set up the third San Francisco run.

PREP TRACK AND FIELD

San Rafael Sweeps All Three Classes

San Rafael swept all three divisions in a practice track and field meet with Ukiah yesterday at San Rafael, but two other Marin County high schools didn't fare too well on the cinders.

Novato lost all three divisions to Santa Rosa High and Marin Catholic had little success in a four-way meet at Sebastopol.

San Rafael's Class A team was led by double-winners Bob McLennan and Jeff Chan in downing Ukiah, 66-33. McLennan won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.9 seconds and the 440 in 56.9; sprinter Chan copped the 100 in 10.4 and the 220 in 23 flat.

Other Bulldog winners were Ragnar Fanning, two mile, 10:47; Joe Barni, mile, 5:15. John Balzan, high jump, 5-10; and Randy Swanson, broad jump, 18-7.

San Rafael won Class B, 57½ to 54½ behind Herb Rowland's three victories in the 100 at 11 seconds, 120 low hurdles, 14.4, and broad jump, 18-3. Ken Johnson won a pair for the Bullpups: 70 H.H., 10.6, and shot put, 39-9.

In Class C, it was San Rafael 43, Ukiah 30. San Rafael's Steve Bariski was a triple winner: 660, 1:34.8; 220, 25.0; high jump, 5-3.

SANTA ROSA beat Novato 74½-47½ in Class A, 43-34 in Class B and 79-34 in Class C.

Novato's varsity winners were Bruce Palmer, high jump, 5-9½; Clint Harless, mile, 4:59.4; Denny Goedel, broad jump, 13-6; and Walton Daren, two mile, 10:26.5.

MARIN CATHOLIC varsity had three individual stars at Sebastopol: Ollie Logomarsino who won the half mile in 2:08.3 and quarter mile in 55 seconds flat; Gary Wittenmeier who took the discus at 135-9 and Greg Ball who won the mile in 5:04.

The final team scores: Class A—Analy 71, El Molino 61, Marin 60, Calistoga 19; Class B—Analy 80, Marin 39, Calistoga 38, El Molino 33; Class C—Analy 71, Calistoga 41, El Molino 21, Marin 13.

Dodgers, Twins Big Flops In Spring; Both Winless

Independent-Journal Sports

36 Thurs., March 17, 1966

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's October in March.

Turn the Grapefruit League standings upside down and you've got the World Series all over again.

Pennant winners in 1965, the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Dodgers are learning how the other half lives this spring. Their combined record is a less than championship 0-11 pace.

The American League champion Twins dropped their seventh straight yesterday, bowing 2-1 to baseball's specialists in losing, the New York Mets.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers continued to show how easy it'll be to defend their world title without holdouts Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale by taking a 9-0 thumping from the New York Yankees for their fourth straight setback.

The only other winless team is Washington, which dropped its fifth straight 6-2 against the Braves. Boston and the Chicago Cubs managed their first victories, the Red Sox clipping Philadelphia 5-3 and the Cubs downing Cleveland 3-1.

In other games, San Francisco whipped the California Angels 7-3, the Chicago White Sox thumped Cincinnati 10-4, St. Louis downed Detroit 4-2 and Kansas City whacked Pittsburgh 12-5.

Eddie Bressoud, an American League refugee, drove home the winning run for the Mets with a 10th inning single against the Twins. Chuck Hiller started the winning rally with a single and moved up on an infield out before scoring on Bressoud's hit.

Johnny Lewis homered for New York and Tony Oliva, making his first appearance of the spring after ending his holdout, drove in Minnesota's only run with a seventh inning single.

The Yankees pounded five Dodger pitchers — none of them named Koufax or Drysdale — for 13 hits in running up their victory over the world champs.

Clete Boyer led the Yanks' attack with two singles and double while veterans Whitey Ford, Bill Stafford and Steve Hamilton limited the Dodgers to five singles.

Rookie catcher Glen Clark drove in three runs as the Braves handed Washington its fifth straight setack. Tom Cheney, attempting a comeback, hurled two scoreless innings for the Senators.

Boston ended a six-game losing string by beating Philadelphia with ex-Phil Dennis Bennett getting credit for the victory. Jim Bunning struck out seven in his five-innings but took the loss. Johnny Herrnstein rifled a two-run homer for the Phillies.

The Cubs got off a five-game slump with rookie outfielder Byron Browne pounding a 400-foot home run in the ninth inning that beat Cleveland. Browne had tripled and scored Chicago's first run in the first inning.

Outfielder Ken Berry snapped an 0-for-17 slump with a double and a triple that drove in three runs as the White Sox ripped Cincinnati. Rookie Dennis Higgins, bidding for a spot on Chicago's pitching staff, worked three hitless innings and has allowed only one hit in three spring appearances.

Rookie first baseman George Kernek walloped a three-run homer that lifted the Cardinals past Detroit. Norm Cash accounted for both Tiger runs with a two-run shot.

Stanford's Soph Ace On All-League

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Southern California center John Block and Oregon guard Jim Barnett are the only unanimous choices for the all Pacific Coast basketball team announced today.

The team was picked by the conference coaches and also included Charlie White of Oregon State, Mike Lynn of UCLA, and Art Harris of Stanford.

Lynn is a junior, Harris is a soph, and the other three are seniors.

Named to the second team were Bob Bedell of Stanford with a tie for the other forward post between Loy Peterson of Oregon State and Kenny Washington of UCLA. Jim McKean of Washington State, Mike Warren of UCLA, and Russ Critchfield of California round out the second team.

Honorable mention: Edgar Lacey of UCLA, Dave Hovde and Gordon Harris of Washington, Ed Fredenberg and Scott Eaton of Oregon State, Ray Kosanke of Stanford, and Harvey Dillon of USC.

Nicklaus Choice In Juicy Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus insists he doesn't expect to be "real sharp" until time to defend his Masters title, but it appears his golf game is coming along faster than he realizes.

Although making only his third tournament appearance of the year, Nicklaus has been installed as the favorite in the brand new $110,000 Florida Citrus Open which begins today.

The Citrus Open is the richest and most star-studded tournament so far this year and pairs off the "big three"—Nicklaus, top 1966 money winner Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open champion Gary Player—for the first time since last August.

The list of entries reads like "Who's Who" of professional golf, with only two of the year's top 50 players—Billy Casper and Paul Harney—among the missing. But Nicklaus was favored to win the $22,000 first prize on the basis of his final three rounds in the Doral Open last week and his record-breaking performance in yesterday's pro-am here.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., (UPI) — Attila and Acrobat finished in a dead heat in the 1874 running of the Travers Stakes. After a rest, the horses raced again and Attila won.

3 Lotus Cars In Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Colin Chapman of London, builder of the world champion Lotus race car, entered three autos today for the 50th Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

The entries did not end speculation whether Jim Clark of Scotland would be back in a Lotus-Ford to defend the Indianapolis crown he won last year. The Ford Motor Co. has not given any indication of renewing its contract with Chapman, but its special racing engine is available to him.

The entries, forwarded through the Royal Automobile Club of London in the international manner, said only that information concerning drivers and engines would be provided when the team reaches Indianapolis.

Chapman did say Dave Lazenby again will be chief mechanic for the team.

Clark ran off with last year's race, and his teammate, rookie Bobby Johns of Miami, finished seventh. Clark finished second in 1963 and won the pole position in 1964 before tire failure caused his suspension to collapse.

The three Chapman entries increased the field to 22 cars, with about 50 more expected before the April 15 deadline. They will be reduced to 33 starters in time trials.

Salmon Picture Bright; Stripers Being Caught In San Pablo Bay

STEVENS

Generally speaking, the local fishing picture continues to brighten. The take of salmon outside the Golden Gate for the past few days has been very good. Perhaps the fastest locale has been the Point Reyes area, with fair to good results being had by the Farallones; best news for most skippers as well as their passengers, is that a fairish run of salmon invaded the Light Ship area.

Boats out of Berkeley Harbor, Sausalito Boat and Tackle, and Caruso's popular spot at Sausalito have been having a field day, with many of them filling out limits and heading for their home port early.

BETTY URBAISE of Sausalito Boat and Tackle phoned to report weekend results very good for the deep sea rock fishermen with the Blue Horizon boating 560 rockfish for 28 rods working, and 31 lings to 28 pounds — "Most of the rockfish were Red Snappers," reported Betty. The take of salmon was probably a bit better on Saturday, but everybody seems well content for their share of the booty. On Sunday, boats New Merrimac, The Blue Horizon and the Chief netted something over 80 salmon, all of good size—8 to 18 pounds.

Joe Wun of the Castro Valley Sports Center had himself a real fun day with Jack Duball, aboard Duball's cabin cruiser, when he limited out with salmon to 14 pounds in the Point Reyes area. Both Joe and Jack released several salmon, kept legal limits and headed for the barn by 10:30 a.m. Joe used a silver Andy Reeker No. 5.

APPARENTLY striper striving in the San Pablo Bay and in the Pump House area has been good to anglers from China Camp to Crockett. Talking to Henry (Hank) Dowrelio Tuesday morning I learned that the party boat, Dowrelio No. 5, took limits of stripers in the Pump House sector on Sunday and repeated the stunt on Monday. Asked what bait was used, Hank said, "Bullheads and grass shrimp, Steve." Fish taken were of good size, around 12 to 14 pounds. Some flounders were taken in the same Pump House area, but very few sturgeon. Many of the stripers came in on shrimp baits.

EVEN THE back country seems to have come to life. Mrs. Louie Patrick of Patricks Three-Mile Slough spot reported one boat taking two limits of catfish, and one steelhead, at the mouth of Three-mile slough. Gene Hagler landed a 42-inch sturgeon, and a private boat out of Patrick's hooked three legal sized surgeons, but lost two of them.

The lads and lassies who went north to Lake Shasta sure had themselves some wild and wooly fishing. Brown trout to six and eight pounds have been taken and black bass seem to be scattered all over the lake. Best bet on lures is Hulu Poppers, and live minnows run a close second.

Baseball's Reserve Clause Explained

By MIKE RATHET

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — What can Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati's Jim Maloney do if contract negotiations remain at their current impasse?

Quit.

They can go to work in another industry or they can retire, but they cannot in any way get another job in what is termed organized baseball — the major leagues, the minor leagues or any other parties to their various rules and agreements.

Koufax and Drysdale, as well as Maloney, and other holdouts such as Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw of San Francisco, are bound to the clubs they played for last year by baseball contract, which contains the unique, much-discussed and highly controversial reserve clause.

Under the reserve clause, each player becomes the property of the team he signs with until that team relinquishes rights to him, either by trading him or giving him his release.

If the team does not wish to let the player go, the player must sign with that club in order to play organized baseball. He has no other recourse.

The reserve clause is one of Wisconsin's key exhibits in the trial now going on in Milwaukee with the state trying to prove baseball violates anti-trust statutes.

In other sports, the player's contract differs in this key aspect. Pro football for example has a contract with an option clause. Under that clause, when a player signs, he signs for one year with an option for another year's renewal.

If a player does not want to continue playing for his present club he can "play out his option" in the second year of his contract by not signing another pact. He then becomes a free agent and can sign with any club he wishes, even one in the same league.

That can't be done in baseball.

So when Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi says he will not contact Koufax and Drysdale and tells Manager Walter Alston to plan on playing without them, then Koufax and Drysdale face the prospect of not playing baseball in the United States this season unless they give in.

And when Maloney says the Reds have told him to have "a nice summer in Fresno" it's highly likely Maloney will wind up in the same situation as the other two pitching stars if conciliatory moves are not made by one side or the other.

That's the way the game is played.

California's Growing Waterfowl Problem

By JERRY HARRELL

SACRAMENTO (AP)—It isn't hard to get agreement among such diverse groups as hunters and birdwatchers that something must be done to save what's left of California's waterfowl habitat.

But trying to find agreement on how to do it is about as easy as locating a specific anchovy in the Atlantic.

Most of the state's great central valleys once consisted of permanent or seasonal wetlands, natural living quarters and feeding grounds for the million of ducks and geese that migrate to California each year.

But the available wetland has dwindled from 3½ million acres to less than 500,000 and still more shrinkage is taking place almost daily.

And without the wetlands, there will be no ducks and geese.

"Birds, fish and all animals, like man, must have a suitable environment to live in," noted Walter T. Shannon, state fish and game director.

"Without it, they die."

State fish and game officials, backed by private consultants, have outlined an eight-point program in the California Fish and Wildlife Plan to save the wetlands.

The plan includes several highly controversial proposals—like making cheap publicly developed water available for private duck clubs, which provide nearly half the available wetlands in the state. Another proposal is a system of leases and easements for private land to assure that existing private wetlands are maintained.

Still another urges wetlands conservation programs much like existing schemes which offer incentives or subsidies for conserving soil or developing farm ponds.

The remainder, less controversial, center on accelerated state, federal and joint acquisition of wetlands and damage payments for habitat lost to water developments.

"It is easy to prescribe government acquisition of wetlands as a solution to the problem," the proposed master plan noted. "Necessary as this may be ... it alone is not enough."

The idea of cheap water for private clubs — traditionally the hunting grounds of the rich—ran into trouble at the first legislative hearing on the plan.

Chairman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, of the Assembly Conservation and Wildlife Committee warned that complex contract problems would arise for the water, and that strong opposition to "subsidized" private preserves was certain.

Robert L. Jones, deputy director of fish and game, answered that, "each of these duck clubs plays an important role in keeping these vital areas in marshland."

"We feel that there should be some assistance by the government," he said, noting waterfowl that rest on private land also fly out to other areas.

California is the wintering ground for 51 to 70 per cent of all waterfowl on the Pacific Flyway, in recent years about 8 million ducks and geese, but in bumper years as high as 15 million.

The numbers vary with conditions on the Alaskan and Canadian breeding grounds, which have had drought in recent years.

The wildlife planners noted that water development in Mexico is producing good conditions for waterfowl there.

"It is quite possible that highly mobile species like waterfowl could desert California for suitable habitat in other areas," they warned.

19 U.S. Cities To Carry Clay On TV; None In S.F.

NEW YORK (AP) — Theaters and arenas in 19 U.S. cites are lined up to carry the closed-circuit telecast of the Cassius Clay-George Chuvalo heavyweight title fight, it was announced yesterday.

Michael Malitz of Main Bout, Inc., the group which controls ancillary rights to the March 29 match in Toronto, said it would be beamed to the following cities:

New York; Washington; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Buffalo; Cleveland; Akron, Ohio; Chicago; Houston; Fort Worth, Tex.; San Antonio, Tex.; Louisville, Ky.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Albuquerque, N.Mex.; Los Angeles and Cherry Hill, N.J.

Malitz said the telecast also will be seen in about a dozen Canadian cities and estimated that eventually there will be 40 or 45 outlets in some 35 cities in the United States and Canada.

The fight, originally set between Clay and Ernie Terrell, initially was expected to be telecast to about 225 locations in 130 cities.

Boreal Ridge Ski Area Is Great; Terra Linda Group Tries Again

It's hard to keep a secret, when a couple of thousand other people know about it, so here goes: Boreal Ridge is great! Even though we'd like to keep it undiscovered and avoid the crowds, it's only fair to report that the Sierra's newest and most convenient ski area is attractive, well run, and has a good intermediate hill with many different ways to come down.

On Sunday, in spite of what seemed to be hundreds of junior racers in helmets and team sweaters, Boreal had a very short wait in the chair lift line. There are also three double T-bars and several poma lifts and rope tows.

THE DAY LODGE is particularly pleasant, with a big sundeck for lunch and non-skiers, food and refreshments inside, and an elegant carpeted floor.

Children have their own snowplay area, for flying saucers and inner-tube sliding.

Boreal Ridge is at Donner Summit on the new Interstate 80 road, just off the freeway at Castle Peak interchange. You can see the sign from the highway. There's a big paved parking lot and the ski area is just a short walk away.

WE SAW EVERYONE from grandmothers enjoying the sun on the deck to tiny tots just rolling in the snow. It is a great place for families, because the action funnels down the mountain in front of the lodge and it's like a continuous floor show.

There was lots of action at Boreal on the weekend. More than 150 youngsters aged 8 to 16 were in the Junior Qualifying Race on Sunday, with two courses being used simultaneously. Babs Fisher and the committee figured out the results in jig time, and the winners proudly received their handsome gold cups at 3 p.m.

THE PACIFIC Coast Intercollegiate Ski Championships were also going on at the 30-meter jumping hill at Boreal. We followed a trail across the ridge and came out at the top of the jump hill.

A man asked if we'd like to try it. Wow! Straight down for what looked like the height of a six-story building. No thanks—we'll break trail through the trees.

Squaw Valley was nice on Saturday, but the weather surprised almost everyone. Looked like sunny warm spring skiing in the morning, but on top of the mountain, the wind was blowing and it was cold.

HOWEVER, THAT didn't stop Dr. Benton Mathews and his wife, Sally, and their boys, Joe and Bill, from Belvedere. They and Knut Wibroe and daughter Susie from Sausalito, enjoyed the Shirley Lakes run.

Sandi Massen from Fairfax skied Squaw while husband Charlies inspected the Marin Boy Scout Camp.

Norman and Louise Ginsberg from Fairfax brought their children, Lori and Michael, up to Donner Ski Area, and they all stayed at Marin Ski Club.

THE TERRA LINDA group is going to try it again this weekend. Their previous trip was cancelled at the last minute, when most of those signed up same down with the flu. Harry Schrauth, acting director of the Terra Linda Park and Recreation Center, is in charge, assisted by Bill and Pat Mann.

New Date For Liberty Bowl?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The 1966 Liberty Bowl game probably will be played on Dec. 10, a week earlier than last year's game, Bud Dudley, promoter of the post-season football attraction, said yesterday.

The earlier date would avoid a television conflict with the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston but would conflict with the small-college playoff games. The new date would have to be approved by the extra events committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

DeYoung's 634 Top Score At Country Club Bowl

Terry DeYoung rolled games of 211, 210 and 213 for a 634 series in the 900 Classic League, the week's top score at Country Club Bowl.

High game honors went to John Salmella, a 264 in the Lutheran Early League. Runner-up in both catagories was Elbie Bean who tossed a 255 game and 632 series in the 900 Classic. Lee Amundsen had a 254 in the 845 Scratch League.

Jean Beckwith topped the action for the women with a 553 series headed by a 224 line in the Mighty Misses League. Rick Posusney was top junior of the week with a 607 series composed of 193, 211 and 203 games.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Here Are Deductions For Auto Expenses

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Automobile exenses are deductible. Here are the rules:

If you are in business and your auto is used exclusively for business purposes, the cost of its operation is allowable as a deduction in Schedule C, Form 1040.

P. J. Wikel

If you are an employee and are required to use your car entirely in your work, you may deduct the entire cost of its operation. Such expenses include the cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, garage rent, insurance, depreciation, interest on the purchase of the car, taxes, licenses, etc.

If both personal and business use is made of your auto, you must divide your expenses between business travel and personal travel. Suppose you are a salesman and drive your car 20,000 miles during the year, 8,000 miles for business travel and 12,000 miles for personal. Only 8,000/20,000 or 40 per cent of the total cost of operating your car may be claimed as a business or employment expense.

Under Revenue Procedure 64-10, you are no longer required to keep detailed records of your automobile expenses. Just keep a record of the business use of the car. You can deduct a standard mileage rate of 10¢ per mile for the first 15,000 miles and seven cents per mile for miles over 15,000 miles in each year.

The miles must be for business use and you must have a record of them.

Also under Revenue Procedure 64-15, you can deduct a standard mileage rate of five cents per mile for the use of your car to secure medical care, or for charitable contributions, where automobile expense qualifies as deductible as a medical expense or as a charitable contribution.

These standard mileage rates are in lieu of all other deductions for automobile costs or expense in connection with business use, or medical expense use, or a charitable contribution use of the car. However, you can also deduct parking fees, bridge tolls, etc.

Certain non-business auto expenses are deductible if you itemize your deductions on Page 2, Form 1040, even though you use your automobile entirely for personal purposes.

These expenses include: Gasoline taxes — California seven cent per gallon, except it was eight cents from March 1 to Sept. 1, 1965; state and local sales taxes; interest on auto loans; casualty and theft losses not compensated for by insurance or otherwise over $100.

Caution. If you have used your car partly for business and partly for personal travel, and if you itemize your deductions, be sure that you list on Page 2 of your return only that part of the interest, taxes, etc., which were not claimed as a part of traveling or transportation expense elsewhere on your return. An expense may be deducted only once.

Car pools. The cost of repairs, gas and similar items in connection with an automobile used in a car pool to and from work is a personal expense and is not deductible. Amounts received from the passengers for such services are not included in income except to the extent such amounts exceed the expenses.

Fines and collateral for violation of traffic laws or other laws and regulations are not deductible.

The name of the Town of Coloma in El Dorado County is derived from "Koloma," a Nishian Indian tribe. James W. Marshall discovered gold there Jan. 24, 1848.

Variety Store Changes Owners, Serves As 'Retirement Venture'

New name for Mill Valley 5 and 10 Cent Store is Village Variety, and new owners are John and Elizabeth Blodgett, Mill Valley residents for a number of years.

Blodgett has made a long career of the exporting business, with trade to the Far East. Village Variety is something of a "retirement venture," although it keeps him almost as busy as he ever was.

Former owners Carlton and Joelle Nicholson are planning a trip to Europe.

TWO MARIN MEN have been admitted to general partnership in the securities firm of Sutro and Co.: Richard Blum of San Rafael and Daniel Williams of Greenbrae.

Blum, 30, is one of the youngest partners ever to be admitted to the firm. He began his career with Sutro in 1958 as a sales trainee and has been an account executive in the San Francisco office.

Williams joined Sutro in 1955 as a securities analyst after experience with two other securities firms. He subsequently became registered and assumed sales-research duties leading to his present post as sales manager for Northern California offices.

The Town of Concord was first named Todos Santos (All Saints) in 1862 by Salvio Pacheco, owner of Rancho del Diablo. Later the name was changed to that of Concord, Mass.

CROWNED 'BOSS OF THE YEAR'

Robert L. Dias, manager of Marin Masonry, Inc., San Rafael, receives from Mrs. Esther M. Dearth this year's honors as "best boss" awarded by the Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Marin County. Dias won the crown and a certificate of excellence thanks to Mrs. Shirley Rubenstein (left), whose essay extolling his virtues was judged best of all entries submitted.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Intuition Can Sadly Obscure Some Pretty Obvious Problems

Readers of this column must help me hide it from my wife.

I have spent years concealing my masculine opinion of feminine intuition at the bridge table, and I hate to see all that diplomacy go down the drain.

Still, my duty to my readers compels me to speak up.

Opening lead — ♣ K

South, a lady who relied heavily on her intuition, thought the bidding indicated that West had the king of diamonds.

More important, however, her intuition backed up this indication.

She was positive about that king.

CRYSTAL BALL CLOUDY

West led the king of clubs and then led the queen of spades to dummy's king. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and then led the queen of clubs to the ace.

West returned a club, and South discarded the queen of diamonds. Intuition told her that this play eliminated a loser from her hand.

Unfortunately, the spades broke badly, and South had to lose two spade tricks.

Down one.

All because of intuition.

INTUITION WAS RIGHT

Please, ladies, don't write indignant letters to tell me that South's intuition was right. It's true that West did have the king of diamonds.

The trouble was that South was so busy intuiting that she didn't think.

South should discard a spade instead of the queen of diamonds on dummy's good club. Then she cashes the ace of spades.

If spades break, she leads a third spade and gets to dummy with a trump to discard the queen of diamonds on dummy's fourth spade.

When the spades break badly, South takes the ace of diamonds and leads the queen of diamonds to make West take the trick.

West must return a club or a diamond, and dummy ruffs while South discards her last spade.

Intuition at the bridge table is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't take the place of thinking.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♥ A K J 9
♣ Q J 7

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one notrump.

You have the maximum count of 18 points, but the weak doubleton in diamonds is a flaw. The trouble with opening with one spade is that you then have the problem of rebidding if partner responds one notrump.

A raise to either two or three notrump may cause you to miss a game in hearts.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, March 17, the 76th day of 1966 with 289 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening star is Jupiter.

American golf champion Bobby Jones was born on this day in 1902.

On this day in history:

In 1897, James J. (Gentleman Jim) Corbett lost his everyweight boxing crown to Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev.

In 1898, John Holland's submarine—said to be the first practical one in history—was submerged off Staten Island, N.Y. It remained under water for almost one and three-fourths hours.

In 1953, the last price control set up during World War II in the United States was discarded.

A thought for the day — Novelist W. Somerset Maugham said: "People ask you for criticism, but they only want praise."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Terra Linda Group Plans Bonds Stand

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District agreed last night to take a vote at their next meeting on the county park bond issue scheduled for the June 7 ballot.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker will speak on the $4.3 million proposal at the April 6 meeting chairman Jack Brandon of the district board said today.

By April 6 supervisors are expected to decide whether the bond funds for cities will be allocated on a population basis or on a project basis.

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District also:

1. Agreed on special recreation programs, including movies, during Easter vacation week which starts April 4.

2. Proposed Dr. Michael J. Franzblau for appointment to the vacancy on the Marin County Planning Commission, endorsing earlier action taken by the Terra Linda Community Services District board.

.3 Agreed to urge the county to expand the recreation program for the handicapped to other areas of the county. The program has been underway this fiscal year at the Terra Linda Recreation Center as a pilot project.

4. Learned that the search for a recreation director to replace William A. Gordon, who resigned, is still in progress. Gordon said that earlier negotiations on a candidate fell through and the position is being readvertised.

Variances Denied

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments last night denied John J. Apffel variances to permit an addition to the rear of his house at 25 Flying Cloud Course which would not leave sufficient setbacks. Variances to permit Herman Fuetsch to add a second story to his garage at 3 Hickory Avenue were affirmed.

Berlin Escape Plotter Freed From East

BERLIN (AP) — A young American just released from an East German jail said today he was caught trying to help an East Berlin family escape to West Berlin and he would try it again if he had it to do over.

John Van Altena, 22, Milton Junction, Wis., was released from a prison in Communist East Berlin yesterday. He was brought to West Berlin by a New York attorney, Maxwell R. Rabb, who had taken an interest in the case.

Van Altena was released after serving 17 months of an eight-year sentence for what the East Germans call aiding refugee flight.

He told a news conference he had been in five prisons, was given no work and for the "first 12 months I was alone in a cell big enough for two men."

He was allowed 20 minutes of exercise a day in what he described "as a sort of cage."

Van Altena, down 10 pounds from his normal weight of 165 pounds, was pale, his hands shook and he smiled nervously.

He said he tried to help a family of three escape and was caught at the Communist wall crossing point opposite the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. The mother of the refugee family and her daughter, 5, were in a false compartment in his car, he said.

Van Altena said he had built the hidden compartment into his American car at his own expense and—if he had succeeded in bringing out the mother and daughter—he would have gone back two days later to get the father.

"If I had it to do over, I would do it again. But I would do it more carefully," he said.

Burglars Visit Church, House

Burglars broke an office window of the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, Los Ranchitos, to enter and scatter files, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Rev. Lincoln Brown Wirt told officers nothing was apparently missing, however.

Samuel Grossman, 8 Irving Drive, Sleepy Hollow, told deputies someone entered his home via his rear garage door and ransacked the kitchen and bedrooms. It was not determined if anything was taken, officers said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

University In Marin Could Be Worthy Goal

A University of California campus somewhere in the North Bay (Marin, Napa, Solano and several other counties) is a distinct possibility, perhaps as early as 1972.

Now is the time to start thinking about creating an atmosphere conducive to a UC campus in Marin.

The Marin Development Foundation sounded out the University about a year ago in a letter to the Chancellor, offering to provide information about land availability and other data that the University Board of Regents may need in selecting a site. The Marin Development Foundation director, Carroll Snyker, has promised to keep in touch with the University so that Marin will not be overlooked in the site selection.

A UC campus in Marin should be an asset both to our county and to the university.

The University Growth Plan, just adopted by the Regents last month, contains statements that appear to be made to order for a Marin campus.

"These campuses might capitalize on their metropolitan setting by a close association with the junior colleges in the area . . . Part-time adult students might, in particular, make effective use of such centers to work for degrees. Greater leisure, greater income and the need for greater skill may all combine to create a greater need for higher education at all age levels."

The Growth Plan speaks of museums, concerts, art groups and meetings of civic boards, which could all provide the subject matter of classes. "The presence of creative and performing artists of high quality could be a great resource . . ."

Development of a university campus would be compatible with Marin's strong inclination toward conservation of natural beauty and emphasis on culture.

San Francisco, of course, is the metropolitan center in the Bay Area. However, it may be handicapped by the scarcity of open land for a campus that will stretch over several hundred acres.

Marin still has such areas, especially in the northern part of the county. Compared with other counties like Napa or Solano, Marin also has the advantage of closer proximity to the cultural and civic centers of the Bay Area.

Just as industrial executives find it attractive to live in Marin and commute to work in the metropolitan centers, the county provides an ideal setting for university faculty and graduate students to live and pursue their studies.

The University Growth Plan calls for one new campus by 1972 and a second campus by 1975. San Francisco metropolitan area is one of the considerations; the other is in Los Angeles.

The state Coordinating Council for Higher Education may recommend one of the campuses to the Legislature in 1969. Both Marin legislators (Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley) have expressed interest in seeing a UC campus located in Marin.

A start has been made to focus attention on Marin as a desirable campus site. That effort should be continued so that when the time for decision arrives, the University Regents will be fully apprised of the benefits we have to offer. We must not miss this opportunity by default.

Republicans In Congress Leading Way In Anti-Bias Jury Legislation

WASHINGTON—The Republican minority in Congress — which may well not be such a minority after the fall elections —is beginning to put on an animate and positive performance.

The GOP leaders apparently see that it is simply not good enough for them to show how much they oppose the Johnson administration. They realize they must stand for things, not just against things and that, above all, they must show their own wares.

In the past few days Republicans have been showing what they would do if they were in charge.

With alert initiative, 18 House Republicans led the way —ahead of President Johnson —in offering concrete legislation to end racial discrimination in jury selection.

BY PUTTING together into one package a variety of measures to aid the underprivileged, the House Republican leaders have offered a solid alternative to the administration's widely criticized anti-poverty program.

Through sustained criticism —often through the voice of a strong civil rights spokesman, Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, the Republicans have forced the administration to come forward with plans to put some new push behind its enforcement machinery. This bears particularly on denying federal financial support to programs where discrimination is practiced.

After a six-month study 25 liberal House Republicans are issuing a report this week pressing for wide-ranging improvements in the foreign aid program.

IN THESE FOUR areas the Republicans are bestirring themselves constructively. The effect is to keep the administration on its toes, to force the anti-poverty program to look closely at itself in the mirror and to prove that the GOP is steadily returning to its historic home as a leader in the cause of civil rights.

Nothing has yet come from the administration on non-discriminatory jury selection.

But something very positive has now come from Republican congressmen.

Their premise is that "it is futile to take civil rights controversies from the streets into the courts if the administration of justice lacks equity and force."

Their solution is to require that federal jurors be selected at random from voting lists and to provide that a defendant in state court could have his case tried in federal court if the federal court found the state jury selection system to be discriminatory.

THE GOP bill would also tighten existing statutes and increase penalties against both public officials and private citizens for harassing or hampering people exercising federally protected civil rights.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, of New York, and Rep. Albert H. Quie, of Minnesota, contend that the Republican "Opportunity Crusade" will "infuse new vitality and new realism into programs for training, educating and motivating the prisoners of poverty in our midst." A major ingredient in this package is the human investment bill, which would give an incentive to private industry to spend more money to train and employ people with low skills.

Even without enough votes to get their own way very often, the Republicans are making themselves felt.

High School Concert, Conductor Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last night (March 18) I had the privilege of attending the San Rafael High School concert band's Winter Concert under the direction of Mr. Terry Summa, a newcomer to Marin. These young people, less than 50 of them and mostly freshmen and sophomores, gave a most exciting performance. The depth and clarity of their playing was outstanding; the various solos played with understanding and feeling. Mr. Summa more than deserved the standing ovation he received at the conclusion.

Their next concert is in May. Those of you interested at all in the music program for students in Marin County should plan to attend. You will experience a truly delightful evening.

Good Forces Needed For Youth

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have been deeply concerned over the article appearing in your paper concerning the feeling of a few members of the Board of Trustees of Marin Junior College of wanting to abolish the Newman Center which was recently established.

I have four teen-agers who will soon be students at the college, and it was so gratifying to know that finally there was a Newman Center on the campus. The Newman Club was, and still is, such a source of good for the students when I was attending the University of California at Berkeley.

I am very concerned and amazed that there are those who for personal reasons wish to abolish the Newman Center at Marin J.C., especially when we need all the forces of good for our youth. There is enough tearing down. Please do not destroy any source of good, especially the Newman Center at Marin J.C.

I commend the Independent-Journal for its excellent articles concerning this matter and especially for bringing such a grave matter to our attention.

Perry Candidacy A Good One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Two years ago my family and I moved out of Sausalito, because I could no longer cope with the spending of that city and its management as well as the county. Taxes have put me out of the real estate investment field.

Now I read with interest that Matts Perry, Sausalito's retired fire chief is in the campaign for councilman.

If we had men like Matts Perry to run the city of Sausalito, I would have never moved to Sebastopol.

To this I want to say that whenever Sausalito again creates a governing body consisting of men like the retired fire chief, I will move back to the city of Sausalito, which gave me a happy home for 20 years.

Union Dues Not Deducted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On page eight of your edition for March 8 you had an article concerning a suit brought by the Barbers Union against a San Rafael barbershop owned by Fred Esparza.

In this article you implied that the union policy was for deducting and paying dues for employee barbers.

This has never been the obligation of the employing barber and we would appreciate having you correct this article.

This litigation is in the process of settlement and I hope to be able to advise you that the matter is settled.

'No Parking' For Cleaning

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The express purpose of the ordinance banning all night parking is to free our streets for the street cleaner. Our street (Brookside and Berkley) in San Anselmo has been cleaned once in four years, and then only in front of our house and because of a complaint we voiced to Mr. Flautt. As a taxpayer, I would like to park as I like or have the service for which we pay. Fair?

Some Wrongs In San Rafael

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Writing as a businessman of San Rafael, I would like to point out some of the things that are wrong with our town.

First—the most complaints I hear from my customers are the parking meters.

Couldn't the City make the meter girls ease up just a little, instead of having a contest to see how many they can write.

I had one man tell me I just spent $100 up on Fourth Street and come back to find a $2 ticket on my car.

The Chamber of Commerce also could look at San Rafael, not just see what they can do for Fourth Street. Everyone in business isn't on Fourth Street. Also the small businessman who works and runs his place six sometimes seven days a week.

So the large places as the banks, furniture stores—their managers can become very active in the chamber. They don't have their life savings on the line, and they have their time to give. Yes, people will shop elsewhere, free parking, no walking two or three blocks. The big places can always open a branch or move, the small places will stay because they don't have that big money, but the Chamber and the I-J will still go on telling us what's best for us. No wonder the small businessman loses interest in the town.

No wonder most of them won't join the Chamber.

I guess we should start our own chamber at $10 a year and really get something done, because if you believe it or not, there are more of us than there are of you.

Deal With Hanoi, Kosygin Advises

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Premier Kosygin gave some astonishing advice to Vice President Humphrey when they met in New Delhi at the funeral of Prime Minister Shastri.

Kosygin's views are being cited by Humphrey to support his strong opposition to Sen. Robert Kennedy's contention that the Communist Viet Cong should be given a role in the South Viet Nam government.

In their two-hour talk, Humphrey quotes Kosygin as saying, "The Viet Cong guerrillas are controlled and directed by North Viet Nam. If you want to negotiate a peace settlement, your government must deal directly with Hanoi and no one else."

IN RELATING these details of his meeting with the Soviet leader, Humphrey stressed that Russia regards the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, as completely under North Viet Nam domination.

WITH THIS remarkable Kremlin confirmation on U. S. assessment of the Viet Cong role, Humphrey contended he could do nothing but explode when newsmen in New Zealand showed him Kennedy's proposal.

"I couldn't remain silent and let an irresponsible statement like that go unchallenged," declared Humphrey. "If I did not publicly denounce Kennedy's proposal, we could have just as well kissed the government of Prime Minister Ky good-bye. It would have collapsed."

The vice president stated flatly he consulted no one before caustically characterizing Kennedy's stand as comparable to "putting a fox in the chicken coop or an arsonist in the fire department."

"I tried to use language that any person in the world could understand," explained Humphrey bluntly.

While obviously pleased with the battleground chosen by Kennedy for their first foreign policy clash, Humphrey insisted that he also was disturbed that Kennedy would favor forcing a coalition government on South Viet Nam.

VICE PRESIDENT Humphrey made several other startling observations concerning the Viet Nam war in his meeting with the Foreign Relations Committee.

"As we increase our military strength and firepower," Humphrey said, "it is my opinion that the Communists may just fade away into the jungles, and the fighting will evaporate as it did in Greece."

Pressed for the reason for this belief, Humphrey explained:

"In my talks in Saigon and to an extent with other Asian leaders, I found that most of them believe there will never be a peace conference. They suspect, as I do, that there will be a gradual diminution in the fighting as our military superiority becomes clear to North Viet Nam."

HUMPHREY SINGLED out General Westmoreland for high praise as both a "great military and civilian general."

Except for a tense moment at the start, when Chairman Fulbright questioned Humphrey before allowing him to make an opening statement, the session was friendly and without incident.

"Who gave you authority to grant loans of $100 million to India and Pakistan?" demanded Fulbright. "What was your authority for making those announcements?"

"THERE IS nothing mysterious about why I made them," replied Humphrey pleasantly. "The authority came from Congress. As I am sure you will recall, the Senate and House approved these loans last year. The money was not given to India and Pakistan because of the outbreak of their fighting over Kashmir. All I did was to make the announcement after the President decided the two countries were living up to their cease-fire agreement and should be given the funds already voted by Congress."

BROOKLYN BOY MAKES A ROBOT

A copper-colored robot performs 11 different tricks on command of the 19-year-old Brooklyn youth who put it together.

Among other things, the 6-foot 5-inch giant can walk, talk, spin its body in half-circle and light up in the dark.

Over 100 lights illumine the robot, while 475 feet of wires make it responsive to the 23-switch control panel.

The youth also has dreams of building an entire family of robots controlled by radio waves.

Imagination, hard work and a streak of genius are required to bring off such a feat.

But it too often happens that young people go through life scarcely aware of the great potential for good that God has planted in them.

Anything you can do to help teen-agers actively to fulfill their irreplaceable mission to contribute to the betterment of others will be effort well spent.

"Insist, that they who believe in God may be careful to excel in good works."
(Titus 3:8)

Let me be alert, O Lord, to the power of youth to surpass their ordinary expectations.

Governor Brown Adds Confusion To Idea Of Full-Time Legislature

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Governor Brown, in placing some phases of constitutional revision on the special call, one of which was the question of full annual legisiative sessions, said:

"Annual sessions, accompanied by improved legislative salaries, will provide better government for California, and will attract more candidates for Senate and Assembly seats. This wider choice is in the best interest of our Democratic system."

THE GOVERNOR further has complicated the issue by insisting on conflict of interest legislation, which in effect appears to be designed to further the complications of a professional legislature running the state.

Whether the concept of a professional legislature, with members theoretically deriving all of their living from a legislative salary, is good, bad or indifferent, remains to be seen.

THE GOVERNOR no doubt rightly insists on some legislation of this type before the people of the state vote to turn over the matter of legislative salaries to the Legislature itself, if they so vote.

On the theoretical side, the change would appear to be highly desirable. Legislators would be empowered to vote themselves salaries compatible with their status as representatives of the people, and under prospective law, would be prohibited from engaging in activities with the interests of the people they represent.

However, like many another theory, the proposed system has some holes.

IT HAS BEEN found time and again that passing a law does not eliminate an undesirable situation. Nor would revising the constitution, no matter how much the document needs revision.

The vague line between conflict of interest and representation of the people cannot be specifically defined, and therein lies one of the loop-holes.

California has been fortunate in the over-all quality of its legislators. To change the ground rules could lead to deterioration of this quality. On the other hand, legislators are entitled to recompense equal to the service they are supposed to perform.

Apparently, there is no easy answer to the question.

MARVIN MANDELBAUM, the gate keeper, was reading his evening paper when his wife, an inveterate bargain hunter, arrived home with a big package under her arm. "Marvin," she exulted, "I picked up this gorgeous bridal gown at a clearance sale for only $12.50!"

"What earthly use have you for a bridal gown?" groaned Mr. Mandelbaum. "Don't you know we've been married already 44 years?"

"Of course I know," snapped Mrs. M. undeflated. "But for $12.50 it can hang in the closet."

COLORFUL HARRY Oliver, self-styled "desert rat," tells about two lady tourists in Nevada who paused at an old prospector's lay-out and were served generous portions of his stew for luncheon.

"Best stew I ever ate," enthused one of the ladies. "I'll give you twenty dollars for the recipe."

The prospector's eyes lit up, but unfortunately, he had dumped so many leftovers and what-not into the stew that for the life of him he couldn't remember half the ingredients. In desperation he rushed a can of the stew to his pal at the U.S. Assay office, and got back a 3-page list with this P.S.: "Charlie: If you eat a plate of this stuff for dinner tonight, I'll give you 3 to 1 you won't survive till breakfast time tomorrow."

Ascherman Might Be Better Off To Lose On Local Case Hearing

The lengthy and expensive hearing on the appeal of San Francisco's Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital is in its death throes. Observers (and there are not many of them left after three long-winded months) predict the show in the hospital's blue room will close before the month of March does.

The hearing will be ended, they say, mainly because the cast of attorneys has long-standing commitments in other courtrooms during the month of April. Otherwise, the implication is, the hearing could go on indefinitely.

HOSPITAL district attorneys still have to call a couple of minor witnesses to the stand. Following this testimony, the schedule calls for Hearing Officer Thomas C. Nelson to hear final arguments from attorneys for the hospital district and Dr. Ascherman. Just when all this will take place is uncertain. Most of the participants were committed elsewhere this week and the hearing was adjourned indefinitely.

Just because the end of the Ascherman hearing is in sight though, does not mean that one should assume this will also mark the end of the case of Dr. Ascheman vs. Marin General Hospital District. Harry Gonick, attorney for the doctor, said recently that he fully expects to be beaten in the hearing.

Gonick indicated he is getting fidgety, eager to move the case into the court structure of the State of California. There would be benefits, he said, in losing the hearing and winning in court. A courtroom victory, he said, could carry the order for the hopsital district to pay the doctor's legal expenses.

IN KEEPING with the season, it should be noted that the Town of Corte Madera has the best park for kite flying. The town park on Tamalpais Drive is new and the trees there, naturally, are small. The short foliage and the scarcity of utility wires combine to provide unusually free sailing for the kites. The fact that the park is on the lowland does not detract from the kite flying. As town park tennis players remarked to the Town Council a couple of months ago, the park area is seldom free of healthy winds blowing in from the bay.

Officials of the Larkspur School District were enthusiastically pounding themselves on the backs this week. Students from the district's two schools with seventh and eighth grades racked up a remarkable number of awards in the county science fair over the weekend. Of the 28 students from Neil Cummins School entered in the fair, 24 received awards. Of the 11 from Henry C. Hall School, nine took awards. These ranged from grand prize to honorable mention.

One of the factors in the coup, said the educators, was the district requirement of one hour of science a day for seventh and eighth grade students. This requirement is commendable. So were the initiative and imagination shown by the students entered from the two schools.

Dixie School Tax Backers To Meet

A public meeting to back up the Dixie School District's proposal to increase its school tax rate will be sponsored by the Lucas Valley School Club, Monday at 8 p.m. in the Lucas Valley School.

The district board proposal to hike the maximum "operating" tax rate from $2.45 to $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation will go before the voters April 19. the district's tax rate this year totals $3.125.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Unwitting Fifth Column Makes Lord Haw-Haw Look Like A Piker

I don't scare easily at so-called horror films, and "thrillers" like "Frankenstein's Son" and "Dracula's Daughter" start me giggling rather than breaking into a cold sweat. But I have just seen a genuine blood-curdler that has left me shaking.

It was a private showing, since "While Brave Men Die" is in no sense a Hollywood production: It cost little, the lighting is poor and the sound only so-so. Yet, in the hope that you might want to arrange to see it, I give the address of the makers: Newscope, 1010 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

NOT THAT THIS 30-minute documentary is gory: It is merely a collection of clips of the many demonstrations against our Viet Nam policy. We have all heard and read of them and perhaps witnessed one in our own community. But, somehow, the cumulative effect is altogether menacing.

For you realize that the enemy, too, undoubtedly has these pictures and—for once, without doctoring them — is reaping a billion dollars' worth of propaganda from them. This is the real McCoy and the voices are those of American intellectuals, not those of Lord Haw-Haw and Tokyo Rose.

EXAGGERATED? Well, try the shoe on the other foot. Suppose our government showed you authentic photos of anti-war demonstrations in North Viet Nam? Suppose you saw prominent legislators and ministers and professors calling on Ho to stop this insensate killing of innocents and let the South Vietnamese alone? Suppose you saw the students of Hanoi University and other campuses marching in a seemingly endless procession with placards reading, "Red China, Go Home!" and "Ho-Chi-Minh is a Murderer!"? That they tore up their draft cards and then chained themselves to the gates outside the president's home?

Wouldn't you be certain that the Hanoi regime was ready to quit and that just one more push would force it to sue for peace? And that it was about time to get the U. S. S. Missouri in shape for the official surrender?

And that — in reverse, of course,—is the false impression our unwitting Fifth Column has left on Hanoi and Peiping. And, by so doing, has actually prolonged the war.

LET NO ONE take this as an argument against freedom of speech. Until the very moment of ultimate decision, I am for debate to the fullest extent. But, once the Rubicon has been crossed, no country can tolerate dissension that gives aid and comfort to the enemy while its own men are dying. Self-preservation is the first law for governments, too.

There was honest and bitter debate amongst us before our entry into World War II—but can you imagine what would have happened if, after Pearl Harbor, there had been such organized demonstrations as we are now witnessing even as our boys die in Viet Nam? And the latest figures show that our casualty list now exceeds that of the War of 1812 and the Spanish-American War combined.

And my reading of history tells me there were highly honorable Tories who opposed our own Revolution — and were, consequently, treated as enemies after the shooting started. Indeed, Ben Franklin, who believed with all his heart that "there was no such thing as a good war or a bad peace," tried to the last to get the ministers of George III to the conference table. But, once the die had been cast, no one worked harder for the American cause than Poor Richard.

FOR NO WAR, justifiable or not, can be waged as though it were a Town Hall meeting. While we're in it, democracy must take a furlough for the duration. When the command comes to go up a hill, the order cannot be put to a popular vote. To disobey is treason.

I happen, philosophically, to hold the unpopular opinion that we might well, with enormous benefit to the world, have followed George Washington's advice about entangling alliances and thus kept out of some wars. Just as I believe that, had we not connived at the overthrow of Diem, we might still have just a handful of advisers in Viet Nam instead of what may soon be 300,000 soldiers.

AND I FIND it interesting that LBJ, then vice president, opposed Diem's overthrow, while some of the current demonstrators were all for it.

But that's water over the dam. At the moment our boys are in it up to the hilt. And, in the bloody carnival of war, who isn't for us is against us. And that goes for intellectuals, too.

Viet Allies Are Shot In Evacuation Panic

WASHINGTON (UPI) —U.S. troops had to shoot several South Vietnamese to overcome panic and permit the evacuation of wounded last week during the Communist attack on the Special Forces camp at A Shau near the Cambodian border, it was reported today.

The exact number shot was not known, nor was it known here whether they were killed or merely wounded. But one estimate was that seven of the Vietnamese were shot.

The U.S. military command in Viet Nam still is investigating the matter and the Defense Department had no official comment.

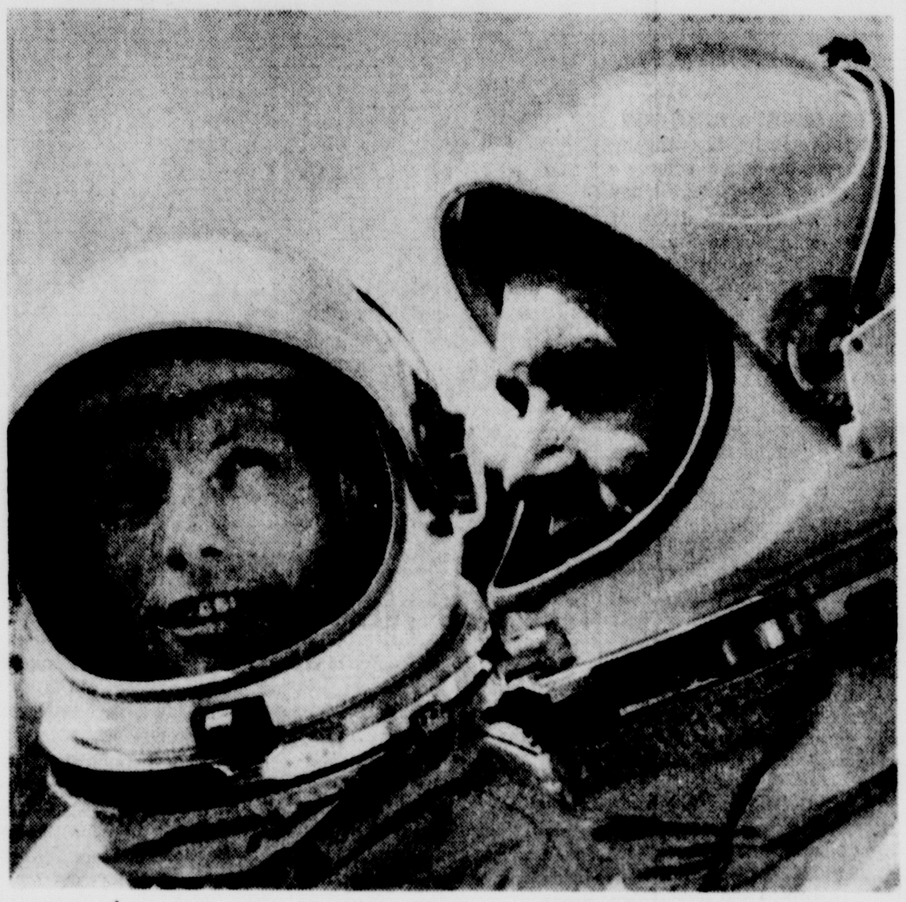
The Special Forces camp, a small facility that kept watch on the South Vietnamese-Cambodian border, was attacked by an estimated regiment of enemy troops which could have numbered as much as 1,500 men. The camp was overrun and had to be evacuated.

On the first day of the evacuation effort, March 10, efforts were being made to load wounded aboard the helicopters when there was a surge of non-wounded Vietnamese to get on the choppers.

With non-wounded hanging on the outside, the helicopters were unable to take off. That was when it became necessary to fire the shots as a reluctant last resort to save the wounded who were aboard. There was but it was understood no more shots had to be fired.

On March 12, enough helicopters got in to complete the evacuation.

Gemini's Wild Space Dance Revealed By Tape Records



SAFE AFTER ADVENTURE—Gemini 8 crewmen Neil Armstrong (left) and David Scott were being ferried back to land today after a forced landing in the Western Pacific when their mission went awry late yesterday. The two are shown in their space suits as they prepared to enter the capsule for launching. (UPI Telephoto)

Astronauts Return 'In Good Condition'

COMBINED AP & UPI

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON—Gemini 8 astronauts radioed from space that their space capsule and the Agena target it was docked to were rolling and veering "violently" before they had to cut short their flight, tape recordings showed today.

A stream of messages from ground stations and the Gemini craft speeding 185 miles high in the heavens disclosed the build-up of still-unexplained difficulties that forced the astronauts to bring the ship down before it became a potential death trap.

They were warned on docking that they might run into trouble and take control if the steering control system of the Agena target satellite "starts running wild."

Shortly thereafter, the Agena and the capsule started to buck and heave.

TAPES REPLAYED

While the hard-luck astronauts were heading today for Okinawa, aboard the destroyer Mason which plucked them from the Pacific late yesterday, Gemini Control played back the tapes of the hair-raising episode which forced the Gemini mission to halt on the seventh orbit of a planned three-day, 44-orbit mission.

The tapes ran about 42 minutes.

The Tananarive tracking station at Malagasy Republic in Africa radioed docking instructions yesterday and included the warning:

"If you run into trouble and the attitude control system (steering system) of Agena starts running wild . . . turn it off."

Gemini 8 acknowledged the order.

'CAN'T STOP IT'

Over the coastal sentry Quebec tracking ship in the Pacific Gemini 8 reported he had separated from the Agena target and "he's in a roll and he cannot stop it."

"He say he can't seem to stop it," came from the ship.

"The Agena's tumbling violently!"

Gemini reported a "stuck hand controller."

The ship was beginning to heave and yaw "violently" sideways.

The Manned Spacecraft Center said it was dispatching astronaut Walter Schirra, who has been on a personal appearance tour, and Dr. Dwayne Patterson from Hawaii to meet the Gemini 8 crew in Okinawa.

The Space Agency said Schirra and Patterson would pick up Armstrong and Scott for a 20-hour flight to Cape Kennedy.

RICHARD F. WOOD
Third in coroner race

Richard Wood Files To Run For Coroner

Richard F. Wood, 66, a consultant in industrial relations, today became the third person to file for the post of county coroner in the June 7 primary.

Other candidates are Dr. Donovan O. Cooke of Tiburon, a general practitioner and surgeon, and Gilbert F. Freitas, San Rafael policeman.

The incumbent, Frank J. Keaton, has not announced whether he will seek re-election. Considered a likely candidate if Keaton does not run is his assistant, William C. Bradley.

Wood, of 27 Harbor Street, San Rafael, declared today that the office should be held by a person of legal training and experience, rather than medical or embalming experience with no law background.

The candidate, a former law-

Low Pay Denied In Prison Rift

A San Quentin Prison official's assertion that low salaries and general prison conditions were reasons why two psychologists resigned brought a hot rebuttal today from one of them, Dr. Thomas Lowry of Kentfield.

Lowry, one of the key figures in a rift which broke into the open this week, declared that he was given good pay and "a lovely office," but quit because he was frustrated by a prison system which has not reduced the rate of returnees over a period of many years.

Dr. David G. Schmidt of Larkspur, chief prison psychiatrist, declared that Lowry and Dr. Arnold L. Knepfer of Kentfield, who also resigned, had prescribed the tranquilizer Miltown on a mass basis in 1964. Schmidt contended this practice brought about a black market in the pills which resulted in a spate of knifings.

Knepfer denied the charge, and Lowry said he would demand an investigation by state medical authorities. Associate Warden James L. Park, meanwhile, blamed salaries and conditions for these and other fallings-out between psychologists and prison officials.

Today, Lowry said Park's explanation was "really not correct."

$17,000 a YEAR

"I was paid $17,000 a year and had a lovely office with all the equipment I needed and a view of the bay," said Lowry. "What really frustrated me was the need for some changes in the system."

"For instance," said Lowry, "they have a rule which prohibits any research by the psychologists with the patients."

Lowry said he ran headlong into this rule when he tried to set up a research project on the behavior of 100 child molesters who were serving time in the prison. The plan, he said, was endorsed by experts in penology here and abroad, but prison officials said it could not be carried out due to lack of funds and of staff workers.

FORCED TO WAIT

When Lowry obtained a foundation grant which would have solved both these problems, he still was forced to wait 18 months, then was told his proposal had been turned down by Warden Lawrence E. Wilson, the psychologist declared.

"That is the reason people quit," he added. "It makes me convinced they are not really interested in preventing crime or learning more about its cause."

Lowry said he has records to prove Schmidt has often limited inmates to 75-second "psychiatric interviews."

"I think even a layman can sense that 75 seconds is not quite adequate," he said.

U.S. Bombers Followed By Enemy Jets

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Two unidentified jets, believed to be Communist MIG-21 fighters, shadowed American planes bombing targets in North Viet Nam, U.S. military spokesmen said today. The U.S. Air Force surface-to-air (SAM) missiles near Hanoi.

An Air Force F-105 Thunderchief was shot down by enemy ground fire during the raids yesterday while attacking the Dien Bien Phy highway bridge about eight miles east of the historic city. No parachute was observed and the pilot was listed as missing.

It was the first time American spokesmen have announced the possible sighting of the sophisticated, Chinese Communist supplied MIG-21s over North Viet Nam. Informed sources said, however, the swift jets have been seen before but not reported.

In ground action, the Viet Cong death toll today rose to 275 in the Communist attack on Allied forces sweeping War Zone D 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

A battalion of U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade paratroopers was hit from four sides yesterday by hundreds of Viet Cong. They called in additional troops, air and artillery support and beat off the attack in four hours of heavy fighting.

The paratroopers, along with U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops and the Royal Australian Army Regiment pushed into the jungles after the Communists had retreated. At least 142 Viet Cong were known dead in the first battle and 133 others were killed later.

One hundred Americans were reported killed and 808 wounded in action in Viet Nam during the week of March 6-12. A U.S. military spokesman announced

Patrick Files, Takes Swipe At Opposition

William Penn Patrick, 35, of Tiburon, who seeks the GOP nomination for governor, filed his candidacy papers today at the courthouse in San Rafael with a St. Patrick's Day promise to "run the snakes out of Sacramento."

"And I think we've got a couple more snakes in Mervin Field and George Christopher," he quipped, in reply to a $4 million suit filed against him by Mervin Field of California Poll.

"The whole idea of the Jan. 15 poll was designed to make Christopher look good," said Patrick. "It seems devious and dishonest for respected pollsters to allow slanted polls to be published in an attempt to falsely influence public opinion."

The optimistic Irishman, who heads a San Rafael cosmetics firm, conceded he is running behind Ronald Reagan and Christopher. But he insists his campaign is "on target and on time." By mid-May, he hopes to be only 7 or 8 points behind the front runners, "and on June 7 I'll come out ahead."

His wife, Marie, and their two children accompanied Patrick as he plunked down his $882 filing fee before County Cerlk George H. Gnoss.

Patrick left San Rafael to file in San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Defamation Suit Filed By Pollsters

Operators of the California Poll filed a $4 million defamation suit against gubernatorial hopeful William Penn Patrick of Tiburon yesterday in San Francisco Superior Court.

The suit stems from charges by Patrick that a California Poll last February was "dishonest" and "rigged" in favor of George Christopher.

Mervin D. Field, director of the California Poll and president of Field Research Corp., declared:

"These charges that Mr. Patrick has been making up and down the state for the past month are completely untrue. They have no factual foundation whatsoever, and they are a serious slander on the reputation of the poll, on Field Research Corp., and on me personally."

Field called on Patrick to offer proof of his charges or to retract them.

"The California Poll is entirely sponsored by 20 newspapers and TV station subscribers who pay an annual subscription price to publish the findings," Field continued. "The California Poll does not accept, and has never accepted, financial support from any candidate or partisan group."

Patrick, as he took out petitions of candidacy today in San Rafael, said he welcomes the suit and a chance to go to court. "This is an opportunity to prove to the people that they are using gimmicks."

Farm Workers Start March To Sacramento

DELANO (UPI) — About 100 farm workers and their sympathizers left this farming town today to begin an ambitious 300 mile trek to Sacramento, dramatizing their fight for collective bargaining rights.

The marchers, members of the National Farm Workers Assn., panned to spend 25 days walking to the capital, marching between 12 and 15 miles each day and conducting rallies at 25 small farming towns in the Central Valley. They planned to arrive in Sacramento Easter Sunday.

The farm workers have been on strike for six months against grape growers here, seeking a union contract. Growers have refused to recognize the unions.

A National Farm Workers Assn. spokesman said the marchers took no food and depend solely on farm workers in communiies where they stop for meals and overnight lodging.

Among those beginning the march were Jack T. Conway, executive director of the Industrial Union Departent, AFL-CIO; the Rev. Keith Kenny, a Roman Catholic priest from Sacramento; Paul Schrade, Western director of the United Auto Workers Union, and Larry Itliong, organizer for the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO.

Dubliners March For St. Patrick

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A parade celebrating St. Patrick's Day streamed along Dublin's famous O'Connell Street today —and all eyes turned to the spot where Nelson's pillar once stood.

The 134-foot monument to Britain's most famous admiral was blown up in the early hours of March 8. The explosion was believed to be the work of the English-hating outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Irish demolition troops this week finished off the 50-foot pedestal that remained.

Today's festivities got under way early and quietly with an industrial parade through the city's center.

H-Bomb Missing Off Spain Believed Being Recovered

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —U.S. officials are almost certain a missing hydrogen bomb has been located in the Mediterranean off the coast of Palomares, Spain, and recovery operations have started, highly informed American sources said today.

In Washington, officials said they had no immediate confirmation of the report.

The sources said the parachute which brought the bomb down in the water had been recovered and the searchers were almost certain the bomb was lying in more than 1,200 feet of water several miles off the coast.

The nuclear weapon was lost two months ago today after a B-52 bomber carrying "unarmed nuclear armaments" crashed near the village of Palomares following a collision with a KC-135 jet tanker during a refueling operation over the southeast coast of Spain.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Labor Leader Dubinsky Retires

NEW YORK (AP)—David Dubinsky talks hoarsely, shouts because he likes to and breaks into a broad grin when he says he's leaving his Garment Workers Union with a $500-million "knippel" in its treasury.

Dubinsky

Dubinsky, 74, a Polish immigrant who rose from a buttonhole maker to head the 447,000-member organization, says "knippel" is Yiddish for money stashed away for hard times.

"I'm not expecting any, but it's pretty nice to have on hand," he said.

Dubinsky retired yesterday as president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union after 34 years in office.

Dubinsky was one of the last of the union leaders who grew up with the labor movement, guiding it out of the sweatshops and hiring halls into an era of member-owned hotels and health clinics.

Duck Grounds Plane

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A jetliner with 60 passengers landed safely here yesterday after a collision with a duck tore a 12-inch hole in a wing. The Delta Air Lines DC-9, on a flight from St. Louis to Memphis, landed without incident. Delta officials said the twin-engine jet was at 3,000 feet when it flew into a small flock of ducks.

Marking Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House yesterday delayed for a week consideration of legislation authorizing construction of an official residence for the vice president. House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said he believed the vice president ultimately should have an official residence but added: "There is a time to build and a time to mark time on a project of this kind."

Watts Is Quiet; War Of Words Is Escalating

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES—Police maintained a tight grip on Watts today to prevent a recurrence of wild disorder that wracked the area twice since last summer.

The Negro district of southwest Los Angeles was quiet last night but authorities were ready to roll in force should they detect indications of another outburst of violence like Tuesday's rioting. Other city agencies and residents of Watts worked quietly to calm tensions. But police remained concerned that an incident might inflame the trouble again.

SACRAMENTO REACTION

In Sacramento, Los Angeles' latest riots prompted a flurry of activity in the legislature today.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, R-Inglewood, proposed rewriting the governor's $260 million local school aid bond issue to permit big city school districts to borrow money to refurbish or rebuild old schools in the slums.

An aide said no new schools have been built in Los Angles' Watts district, in the riot area, for 37 years.

The governor has a different idea. He wants to use $20 million of the bond issue for portable classrooms in poverty area schools, aiming to reduce class size to 25 students for each teacher in kindergarten through the ninth grade.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee delayed a decision for a week on the bond issue.

POLITICS ARISE

The Watts riot threatened today to become a major issue between Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Republican Ronald Reagan in their contest for California's governorship.

Reagan bluntly charged the Democratic governor with "flagrant dereliction of duty" in failing to warn Los Angeles officials that he had hints of new racial troubles.

But Brown said he had received no "specific evidence"—only a vague warning from a Negro state assemblyman.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, meanwhile, pointedly said Brown failed to give him any advance hint of possible trouble.

SPACE SURVIVORS—Soviet scientists are checking Blackie (above) and Breezy (below) after their 23 days in orbit. (AP Wirephotos)

Soviet Space Dogs Hold Key To Next Spectacular

MOSCOW (UPI) —Scientists today studied Russia's two "guinea pig" space dogs before giving the go-ahead for a new Soviet space spectacular involving two or more cosmonauts and an attempt to set a three-week endurance record in space.

The dogs, Blackie and Breezy, returned yesterday from a 23-day whirl in space and were immediately subjected to a battery of tests to follow up data received while they were in orbit.

The Soviets indicated that only after a final evaluation of all the information would final approval be given for the new manned Soviet space effort—the first in a full year.

The dogs came through in "good condition," Tass announced. But authorities admitted some minor problems with heart rhythm and initial adjustment from weightlessness.

But the chief hurdle—coping with the dangerous Van Allen radiation belts more than 500 miles out from earth—appeared to have been negotiated, according to the Tass announcement.

Nazis Are Accused

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —A former general in Hitler's brown-shirted storm troopers, the SA, and a former Nazi diplomat have been charged with the wartime murder of thousands of Jews. The two men, Adolph Beckerle and Fritz von Hahn, are accused of taking part in the deportation of 11,343 Jews from Macedonia and Thrace to the Treblinka death camp.

Escapee Gets 23-Year Term For Robbery

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Charles L. Gove, who escaped from a California prison on Halloween, pleaded guilty yesterday to robbing a New Orleans bank and was sentenced to 23 years in prison.

Gove, 40, and Ralph D. Owen, 24, both serving robbery terms, broke out of the California prison medical facility at Vacaville, disarmed two Napa County sheriff's deputies, terrorized a family of three at a ranch near Lake Berryessa and fled the state in a stolen car.

They were charged late last year with twice robbing a bank at Cold Springs, Ky.

Owen, sentenced originally from Sacramento, was arrested last week in Kansas City, shortly after he got married.

Gove, a San Franciscan, was arrested by FBI agents on Bourbon Street during the Mardi Gras Carnival here March 16. A federal grand jury charged he took $4,500 from a Whiteney National Bank branch Feb. 10.

Judge Herbert W. Christenberry sentenced Gove in U.S. District Court.

Gove was captured hours before his name was to be put on the list of the FBI's 10 most wanted men. Owen made the list.

Tax Roll Trims System Recited

OAKLAN D(UPI) -- Earl T. Parrish testified yesterday that he approved certain Alameda County assessment reductions merely by writing the initials of Assessor Donald Feragen on the files.

It was the fourth day of the former Alameda County auditor-appraiser's testimony at the bribery trial of his ex-boss, Feragen.

Defense attorney Herman Mintz asked if Feragen had ever written that he approved these reductions.

"No sir," Parrish replied.

Parrish said he used the Feragen initials "D.E.F." to clear asessmentr eductions for clients of Castro Valley tax consultant James C. Tooke in 1963.

Wolden Aide Tells Assessing Method

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A long-time aide to Russell Wolden testified yesterday that the San Francisco assessor always passed final approval on six large tax accounts.

Francis D. Brayton, a Wolden aide for 25 years, said the assessor's final approval was necessary even though he had computed assessments already.

Brayton testified that one of the large firms was American Can Co., which employed the services of James C. Tooke. Tooke is the Castro Valley tax consultant whose files triggered the assessors scandal.

"I can't remember who represented American Can prior to Mr. Tooke," Brayton said. "I can't remember what year he took over."

Asked bluntly by the prosecution who ordered Brayton's decisions on assessing the large companies, he answered: "Mr. Wolden."

Testimony by Brayton, still employed in the assessor's office, highlighted the latest procedings in the Wolden trial in San Francisco Superior Court.

Wolden, San Francisco assessor for 27 years, is charged with accepting bribes to reduce property assessments for large firms, thereby lowering taxes.

In other proceedings, witnesses from downtown San Francisco department stores continued reports that the assessor made large payments in cash.

The witnesses' sworn testimony added up to $36,000 in purchases that they said Wolden made in cash, rather than by check, in the past five years.

Wolden is drawing an annual salary of nearly $28,000.

One witness, Mrs. Lois Deal, credit manager of a Roos-Atkins store, said Wolden made $7,250 in cash payments from 1960 to 1964.

She said two receipts had to be made of one $1,000 payment because "our IBM at that time couldn't handle any payment larger than $999."

Bill Proposes Billboard Rules

SACRAMENTO (AP) — About 14,000 miles of state and interstate main highways would come under billboard and auto junkyard beautification controls under a measure now pending before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The bill cleared the Assembly Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works Committee yesterday and now carries the support of outdoor advertising interests.

That's because 4,000 miles of state secondary roads were eliminated from its controls. The measure is the California version of President Johnson's highway beautification program.

Hit-Run Auto Leaves Tell-Tale Evidence

DALLAS (UPI) —Accident investigator J. T. Forston of the Dallas Police Department had only a trickle of evidence, one might say, in a hit-and-run accident.

He followed a thin stream of water, leaking from the guilty auto's broken radiator, several blocks until he found the car and got the clues he needed to trace the owner.

government owns 47.1% of the Golden State's land surface now ....all exempt from local taxation

can we afford to give them more of Northern California for remote park lands?

Nearly one-half of our state is government-owned right now, and since 1902 big government has been acquiring nearly 775,000 acres of our state each year. Now, redwood park proposals would seize many more thousands of tax-paying acres in the remote, northernmost tip of California...paying for them with your tax dollars and taking them off our counties' tax rolls forever...proposed parks that are not needed for the preservation of park-type redwoods. Let's put our parks near the population where people can enjoy them.

don't "Park" jobs & payrolls

If these unrealistic redwood park plans were to be adopted, the economy of the northern half of our Congressional District would be irreparably damaged. The growth of the forest products industry would be choked off. Every business in the Redwood Region would suffer. Drastic unemployment and higher taxes would be the result.

Support the Redwood Park & Recreation Committee's SENSIBLE Plan

It would 1) Increase redwood park lands to over 115,000 acres. 2) Make practically all the finest old-growth, park-type redwoods available for park lands. 3) Keep at least 260,000 acres of privately owned land open for outdoor recreation.
This SENSIBLE plan is supported by labor, the Wildlife Federation, the redwood industry, local government and community leaders.

You can help put the parks where they will be used...

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

How Are Tax Funds Shared?

Much tax money goes right to the locality from which it was collected. The amount spent for national defense cannot be traced directly but the state and federal governments merely collect some tax money for the local community.

1. One cent of your sales tax goes right back to your county or city. The state tax rate is 3 per cent. Almost all communities add 1 per cent. The state charges a small collection fee, but most of the 1 per cent goes back home.

2. Most of the car registration fees go back to the car owner's county as a flat $8 registration fee, plus an "in lieu" of local personal property tax on your car.

3. Some of the gasoline and highway tax money goes back to the city according to its population.

4. Ninety per cent of the State Alcoholic Beverage Department's license fees go back to the city or county to help pay for the police, and other government services where these alcoholic licensees do business. The state keeps the rest.

5. Some federal taxes are directly spent where they are collected. A proportion of the federal highway taxes go to the state according to population.

6. Many of the state expenditures rest on the population of a locality. For example, school spending depends upon daily average attendance.

Welfare payments depend upon the demand, by population in a given community.

Some share of fines and fees collected for violation of state laws go directly to the local treasury.

7. Many of the "special fund" fees and taxes go right back where they came from. Fish and game licenses fees, for instance, mostly go to develop wild life. Park and recreation fees go back to the beaches and parks.

Proposition 14 Court Check To Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A recent U.S. Supreme Court decision has prompted the California Supreme Court to inquire further into the constitutionality of Proposition 14, dealing with the sale and rental of houses.

Opponents contend that the proposition, passed in November, 1964, permits racial discrimination.

The State Supreme Court heard arguments last October on seven cases, six involving Negroes who complained they were denied housing because of their race.

Today the court said it would hear further arguments next Monday. This is being done because of a Jan. 17 U.S. Supreme Court decision on a case in Macon, Ga. The high court held that a city cannot avoid constitutional restrictions on racial discrimination by turning its park over to a private agency.

Prior to passage of Proposition 14, California had a law forbidding racial discrimination in rental and sale of multiple housing. Proposition 14, repealing this, forbids any restriction on a property owner selling or renting to persons of his choice.

The seventh of the cases being argued was brought by the Fresno Redevelopment Agency because it has a $6.4 million redevelopment project at stake.

tonight. Eight were listed as missing in action.

There was an increase in all categories from the previous week. American losses from Feb. 27 to March 5 were listed as 61 killed, 177 wounded and one missing.

The spokesman said that, under a new system of units reporting direct to Washington, some of the newly listed casualties may have resulted from action before March 6.

The U.S. Air Force sent a flight of B-52 bombers today against a North Vietnamese regiment spotted in the D Zone jungle only 35 miles north of Saigon. Intelligence officers said it was the closest North Vietnamese regulars had been reported to the capital.

The B-52s dropped their huge bomb loads only four miles ahead of thousands of U.S. and Australian foot soldiers cutting through the brush with machetes and jungle knives.

An American source said two enemy wounded identified the troops as North Vietnamese regulars. One of them—a Viet Cong—said that his battalion of 400 men was 90 per cent North Vietnamese army regulars.

The U.S. command reported at its daily briefing:

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division cracked into the Bao Trai area, 20 to 25 miles west of Saigon, in a sweep dubbed Operation Honolulu, after the jungle division's home base. Its aim is to clear the Viet Cong from the many waterways and underground networks in the sector.

American Air Force planes joined the U.S. 101st Airborne after the paratroopers stirred up light contact with the Communists in ricefields 12 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, on the South China Sea 240 miles northeast of Saigon. It appeared a major battle might be developing.

In the central highlands, the 25th Infantry's 3rd Brigade skirmished with an enemy force of unknown size near the Laotian border 195 miles north of Saigon. The brigade is hitting at Communist supply routes linked with the Ho Chi Minh Trail across the border.

Tax Equity Sought

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill to equalize tax bites taken by special districts located in more than one county was introduced today by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond. The measure is designed to correct a situation in which residents of one county pay higher taxes than those in another because of a higher ration of assessed valuation.

yer and newspaper publisher in Nebraska and Illinois, said it is a little known fact that the coroner's office is also that of public administrator and public guardian, both requiring legal know-how.

Wood was admitted to law practice in Nebraska in 1924, and was elected to the Nebraska legislature that year.

He said he co-sponsored legislation which closed the office of coroner in Nebraska by making the district attorney "ex-officio" county coroner, with pathologists and experienced investigators as deputies.

If elected coroner, he said, he would initiate and support legislative reforms to that purpose in California.

"One of the problems in California," Wood said, "is to inform the public that a mortician does not conduct autopsies. The coroner, whether he be a general physician or surgeon, lawyer, layman or mortician, must employ the services of a pathologist who can correctly interpret and report his findings to the coroner."

Wood, a widower, came to San Rafael in 1958. He became an associate member of Marin County Bar Assn.

He has served as industrial and public relations consultant for several sub-contractors associations here.

Others filing today included James Andrew Smith, 47, seeking re-election to Democratic Central Committee, District 2. Smith resides at 16 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, and is a meat cutter.

J. Wallis Madocks, 45, filed for Republican Central Committee, District 5. He is an engineer living at 14 St. Johns Court, Novato. Seeking election to Republican Central Commitee, District 4, is Walter I. Dahl, 57, of 220 Canal Street, San Rafael. Dahl is a real estate broker.

Anthony W. Leal, 58, an incumbent, filed for a directorship of Muir Beach Community Services District. He is a steamfitter residing on Pacific Way, Muir Beach.

Ghana Declares Togo President's Assassin Found

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Ghanaian authorities are holding a man they say confessed the assassination of Togo President Sylvanus Olympio on orders from ousted Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, travelers from Accra said today.

Jacob Fulani, 34, was quoted as saying he was ordered personally by Nkrumah to commit the murder but that after Oympio's death the ex-president feared the assassin might talk and had him jailed.

Fulani has told Ghana's new revolutionary leaders Nkrumah financed the Togo coup with $140,000.

Olympio was shot to death Jan. 13, 1963, while trying to flee to the U.S. Embassy during the military coup in which his government was overthrown.

Hero Official Fired In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Maj. Efigenio Ameijeiras, a hero of Fidel Castro's revolution, was fired today from the post of armed forces vice minister and expelled from the Cuban Communist party's central committee.

He and several dozen other persons were arrested as part of a crackdown on "immoral revolutionaries," the committee's political bureau said.

Ameijeiras was purged because of his association and friendship with former Maj. Rolando Cubelas, sentenced last Thursday to 25 years in prison for plotting to assassinate Castro.

Redwood Roads Study Supported

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Creation of a commission to study a possible National Redwood Scenic Road and trail system from San Luis Obispo County north to Oregon was approved today by the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

The bill by Sen. Fred Petersen, D-Ukiah, asks for $10,000 to be used by a 12-member commission representing coastal counties and appointed by the governor.

Petersen said existing state, county and federal roads could be used in the scenic highway.

GRANT WILLS

OBITUARIES

Ex-Architect Grant Wills Dies At 100

Grant Wills, who celebrated his 100th birthday at his home at 77 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, on Feb. 10, died today at that home after a short illness.

Wills came to California in the 1880s and built a contracting business and an architectural firm, starting with only a horse and buggy.

For 10 years he was a member of the Hollister City Council, he helped rebuild that city's downtown area after it was devastated by the 1906 earthquake. He retired to San Rafael in 1940.

"My namesake General Grant was a fighter, my father was, and I am a fighter too," he said shortly before his birthday this year.

A native of Evansville, Ind., Wills settled in Colusa in 1887, and had established a contracting business, working up from being a carpenter's apprentice, in two years. He married his first wife, Anna Kretchmar, in 1889.

In 1896 Wills moved to Hollister, establishing a contracting firm there, and then also spent part time working in a San Jose architect's office to learn that profession.

In addition to serving on the Hollister council, he was many years president of the chamber of commerce there.

In 1912 he sold his business and a ranch in the San Joaquin Valley and moved to Berkeley, working as an architect and later as an appraiser for several banks in San Francisco. He retired in 1926 and built a home in Carmel, but soon started work again, establishing a real estate office.

His wife died in 1936, and he moved to San Francisco, where he met Mrs. Rita Derby, whom he married. He built his San Rafael house after that marriage. His second wife died soon afterward, and he married Mrs. Alice Nagle of San Rafael, who died in 1961.

He was a member of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, and California Bodies of the Scottish Rite, San Jose. He had been a Mason 69 years.

He is survived by three sons, James R. Wills of Santa Cruz, Dr. Irving Wills of Santa Barbara and Henry L. Wills of Lucerne; a daughter, Mrs. Fullerton; two brothers, Aaron Wills of Evansville, Ind., and Donald Wills of Santa Barbara; a sister, Mrs. Letitia Bergwitz of Gilroy; a grandchild; seven great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Wills may have been, for one day, the oldest living Master Mason in the United States. Thomas Yould of Minneapolis, who at 109 was the oldest member of the order in this country, died yesterday. Wills was believed to be the only other Mason to have passed his 100th birthday.

Memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the San Rafael Masonic Temple. The family has requested memorials be gifts to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, San Francisco.

Automation Boasted By Cement Producer

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — "A major breakthrough in cement production" has been claimed by the Northwestern States Portland Cement Co.

The company says it has developed a computer control system for a giant rotary kiln that adjusts fuel, heat and material balances to obtain optimum conditions.

CASA MARIN

what type of carpet should you buy?

wool pile?
nylon pile?
acrylic pile?

these important facts can help you!

Wool is an animal fiber that has been used for centuries. The pros for wool are many and proven. We know it is noted for resilience. This means the ability of the carpet to fight back to its original position as you walk on it. Wool is living all the time, fighting to recover, so that it keeps its original look as closely as possible to looking tomorrow as it looks today. Nylon and acrylic fibers do not have the resilience of wool. Over the years the traffic areas in nylon or acrylic will show up more than wool carpeting. As a natural fiber wool has the ability to blend fibers for different texture effects. Wool has a natural look. It has sheen and color highlights. It has clarity of color which you can only see by comparison with other fibers. Look at the same color in acrylic or nylon, and you'll be amazed at how much brighter is the color of wool You'll find that acrylic fibers look more like wool in appearance than nylon.

Cleanability is a big question in everyone's mind. This is one of the most difficult questions to answer with reliability. We have found that nylon seems to attract soil more rapidly than wool, needs more care, more often in vacuuming than wool. But in turn, for spot cleaning of different problems nylon is generally easier to handle than wool. Acrylic fibers do not seem to attract soil as much as nylon, but a little more than wool.

Wear is the big question always asked. How long will it wear? How long will this carpet last? We feel there is a lot more than this to the question. However, if wear is your only thought, then nylon is the carpet to buy, with acrylic your second choice, and wool your third. Again, if you will analyze the prior statements you will see there is more to your selection than just wear.

You can see all three fiber types (plus even newer fibers now available) in Casa Marin's fine collection of famous brand carpets: Karastan, Lees, Wunda Weve. Make your decision then which type of fiber is the most suitable for your needs.

Our salesmen are qualified experts, capable of helping you intelligently in making the proper selection . . . and in answering all of your questions to your complete satsifaction.

Astronauts' Trouble Still Not Explained

There the crew will go into a normal nine-day debriefing cycle.

"They are in good condition," was all a Space Agency spokesman said about Armstrong and Scott in a morning briefing at the Houston Manned Spacecraft Center.

The nation was kept in suspense for five hours—from the time the trouble cropped up until the first word came that they were safe and sound aboard the rescue ship. An estimated 70 million or more Americans stayed near their television sets during the crucial hours.

Space technicians said last night they simply did not know what caused the Agena and Gemini 8 to start heaving and pitching in space while linked. The pitching continued on Gemini when it "undocked."

The shaking and vibration could have ruptured fuel tanks of the Agena or even the skin of the pressurized Gemini craft itself.

An air rescue pilot who flew over the Gemini as it bobbed in the calm waters of the Western Pacific said the pilots were "acting real cool" after the harrowing experience.

Armstrong and Scott had opened the spacecraft hatches, Capt. John W. Maddox, of Mesa, Ariz., said, "and they were just sitting there enjoying the sun and eating lunch."

The trouble cropped up only half an hour after they achieved the first linkup with another satellite.

At 3:30 p.m. PST, command pilot Armstrong climaxed a brilliant space chase by gently nudging the Gemini 8 nose into a funnel-like docking collar of a 26-foot-long Agena space vehicle.

Mission directors at the control center in Houston, Tex., suddenly were jolted out of their seats when tracking data indicated the joined spaceships were rolling.

"It took off in roll and yaw," Armstrong reported.

Here's what the data now available indicates:

Armstrong and Scott were preparing to make some maneuvers, using small Agena control jets to yaw the coupled craft. Purpose was to study resulting vibrations and their effect on the joined vehicles.

For some reason, there was a violent sideways movement, then the spaceships started to spin at a rate of about once every 10 seconds.

During this period, Armstrong's heart rate pulsed up to 150 beats a minute and Scott's to 135. Both normally register in the 70s. Armstrong managed to control the craft sufficiently to disconnect and back away from the Agena, which carried about 4,000 pounds of potentially dangerous fuel.

The Agena then stabilized, but the Gemini resumed its rolling motion and went out of control.

Armstrong was unable to operate his main engines to stop the motion. He activated a set of 16 thrusters that are normally used only for re-entry and was able to stabilize after wrestling with the problem for 30 minutes.

Gemini mission rules make it mandatory that the spacecraft return to earth as swiftly as possible once the re-entry jets are used. This is because continued use would deplete the fuel supply of the only system available for controlling the space ship during the vital re-entry.

Batman Fans Flay Breaks For Gemini

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

At 4:15 p.m., PST yesterday, America learned through the familiar "we interupt this program to bring you a special announcement" that the Gemini 8 astronauts were in trouble in space.

The stark reportof the near disaster brought 70 million or more Americans to their television sets. Most watched, anxiously and eagerly, for any word on how the emergency landing in the Pacific was going. Other viewers, a small but agitated minority, griped because their favorite programs were interrupted or canceled.

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) in New York said more than 1,000 angry "Batfans" called to complain that the Batman television series was interrupted three times for bulletins on the progress of the space emergency.

"What are you trying to do?" asked a Detroit father. "I've got seven kids and they're all howling and screaming."

There were so many calls coming into the ABC switchboard at times that newsmen had trouble placing outgoing calls concerned with the network's coverage of the emergency.

Kennedy To Talk In Mississippi

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Worried University of Mississippi officials imposed tight security on this tree-studded campus today on the eve of an appearance by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The senator, who played a major role in ending the university's century-old segregation policy, will address the law school student body tomorrow afternoon.

The appearance of the late president's brother has provoked some criticism in Mississippi. A "rebel flag day" protest rally is set for tonight in Jackson, the state capital 180 miles to the south.

State Harbors Change Revived

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Natural Resources Committee today approved transferring the Division of Small Craft Harbors in the Department of Parks and Recreation to a separate department with a seperate commission.

Last year Gov. Brown failed to sign a similar measure which would have set up a separate harbors commission with an executive officer. The present bill by Sen. Fred S. Farr, D-Carmel, would establish a Department of Harbors and Navigation.

Canadians Continue Gerda Probe

OTTAWA (UPI) —They were talking about other things in the House of Commons today. Gerda Munsinger was nearly off the front pages and no longer a topic of parliamentary debate.

Out of sight, but by no means out of mind.

The judicial inquiry appointed to look into her affairs may go to Europe to ask some questions.

Justice Wishard F. Spence of the Canadian Supreme Court left open the possibility that he and his staff may travel to Europe to interview Mrs. Munsinger, the 36-year-old shapely blonde who was alleged to have been a friend of Conservatives in high offices. The justice minister, a liberal, alleged the improprieties in the former Tory government constituted a breach in national Angels Camp (Calaveras County), in the Mother Lode, was named for George Angel, California pioneer.

Water Study Reported

Marin Municipal Water District is continuing work on a survey for proposed service to Muir Beach, Jack F. Harris reported to the Muir Beach Community Services District board last night. Harris, board president, said no date has been set for completion of the survey, to which the district has contributed $3,000.

State Spending, Income Increase

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State general fund income up 9 per cent and spending was up 11 per cent during the first eight months of fiscal 1965-66, State Controller Alan Cranston said today.

Revenues totaled $1.19 billion and expenditures $1.72 billion during the period, Cranston said.

The controller reported that the general fund borrowed $321 million from other state funds to help it through the months when revenues slow down. The money will be repaid before June 30, the end of the fiscal year, said Cranston.

CHP Beefs Up Watchdog Patrol

Watchdog patrols of Highway 101 in Marin County will be stepped up beginning this month in an effort to cut the accident rate and keep traffic flowing smoothly, Capt. T. F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol's Corte Madera office announced yesterday.

By March 30, 13 extra officers will have been assigned to patrol the highway from the Sonoma County line to the Golden Gate Bridge. Another 12 men will join the patrol by the end of May.

The 75 per cent building up in the Marin County highway patrol force is part of the patrol's "Operation 500" accident prevention program.

During 1965, Highway 101 in Marin was the scene of 1,065 reported auto accidents, of which 13 were fatal and 498 resulted in injuries.

"We are going to do more than investigate accidents," said Parnow. "We hope to be able to make people aware we're there, so they drive a little more carefully than if we weren't around."

Another job of the patrol, he said, will be to ensure stalled engines or blowouts do not snarl traffic, particularly during commuter and high tourist traffic periods.

During daylight hours, nearly all the new officers will patrol solo in cars, except for a small number of motorcycle officers. At night, most of the patrol cars will have two officers.

Similar force buildups along the highway in other Bay Area counties will make a major recruitment program necessary, according to highway patrol inspector Daniel J. O'Connell.

Transit Consultant Choice Approved

Marin County Transit District directors agreed last night to hire a New York consulting firm to conduct a $60,000, six-month bus transit study.

The contract, yet to be ironed out, is slated to go to Coverdale and Colpitts, one of eight firms that submitted study proposals.

The firm was recommended by Arthur C. Jenkins, engineer for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, who was hired to work part-time for the county on the study project.

Directors also approved an agreement with Jenkins whereby he will be paid $1,000 for his work thus far and $245 a day for future work, not to exceed an overall total of $4,000.

The board received a message from Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who was absent, requesting it to hold up a vote on the study until he and Supervisor Peter H. Behr, another absentee, were present.

Directors pointed out that their action last night expressed their intent, but that the contract with the firm is not slated to come up until their April 13 meeting.

Jenkins was authorized to start drafting a contract to cover the study.

Among possible methods of operation to be studied are:

1. Continuing private ownership of the bus system with a public subsidy and a limited degree of public control.

2. Public ownership of buses and public control of service, but using the fixed facilities, servicing processes and operating personnel of the existing carrier (Greyhound) under a contract.

3. Public ownership of all required facilities and buses and public management, and operation with complete severance of the system from Greyhound.

Although the eight firms also had submitted estimates on a separate study on water transportation, directors stressed that the study will be on bus transit only.

Thomas D. Hardcastle, one of Marin's two directors on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board, said: "This study is urgent and there shouldn't be the least delay. If bus service is not improved, the commuter problem will become utter chaos in a matter of a few years."

Jenkins said he felt the "ferry boat problem" was a separate issue and not the immediate problem.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported that the City of Oakland has banned heavy trucks on the MacArthur Freeway, and possibly the county could put a ban on truck traffic on the Waldo Grade during certain hours.

Directors suggested that staff members should explore this possibility with the State Department of Public Works, whose approval is needed for such a ban.

More Money Asked For Pollution Study

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Appropriation of more than $1 million was requested of the Legislature Tuesday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a comprehensive three-year study of water quality and water control in the San Francisco Bay and Sacramento-San Joaquin delta area.

The study was authorized in 1965, and additional financing is necessary, he said.

Corte Madera Chamber Sets Up Study Committee

Directors of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce yesterday named committees to study a program of development of unimproved land, keeping businesses and preventing economic blight, reported chamber president Beverly A. Sill.

Directors appointed a committee to be led by luggage manufacturer Maurice J. Koch to work up a program for land development, then schedule a series of public forums on for discussion of that program, Sill reported.

Another committee will plan furnishing and staffing of the present Corte Madera Sanitary District office, which the chamber plans to occupy in June when the Town Hall remodeling is complete and the sanitary district moves to that building.

Sill reported that the chamber has received $800 in contributions for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July fireworks display. He said collections from local merchants should make up the remaining $700 needed for the program.

Clerk Pay Hike Asked In Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Clerks working for the state would receive an early $1.2 million pay raise under a bill sent to the floor by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The bill, covering 27,000 persons, would give them a 4 per cent pay raise effective April 1, which is three months before the pay hike of 4 per cent already budgeted for all state workers.

The explanation was that the clerks have gotten smaller pay raises in the past two years than their fellow employees.

Many Union Workers Due Pay Raises

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Nearly two-thirds of California workers covered under major labor-management agreements will receive automatic wage increases this year and negotiations will be relatively light.

The State Department of Industrial Relations has just published its annual calendar of collective bargaining which is based on a review of 511 large union agreements covering 500 or more workers each.

Director Ernest R. Webb said almost all of the 834,000 workers under major agreements not scheduled for wage negotiations in 1966 will automatically receive wage increases, agreed to in 1965 and earlier. The median increase will be 10.2 cents an hour, with one-fourth receiving raises of 8.4 cents or less and another fourth receiving 16.4 cents or more.

About two-thirds of the 320,000 workers for whom wage talks under 167 contracts are scheduled this year are in six industries — food and kindred products, except canning; telecommunications; electric, gas and sanitary services; construction; water transportation, and eating and drinking places, hotels and other lodging places.

Large-Area School Unity Study Backed

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night voted 9-0 for a unification study area to include the Petaluma, Tamalpais and Tomales high school districts.

The area can be reduced in further sessions of the committee but not increased. Next discussion of the proposal will be April 20.

Last night's action came after the state board of education turned down the two-district proposal that would have put the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area and the Bolinas-Stinson Elementary District in with Tomales as one unified district and put the rest of Tamalpais High School District into a second unified district.

Main argument behind last night's proposal was that the Tomales High area alone cannot be unified alone, Robert Stannard, assistant county school superintendent, explained.

He said that after unification, a portion of the Tomales District could be split away to join Analy High School District in Sonoma County.

Committee members John Hamren and David D. Ring were absent last night.

The committee set public hearings on the Dixie-San Rafael unification proposal for 8 p.m. May 18 at the Civic Center. The proposal is to go to voters June 7.

The committee endorsed a senate bill for a constitutional amendment that would reduce the school bond majority requirement from 66.67 per cent to 60 per cent. The bill is under study in the senate education committee.

Session Changed

The meeting of the San Rafael Sanitation District board scheduled for 5 p.m. today has been postponed to the same hour next Thursday because board member Fred E. Jensen is ill. The session will be held at city hall.

Economy Run Cars Reach Half Way

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The half-way mark will be passed today in the annual Mobil Economy Run between Los Angeles and Boston.

The fifty cars in the competition will travel from Wichita to St. Louis, a distance of 447 miles.

All of the leaders have averaged more than 20 miles per gallon since leaving Los Angeles Monday, except for the luxury group, paced by Mel Alsbury Jr., driving an Oldsmobile Toronado and averaging 17.84.

Les Viland, driving a Rambler American, is averaging 24.39 miles per gallon. He is a nine-time winner in the Class A for compact six cylinder cars.

In Class C, Bob Binder, driving a Plymouth Belvedere, is closing in on Viland in the informal mileage competition with a reading of 24.56.

Bob Checkley leads in the compact 8-cylinder Class B with an average of 22.33 in a Dodge Dart. George Miller, in a Dodge Coronet, is averaging 22.03, the best in Class D.

Pat Sawyer, in Class E, maintains a lead with an average of 22.12 in a Chevrolet Biscayne.

Grand Jury Continues Organization Talks

Marin County's new grand jury held an organizational meeting yesterday afternoon, then continued the session until 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to complete selection of committees and naming of a permanent secretary.

Foreman is James S. Goodale, 27 West Crescent Drive, San Rafael.

Sausalito Candidates Disagree On Marincello, Street Widening

Candidates for Sausalito City Council today disagreed sharply about Marincello, street widening, and appointment of top city officials, in a discussion of city problems on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

But all six running for the two council seats up in the April 12 election agreed that police patrolling must be improved.

AGAINST MARINCELLO

Incumbents Mayor Jan Paul Dyk and Earl F. Dunphy were supported by hopeful Serge Trubach in their filing of a city suit against the county over the zoning of land for Marincello, over Wolfback Ridge from Sausalito.

Trubach said development of Marincello will make Sausalito "just the other side of the tracks." Dyk and Dunphy both said Marincello would have a seriously bad effect on their city.

Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) countered that Marincello was a county problem that did not directly concern the city,, except for schools. Candidate Matthew J. Perry agreed. S. Robert Politzer said the city should work to improve Marincello planning, not harrass the county with lawsuits.

POLICE QUESTIONS

On police, all the non-incumbents said they were shocked that Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck had resigned on such short notice to take a job as chief of police in Union City, Alameda County.

Mrs. Owen said the new chief should be chosen from the ranks of the present department. She argued that the topography of the city requires long experience by a policeman to give adequate service.

Dunphy said he felt foot patrols in the downtown could be provided from the present force, and Dyk noted only 10 per cent of the reported crimes in the city occur downtown. Perry said he wanted to wait for the new police chief to decide.

Trubach said police should work only four hurs per shift on any one assignment, thereby covering more of the city with patrol. He also said the mayor should "walk up and down Bridgeway some morning when the bars close, and see what is going on."

Politzer said crime in the city would be cut if a new library and a teen-agers' center were built. "This city is a desert for teen-agers," he said. He also asked for repeal of last year's law prohibiting drinking wine and beer in city parks.

On a question phoned in about a high rate of venereal disease in southern Marin, each said the problem was not a direct concern of the city council.

Widening Bridgeway to 44 feet, as planned, would bring chaos, Trubach said. He said the city should buy service stations in the downtown and build a three-story parking structure there.

Politzer said parking should be provided on the edge of the downtown, with shuttle buses for tourists. He also opposed widening Bridgeway. Mrs. Owen said a parking area should be created by building an extension from the seawall at the south end of Bridgeway.

Dyk said the widening was the minimum for using state funds and would provide a lane for emergency vehicles.

Perry, retired Sausalito fire chief, commented that almost all streets in the city should be widened, but Politzer said streets and trees should be left as they are.

On appointments, Mrs. Owen said City Mgr. Charles A. Brown should be replaced by a civil engineer who can check building plans and do land use planning for the city.

She was bitter that she had not been appointed to the council when vacancies occurred, although she was the closest runner-up in the last election. "I guess they didn't want me because I was Sally Stanford," she said.

She said she should be elected to give representation to business operators.

The program, directed by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Tunnel Rebuilding Preparations Set

Morrison-Knudsen Co., hired by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to rebuild the Puerto Suello Tunnel in San Rafael, probably will not move any heavy equipment to the site until next week, a spokesman for the Southern Pacific Co., parent company of NWP, predicted today.

Work so far has been limited to preliminary surveys of the area, a search for an office and meetings with engineers of the city, county and state. One such session was held today.

The SP news bureau said Jack Wilson will be in charge of the project for Morrison-Knudsen, while A. L. Chisholm will be resident engineer for NWP. Wilson is now looking for a parmanent office.

The American League champion Minnesota Twins had identical home and away records in 1965, 51 wins and 30 defeats.

County Officials Draft Park Bonds Revision

Recommended changes in the June 7 county park bond proposal will go to Marin County supervisors March 29, Asst. County Administrator John W. Barrows said today.

Barrows announced that date after he, Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, and Walter Horchler of the county planning staff held a second staff meeting on the park proposal.

Joske said today's session was devoted to review of park projects with cost estimates.

"We are trying to hold this within the original $4.3 million," he said.

Review of the bond proposal began last week after complaints arose over the proposed distribution of $2.3 million of the total to cities and districts on a population basis. County Administrator Alan Bruce ordered study of distribution on a project basis.

If the original proposal is to be changed in time to get the change on the June 7 ballot, supervisors must act by April 8.

Drug Addicts Law Tested In Sausalito

An 18-year-old drug addict suspect was committed to Napa State Hospital by Sausalito police last night, believed to be the first civil commitment in Marin County under a new state law passed last year.

Brian A. Baeszler, who gave his occupation as carpenter but gave no permanent address, was committed on the basis that police believe he is in danger of becoming a narcotic addict.

The youth was picked up at 6 p.m. in the 500 block of Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, by Sausalito detective Jim Kane and sheriff's Deputy Richard Keaton.

He will be given a physical examination to determine whether he is an addict. If so, a court hearing will be set. If termed an addict, the youth would be sent to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona for medical treatment instead of being prosecuted.

Baeszler was arrested twice in January by Sausalito police on suspicion of burglary and has a history of suspected drug addiction, Kane said.

The San Francisco Bay area consists of the nine counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

Planners Consider Changes In Sausalito Zoning Rules

Proposed changes in the Sausalito zoning ordinance, including underground utilities requirements, were discussed last night by the city planning commission. No action was taken, the commission setting April 20 for further talks.

Other proposed changes in the ordinance, which was adopted in 1963, include making location of public schools and public buildings subject to review, discouraging creation of parking lots away from the users' own property in residential districts, and requiring specific approval for business activities which relate to automobiles in the commercial-industrial district.

Commission Chairman Alan D. Bonapart said the commission will discuss a preliminary fiscal 1967 budget at its April 6 meeting as well as hold a public hearing on pre-zoning areas outside the city but adjacent to it.

Youth Conference Full House Seen

Pre-registration for Saturday's Marin Youth for Action conference at College of Marin had passed the 850 mark at noon today and additional sections will have to be added to at least one of the forums, according to Lawrence A. Lindberg of the county schools office.

The forum on human relations has attracted most registrants, Lindberg said.

Co-chairmen for the event are Joe Freidman, Tamalpais High School senior, and Peggy Blackmore, a senior at San Domenico School for Girls.

Registration on the day of the conference will open at 8 a.m. at the college gymnasium.

Marin Man Named To Pilot Rate Board

Gov. Edmund G. Brown today announced appointment of Capt. George E. Melanson of 69 Rafael Drive, San Rafael, as a member of the Pilotage Rate Committee for the San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays.

The committee bienially makes recommendations to the Legislature on the establishment and/or changes of rates for bar pilotage for vessels that pass through the Golden Gate.

Candidate's Night Lacks Candidates

The Terra Linda Community Services District has scheduled a candidates' night without candidates this evening.

The session will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, Mrs. Cleo D. Murray, district secretary, said.

"It will just be an informal session," she explained, "the main idea being to stimulate interest in the district's June 7 election."

Two positions are open and candidates have until March 25 to file papers at the district office. So far no one has filed. Incumbents whose terms expire are Melvin Warenback and Sesto Lucchi. Lucchi has said he will not run again.

FIGHTING THE JUNGLE

The war in Viet Nam also must be fought against the jungle and swamps of the country. South Vietnamese Rangers wade through a chest deep stream in the Mekong Delta during an operation near Saigon last week. The group made what spokesmen called "light contact" with the Viet Cong and killed one near Duc Hoa.

Russian Says Treaty Wanted With France

PARIS (UPI) —Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin said today Moscow is ready to conclude a treaty of alliance or nonaggression with France at any time such a treaty is acceptable to President Charles de Gaulle.

Such a treaty would bring France closer than ever to the Soviet Union and would further strain ties between de Gaulle and his NATO allies.

Zorin said the Soviet Union is perfectly ready to conclude such an alliance during de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union in June.

The Soviet diplomat was answering questions following a luncheon given in his honor by the French Diplomatic Press Assn.

Zorin also used the question-and-answer period to pledge that the Warsaw Pact nations would either reduce their military forces or even abolish them if a corresponding move was undertaken by the NATO allies in western Europe.

Interview Put Off

A candidate for appointment as San Rafael city planner was unable to appear for interview by city councilmen last night because he had an attack of influenza, City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson reported today. The interview has been rescheduled for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

Tiburon's Downtown Approved In Principle

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously approved in principle a sketch plan of the city's downtown area, though several aspects of the plan still remain in dispute.

The action was taken on recommendations of City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and Planning Administrator Leslie Gross.

The plan, prepared by planning consultants Callister and Payne, will be reviewed by the commission at a final study session March 28 at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School. Commissioners then will decide what procedure they will follow in giving the plan public hearings, according to Gross.

Aspects of the plan still under dispute are:

1. Re-alignment of Tiburon Boulevard to by-pass the downtown area to the north while still connecting with Paradise Drive at its present intersection. The plan calls for location of the road at the base of Red Hill, but several commissioners would like to see it moved closer to the waterfront.

2. Amount of downtown area to be zoned for tourist-oriented businesses. The plan calls for nearly two and one-half times the present area for such businesses on the basis of growth of the tourist industry at the same rate as population growth. The commission may decide to restrict the development of tourist industry.

3. Amoun of open recreation space left along the waterfront. The plan calls for a park with about 500 feet frontage on Raccoon Strait; this would allow for more development along the waterfront than some commissioners feel is reasonable.

4. Size and nature of yacht harbor facilities. The plan calls for a yacht harbor of about 80 berths, with a sizable portion of this free for "port of call" docking. Robert Moor's Tiburon Tidelands Co. proposal, recommended for denial by the commission in August, calls for a 180-berth yacht harbor.

5. Location and character of a convention center. The plan calls for convention facilities for 200-300 people near the present Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard. At least one commissioner would like to see development of rustic, outdoor-oriented facilities instead of motel-style development.

Water Project Bids High, Low

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has gotten both good and bad news on big bids involving the multi-billion-dollar state water project.

Yesterday, it received a low bid of $4.57 million to build intake channels at the Wheeler Ridge and Wind Gap pumping plants south of Bakersfield. The state had thought the cost would be $5.87 million.

However, it got only one bid for an automated control system for the Oroville-Thermalito power complex. The state had put the cost at $821,645. The bid was $2.2 million.

Red China, Germany In Steel Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany informed the United States several weeks ago that it was involved in a prospective steel mill deal with Communist China and Washington authorities said today there was nothing they could do to stop it.

The deal was announced by a West German government spokesman in Bonn today.

The United States has a basic policy of economic boycott toward Red China but the European allies do not. The allies subscribe to a list of "strategic" goods which they agree to bar from Red China trade but the proposed steelmaking equipment is not on that list, officials here said.

Privately, however, authorities conceded a policy conflict dramatized by the steel mill deal. At a time when the United States holds Red China in part responsible for Communist persistence in the war in Viet Nam, they would like to maintain pressures against the Chinese Reds as an inducement to move toward a peace settlement.

GOP Council Wants Change In Span Board

The Marin Republican Council today called for greater Marin representation on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board of Directors.

Rodgers C. Broomhead, president of the volunteer GOP organization, said a majority of the 14-man board of directors should be from Marin County. At present, Marin has only two directors.

A formal resolution passed by the Marin Republican Council calls on Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley to introduce legislation necessary to carry out the recommendation.

FOR CHRISTOPHER

"Only with Christopher are we assured of victory in November," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told the Contra Costa chapter of the California Republican League in Lafayette last night.

"George Christopher epitomizes political maturity, personal strength and stability, proven leadership and experienced administration," said Bagley. He noted that Christopher is the only Republican candidate who leads both Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Samuel Yorty in the polls.

BRADEN LUNCHEON

Thomas W. Braden, chairman of the state Board of Education and candidate for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, will meet Marin County Democrats at luncheon Saturday at Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera.

Michael Dunne Healy of San Geronimo has been named to head the Braden for Lieutenant Governor Committee in Marin.

Blossoming In Inverness—

THE EXTENSIVE informal garden surrounding St. Columba's Church in Inverness was the setting yesterday for the traditional Primrose Tea staged by the Inverness Garden Club. The tiny hamlet beside Tomales Bay draws hundreds of visitors who sample the famous homemade breads and access the efforts of members and guests who wear fresh flower chapeaux.

'BATMAN,' Mrs. Richard J. Hynes, center, wears a jonquil headdress to collect tickets for the event. Also wearing colorful fresh flower hats are Mrs. Vincent La Barge, left, and Mrs. C. B. Gearhart. Proceeds from the Primrose Tea go to the Jesse Craig Lovell Memorial Scholarship Fund.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

When Can A Girl Call A Boy? For 'Just Friends,' Not Date

DEAR HELEN:

Why can't a girl call a boy just to talk? I don't agree on your answer to "T.," that a girl must have a real good reason or stay off the horn. There is a boy I know quite well. I only met him this year and we don't date, yet I call him anytime. Whenever he calls me, and one of us has to get off, he'll usually say "Call me later, huh?" And I say, "Yeah, if I can." So I call and say "Hi" and away we go.

Now, why, why, WHY not? Maybe it doesn't go in etiquette books or charm schools, but this boy and I are the best of friends, we confide a lot in each other, and nobody's chasing anybody. Okay, Helen?—16-YEAR-OLD BOY CALLER

DEAR 16:

A honk on the horn is okay—for your "just friends" relationship. But not okay for date-baiters. . . . And boys know when girls are "horning" in, don't doubt it!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a girl of 15 and when I tell you what I've done, you'll probably look down on me. But don't, please don't. Your column is for those who need help and believe me I need it now.

I'm not trying to brag, but I am built, and I get loads of dates, but most of them are with hoods. I go with guys about 20 to 24 years old and I get drunk, but I can take care of myself—or thought so. My folks have taken off and I'm staying with my grandmother, and if they couldn't manage me, how is she expected to?

Well, there's this wild, wild guy, but he's so cute, you just don't know. I went out with him once and we had a blast. But you see, he's married, yes married, and has a family. He had to get married, and he says he don't live with his wife. I said I wasn't going to get mixed up in a mess like that but he says I'm just playing hard to get and he'll wait. I read his mind through his eyes, and I don't think he'll have to wait long. He's 21 but looks and acts about 18.

All I want is advice to stay away from "lover boy," but how do you keep away from a guy with looks like that? Please don't give me no religious talk. I've been through that, and it wasn't enough. If my folks knew they'd send me to boarding school like they threatened before when I came home looped. —JAYNE II.

DEAR JAYNE:

The best way to stay away from "lover boy" and all your OLD drinking buddies is — enroll in that boarding school before it's too late! You're not having a blast, little "Loopy": you're playing with dynamite; and if you weren't ready to run, you wouldn't be writing to me.

Give it a try. You'll hate it at first — I wouldn't kid you about THAT, but I'll bet in six months you'll realize there's a lot more to life than getting drunk with 21-year-old hoods. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a sensible girl of 14 and my mother will no longer let me wear bangs. I have been wearing them for two years and they have become a part of me. I wear them just below my eyebrows. Please tell me how I can convince her. — BANGS LOVER

DEAR B.L.:

Try compromise: Cut your bangs just ABOVE your eyebrows. Yes, I know the thought makes you scream, but it's better than no bangs at all, isn't it?

Mothers kind of like to see their daughters' eyes. We're funny that way. — H.

Americans Prefer Living In Family To Single State

The single state may be bliss, but Americans apparently don't believe it. The vast majority of people in this country live in families, and the number of families has increased markedly in the past 18 years.

According to staticians there were about 47.8 million families as of March 1965, a gain of about 12 million in 18 years.

By 1980 they predict there will be some 62 million U.S. families. The experts attribute the spurt in part to the many millions of post-World War II babies reaching marriageable age.

How many individuals live in families? A whopping 177.6 million people or 92 percent of the resident population.

About a quarter of the heads of families are under 35, and another quarter are between 35 and 44. Seven out of eight families are headed by a husband whose wife is present. About one out of every 10 families has a woman as its head, including widows and divorcees.

Linda Geraghty Becomes Bride Of Ronald Fair

In a single ring ceremony on March 5 at the City Hall in Pacific Grove, Linda Diane Geraghty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Geraghty of Novato, became the bride of Ronald P. Fair of Daly City.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white wool suit with matching accessories.

Mrs. Loretta Meeker and Joseph Meeker II, both of San Bruno, attended the couple.

A dinner party at the Outrigger in Monterey followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended Golden Gate College in San Francisco. Steven Geraghty of Novato is her brother.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fair of Daly City, was graduated from Westmoor High School. He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Bordi, Mrs. Joseph Testo, Mrs. William Clark and Mrs. John Knoll, all of South San Francisco and Mrs. John Schoonover of El Segundo.

Following a Carmel wedding trip, the couple will reside in San Bruno.

Mother-Daughter Style Show Tomorrow At Marion School

The third annual mother-daughter fashion show will be presented at the Marion School in Novato at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the multipurpose room of the school.

A spring-Easter theme will be featured. Hand knits, suits, coats and sweaters will be modeled by pre-school through college students as well as mothers and teachers.

Chairman is Mrs. William Bowen, who will also serve as commentator. She will be assisted by Mesdames Tom Pilkington, co-chairman; Peter Ruona, Richard Beadle, Clint Harrison, Earl Marshall and Lawrence Cato, in charge of decorations.

Shirley Spencer will provide the music and refreshments will be in charge of fifth grade mothers and served by the sixth grade girls.

BAY'S FUTURE TO BE TOPIC OF MARIN FORUM

The future of San Francisco Bay will be the subject of Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley in a talk to the Marin Forum on March 25. Bodovitz is the executive director of the recently formed San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The luncheon meeting will be held at noon at Sabella's Restaurant, in Mill Valley, with Mrs. Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley as program chairman.

Mrs. Arthur L. Sell of San Anselmo is reservations chairman for the luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Schultz Named Regional Officer For Mills

Mrs. Robert L. Schultz's widely known and appreciated talents for organization have led to her appointment to two of the biggest undertakings in a career marked by years of leadership in music, educational, social and civic affairs.

Holder of bachelor and master of arts degrees in music from Mills College, she has been elected Regional Governor for Middle California by the alumnae association of the college.

Also Thelma and her husband, who live in Mill Valley, have been named regional co-chairmen of the Mills College current challenge fund drive to raise $6,700,000 by 1967. This is the amount necessary to secure a three-to-one matching grant from the Ford Foundation.

MRS. ROBERT L. SCHULTZ

With the help of seven other husband-wife co-chairmen working under their direction, they expect to contact personally every alumna, parent and friend of the college in an area consisting of Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties.

Other Marin women involved in this program are Mrs. J. Benton Bostick Jr., of Tiburon, research chairman, and Dr. Margaret Greene of Mill Valley, special gifts chairman.

As a regional governor, Thelma Schultz will be responsible for three programs in middle California—the alumnae fund, student recommendations and public relations.

Previously she served as president of the national, San Francisco and Marin Mills alumnae clubs.

Marin organizations that have benefitted from her leadership as president have been the Symphony Guild of Marin, the Marin Symphony Auxiliary and the Marin Music Study Club.

Some of the groups in which she is or has been active include the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, the Founders Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital, the Mill Valley Community Church Club, Mill Valley Branch of the American Assn. of University Women and the Marin Mineral Society.

Because of her new responsibilities, it is not surprising that Thelma says she will have to curtail her activities in some of these groups.

Old Mill P-TA To Hear Panel

A panel discussion dealing with a school racial integration experiment will be the program for the meeting of Mill Valley's Old Mill School Parent-Teacher Assn. on March 24, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Speaking on a "Progress Report on the Mill Valley Experiment at Richardson Bay School, Sausalito" will be a five-member panel. They are Henry Horowitz, chairman inter-district committee; Amil St. Augustine and James Martin, Mill Valley teachers at Richardson Bay; Sausalito teacher Bonnie Clark at Richardson Bay; and Sausalito school board trustee Bruce Woelfel.

A recent joint decision by Mill Valley and Sausalito school boards of trustees was made to continue the Mill Valley classes at Richardson Bay School.

Card Party Sunday

A card party will be given on Sunday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito beginning at 1 p.m.

Dinner Set Sunday

The annual spaghetti dinner sponsored by the Our Lady of Loretto Parents' Guild will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. Sunday at the parish hall of the church in Novato. The date was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

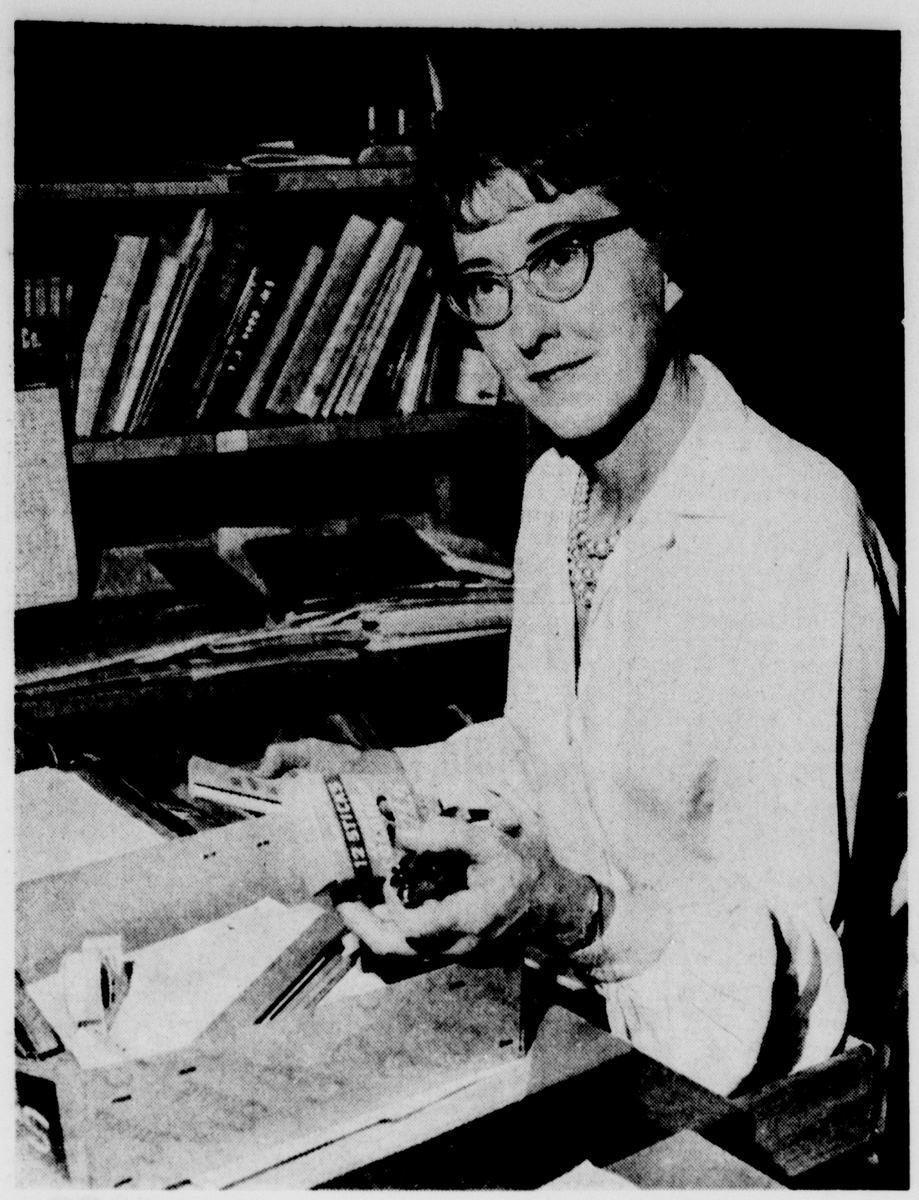
Woman Educator To Teach At Davis



LEAVING Marin County this summer to assume the position as associate head of teacher education at the University of California at Davis is Dr. Dorothy S. Blackmore of Belvedere. Dr. Blackmore has been associated with Dominican College since 1951, and is professor of education and director of student teaching on the San Rafael campus. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin County will lose one of its most distinguished women educators when Dr. Dorothy S. Blackmore leaves Dominican College to become associate head of teacher education at the University of California at Davis this summer.

Dr. Blackmore has been associated with Dominican College since 1951, and is a present professor of education and director of student teaching on the San Rafael campus. During her work at the college a number of honors have been accorded her department. The most recent is the award for distinguished achievement in 1966 given by the American Assn. of Colleges for Teacher Education for Dominican's teacher education program. Sister Mary Patrick, college president and Dr. Blackmore went to Chicago to accept the award last month.

SHE IS MARRIED to Edwin L. Blackmore, Marin County coordinator of elementary and secondary education. Mr. Blackmore will also leave his duties here and will be working in the school administration field in the Sacramento area. The couple have lived in Marin County since 1937, and have been Belvedere residents for 20 years.

"LIVING HERE has been an enriching experience," says the slender blonde woman, "We regret leaving our friends and associates. Our entire professional lives have been in Marin County. This is a professional move that is so intriguing it is irresistable."

A native of Willows, the education expert is a descendant of the Drew and Vanderford pioneer families who settled in Glenn County in the 1950's. She was valedictorian of her graduating class at Glenn County High School, and received her bachelor of art degree cum laude from Chico State College, majoring in both biology and English. She earned her master of science degree in education in 1957 from Dominican College, and the doctor of education degree from the University of California in 1962.

The Blackmores have two children, Bill, 19, and Peggy, 17, a senior at San Domenico.

THE LIST of Dr. Blackmore's professional honors and affiliations is already a long one and keeps increasing. Last week in Sacramento she was appointed to the state board of directors, California Council on the Education of Teachers. Another recent appointment was to membership on the national commission on internships, the association for student teaching. She is regional chairman of the California Council on the education of teachers, a member of several educational honor societies, the International Reading Assn., the California Assn. for Supervision and surriculum development, and the California Council on the Education of Teachers.

SHE IS ALSO the author of numerous professional publications, and is a recognized authority on the subject of teaching internship. Dr. Blackmore is now revising her handbook for supervising teachers, which was originally published in 1960.

Despite a demanding career and family responsibilities, the Belvedere woman has participated in community activities, including terms as director of the YMCA and Camp Fire Girls in Marin. She is a past president of the Reed Parents Club, and has worked with the Belvedere Nursery School, Cub Scouts, Little League, Girl Scouts and the Redwood High School P-TA. She has served on the Altar Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Belvedere, and is educational consultant of St. Stephen's parish day school.

THE FAMILY has a summer home on Silver Lake in Lassen County. "This," Dorothy says enthusiastically" is a primitive retreat. There is no telephone within 20 miles, we cook with wood and bake our own bread. One advantage of the move to Davis will be being a little closer to the cabin." At Silver Lake, Mrs. Blackmore indulges in two of her hobbies—hiking and bird-watching. Another favorite recreational activity is sewing.

By June 20 this outstanding woman will be on the campus at Davis, where in addition to her administrative activities, she will be a lecturer in education and a supervisor of student teaching. Thoughtfully she says, "I did not seek this change and feel quite venturous to be setting off in this new direction."

Emergency Buttons To Stick On Shirt

Just the thing for bachelors are emergency buttons. They solve the problem of what to do when a shirt is missing a button and there's neither time nor inclination to sew it back. The emergency buttons are a new stick-on type that will hold a fairly heavy strain while giving the appearance of being hand-stitched. Pull the button off the card and stick it on.

Scholarships Are Plentiful This Spring

By ALAN M. ADELSON

Springtime is scholarship time.

Knowing this full well, Marin high school guidance counselors have turned their fancies to finding ways for their students to tap into the deep pool of money which is given away annually for pursuit of higher education.

So great is the number of scholarships offered, and so varied are the qualifications for winning them, that every high school in Marin has a guidance counselor whose special responsibility is to inform students about opportunities for receiving financial aid.

Announcements of new scholarships come into the counselors' offices in large daily batches during the early spring.

"No matter what we do, it's inevitable that some of the students will eventually ask, "Why didn't I ever hear about that scholarship?" lamented Mrs. Grace Nelson, Redwood High School's guidance counselor specializing in scholarships.

But she and her colleagues around the county, are fighting that "inevitability."

Most Marin high schools hold at least one large assembly at which procedure for selecting and applying for scholarships is explained. In addition, the schools maintain bulletin boards devoted especially to newly announced scholarship opportunities. Newsletters are published monthly in the Tamalpais High School District listing scholarships and telling students how to apply for them.

"One of our greatest problems is that the students are modest, and even if they feel they need the money, they don't realize how well qualified they are to get it," said Mrs. Nelson.

Parents, who have a much better idea of the family's financial needs than their children, are often well advised to consult personally with guidance counselor if they feel there will be a need for aid, Mrs. Nelson said.

Sources of aid, and guides on how to get it, are myriad.

The best single source of scholarship money, most counselors agree, is the individual college, which gives money on admittance or during the student's college years if his need suddenly increases or his grades or extracurricular activities make him newly qualified.

Deadlines have already passed this year for some awards, including the California state scholarships, for which applications must be made in January.

Besides scholarships, there are low-interest loans available to help finance college. Greatest source of these is National Defense Education Act loans, which are given in amounts up to $5,000 for undergraduate studies. These are usually administered through the college.

Following is a listing of most of the local scholarships offered for Marin students only, and of some regional, state, and national scholarships which local counselors have found good financial resources for their students.

The Great Sonnet Storm: Poets Protest Politico's Promulgation

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus is one step away today from becoming the fifth poet laureate of California.

Shunting aside opposition from 45 state poetry organizations, the Senate Rules Committee yesterday approved a resolution that would bestow the honor on the Reedley Democrat.

Sen. Vernon L. Sturgeon, R-Paso Robles, cast the lone negative vote on the five-man committee.

"I don't know a sonnet from an ode," said Sturgeon, adding "somebody besides us ought to make this sort of decision."

An audience consisting of poets from throughout the state applauded.

"I wish you folks lived in my district," Sturgeon said.

"We'll move," someone yelled from the rear of the hearing room.

If the resolution, now on the Senate floor, is adopted by the upper house, Garrigus—an English instructor at Reedley College—would receive the honor, for which there is no pay. The measure, already adopted by the Assembly on a voice vote, doesn't need Gov. Edmund G. Brown's signature.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, the resolution's author, told the committee it is "extremely difficult" to gauge the relative merits of poetry.

But, he said, "it is proper to confer this title on one who has acted so well in this capacity."

Stout opposition came from Mrs. Grace Callahan of Sacramento, vice president of the northern chapter of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets, who said she was representing the 45 poetry groups.

Mrs. Callahan, seated alongside Crown, presented the committee samples of Garrigus' work with attached critical comments and declared:

"No poet who is a master of his craft would have this many trite phrases."

Mrs. Callahan then proceeded to lecture Senate President Pro Ten Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, committee chairman, and Sens. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael; Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point; J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco; and Sturgeon on technique, meter and couplets.

With one exception, she said, the 45 organizations are supporting Miss Edythe Hope Genee of Hollywood for the honor that has gone begging since 1961.

McAteer challenged Mrs. Callahan, asserting that if the legislature didn't like Garrigus' work they could pass a resolution rescinding the action.

The San Francisco Democrat called Garrigus an excellent "working poet" and said he has performed with excellence when called upon to compose poetry for state functions.

But Mrs. Callahan, avoiding the icy stare of Crown, told the committee point blank that "the word of poetry craftsmen should be taken" instead.

Burns, joining McAteer in support of Garrigus, said no one should draw the inference th lawmakers were naming the best poet, but that they were "just recognizing his service to the state and to the people of California." Garrigus has announced he won't seek re-election to the legislature.

Crown, quoting from Hamlet, said the line, "To take arms against a sea of troubles," was just as implausible as some of Garrigus' work. But, he said, Shakespeare is applauded anyway.

The audience groaned.

Base Stabbing Report Asks Lesser Charge

The written report on the pre-court martial hearing of A 1c James O. Young has recommended that he be tried for second degree murder, Hamilton Air Force base officials said today.

Maj. James E. Greene, judge advocate of Travis Air Force Base, who conducted the pre-court martial hearing which ended on Feb. 24, has made the recommendation that the charge be lowered from first to second degree murder.

His report, which was sent to Col. Ralph M. Wanderer Jr., base commander, is being studied by the judge advocate of the 28th Air Division. He will report to Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the 28th Air Division, who will then decide when and if a court martial is to be called.

Airman Young was accused of murder in the Christmas morning slaying of A/1c Robert M. Jennings in their barracks after a drinking party.

Child's Eye For Diamonds Is Rewarded

Sharp-eyed Douglas Pope, the 7-year-old Tiburon boy who found a diamond Tuesday which a Belvedere woman had lost from a ring, got a reward for his discovery today.

Mrs. Edith Imrie of 555 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, who lost the diamond on Friday in the Boardwalk Shopping Center in Tiburon, admitted she gave little Douglas a check which, she said, "He'll probably put away for his college education."

Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Pope of 675 Hawthorne Drive, Tiburon, had taken his find quite in stride, Mrs. Imrie said.

"I complimented him on being so alert. He saw the tiny stone at his feet, but he said, 'Oh, I always look down. I do it when I'm studying my books in school.'"

Credit Union Elects Directors For Term

Independent-Journal employees Frank Turner and Jack Lucey were re-elected directors of the I-J Federal Credit Union at the annual shareholders' meeting last night, attended by 10 persons.

The group also elected Loren Lind and re-elected Kent Dreitzler to the credit committee. Lind replaces Albert G. Todaro.

Government Faces Riots In Indonesia

SINGAPORE (UPI) —Indonesia's anti-Communist students rose up in new anti-government demonstrations today less than 24 hours after President Sukarno claimed he still had full power. One report said the students gave him 48 hours to form an anti-Communist cabinet.

The students occupied the residences of six government ministers and seized two government officials, the reports from Jakarta said.

Private reports from Jakarta indicated that pro-Communist Foreign Minister Subandrio, the first prime minister, remained the major target of the students. The students were angered because they said he had been linked with a secret pact with Communist China.

STUDENT DEMANDS

The students are demanding that the 100-man cabinet be dissolved and food prices lowered in addition to seeking the resignation of Subandrio.

Sukarno insisted in a speech yesterday that he was still the supreme leader and could name anyone to the cabinet he chose.

Observers in Singapore expressed doubt as to the validity of Sukarno's claim he was in undisputed control as broadcast by the official Radio Jakarta.

LIFETIME CHIEF

The radio rebroadcast a 15 minute statement, heard in Singapore for the first time yesterday, that the Indonesian "president-for-life" continued to rule unimpeded by the powerful military chieftains who crushed an attempted Communist coup last October.

An earlier Radio Jakarta broadcast yesterday carried the same assertion by Lt. Gen. Soeharto, to whom Sukarno delegated "political powers" last Friday.

Parking Fines Change Studied By County Aide

A proposal to have cities collect parking fines is under study in the county administrator's office.

The idea was proposed by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Municipal Court. Collection of parking fines, now the job of the Municipal Court, would be done by the city treasurers. A parking case would come into court only after a treasurer was unable to collect.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the move would save the municipal court considerable effort now expended on paper work.

The suggestion has the support of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who argues that the county is spending money to collect fines for the cities without reimbursement.

Father Faces Court Test On Son's, Youths' Music

Wilfred G. Barnet of 165 Pixley Avenue, Corte Madera, will be arraigned in municipal court Monday on a charge of disturbing the peace, because he let his son and three other boys hold a mid-afternoon jam session in his condominium apartment Sunday.

At 1:25 p.m. Sunday, when the youthful combo's music began emanating from electrical amplifiers and wafting through the condominium building, William T. Etchison, who lives at 161 Pixley in the same building, called the police.

Etchison said he had complained about the strident sounds before and thought this was the time to put a stop to them. In the words of responding officer Charles E. Newman, "Mr. Etchison was very emphatic in his denunciation of the so-called nuisance."

Officer Newman reported that both he and Barnet tried to "work things out" with Etchison, but the man insisted he wanted to file a formal complaint. He did so at the district attorney's office Monday.

Barnet said he saw nothing wrong with the boys wanting to play their instruments on a Sunday afternoon. Their music was banned from the condominium's club room, he said, so he invited them to play in his apartment.

"This is a test case," declared Barnet, "to see if young people are to be denied all right to enjoy themselves."

Meeting Cancelled

The citizens Advisory Committee on the Development of Marin was unable to muster a quorum for its meeting last night and the session was cancelled, according to Mrs. Evelyn Partridge, secretary.

Airman Arrested

A/3C Kyle R. Shakesnider Jr., 19, of the 78th Combat Support Group at Hamilton Air Force Base, was arrested by Novato police yesterday on a warrant from Alameda County charging him with robbery, and booked into Marin County Jail.

Spring In Marin's City Parks

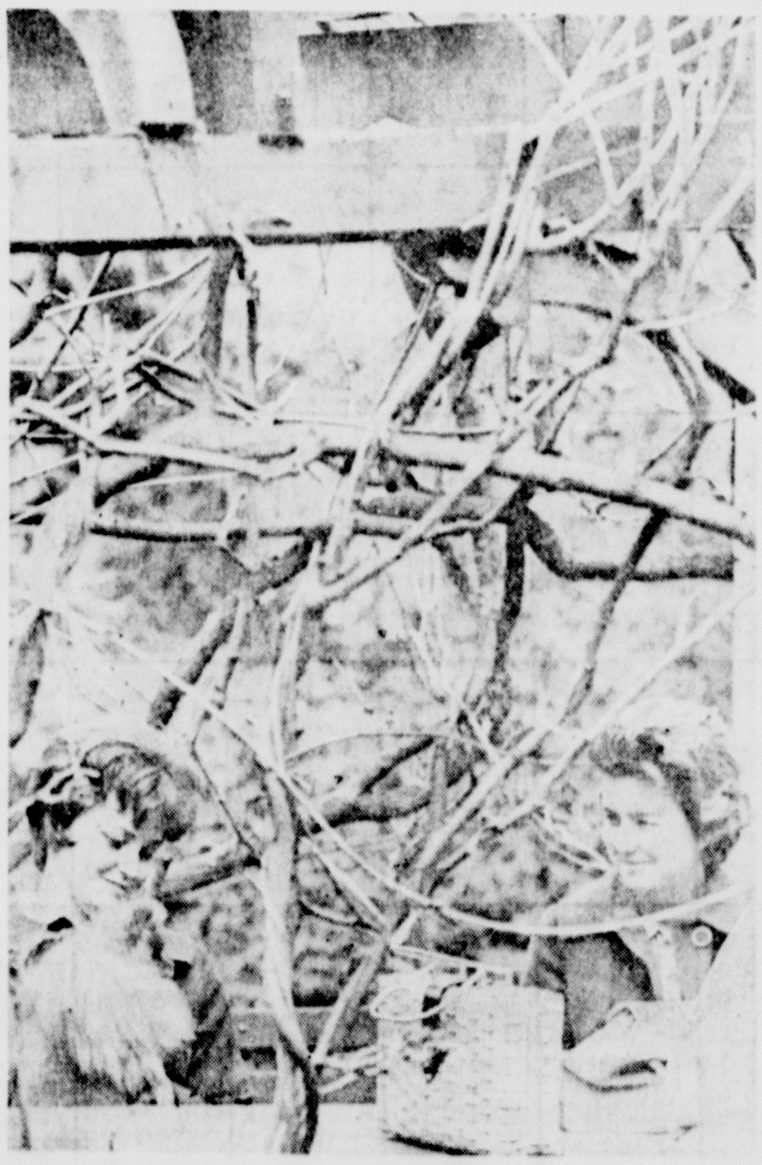
TIFFANY BEACH—On a morning in Sausalito, this beach park is deserted except for an early riser feeding the sea gulls. On a weekend in summer, the park will be filled with residents seeking sun tans. The city's Rotary Club helped construct the park. Also on Bridgeway are "vest pocket" parks where walkers can sit and look at the bay.

SPRING FLOWERS—In the small formal park in Ross, the flowers are just beginning to blossom, but the wild flowers hidden in the closely cropped grass already are in full bloom.

SHADY NOOK—Larkspur's small park is darkly shaded with trees and has swings and climbing apparatus for youngsters, near a brook. Parks are most often geared to children but some, most notably in Mill Valley, are fine for adult contemplation. (Independent-Journal photos by Ellen Bry)

INTO ORBIT — Youngsters waiting for the morning school bus swing high in Belvedere Park, with the hills of Tiburon behind them.

UPSIDE DOWN — Young Scott Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Carson of Corte Madera works out on the rings at the town park. Its spacious lawns also are fine for kite flying, with tennis courts in one corner. Newly planted trees soon will bring shade to the vast expanse of grass.



TRADITIONAL ARBOR—Mrs. Phillip Murphy (left) and Mrs. Fried Wight and Willie, a very small dog (though illegal in the park) have lunch at Gerstle Park in San Rafael. The semi-formal park has closely trimmed lawns, flower beds and winding paths and a children's play area. Boyd Park, also in San Rafael, combines tennis courts, play area and a slightly wilder atmosphere. Neighboring San Anselmo has just acquired more than 60 acres of rolling hillside, the former Sorich Ranch.

CASCADE PARK — The cascade is at its best in the rainy winter and spring in Mill Valley, in one of the "vest pocket" parks which this city and Sausalito have successfully developed. Park land costs usually are high; some of the parks are on land which has been donated to the cities.

State Unlikely To Buy Park Area Land Now

The State Division of Beaches and Parks is not likely to make any move to buy the 15-acre Scott property to add to Mount Tamalpais State Park before the county puts the property on the auction block on April 16.

The entire matter of adding several thousand acres (including the Scott property) to Tamalpais State Park is now up to the Legislature, according to D. F. Bruno, senior land agent at the Division of Beaches and Parks office in Sacramento.

"We cannot commit ourselves on the Scott property at this point," said Bruno. "We do recommend t[illegible] the Scott property be acquired. This has always been in our program."

Bruno said he doubts that the 15 acres can be singled out and given special priority since it is part of the overall acquisition proposal.

"About two or three years ago, we appraised the Scott property at $40,000 or $42,000," Bruno recalled. "But the owners wanted $50,000, so we backed out."

Marin County bought the property for $50,000 but now wants the state to buy it for $54,000. The county will put the property up for sale at public auction on April 16 at a minimum price of $54,000.

Sunny Hills Gets Memorial Grant

A grant of $7,550 has been made to Sunny Hills in San Anselmo by the William Babcock Memorial Endowment as a memorial to Sidney Braverman, Marin County civic worker and furniture store owner, who died Jan. 11.

Braverman was a director of both organizations.

The gift was in recognition of the therapeutic services to children of Marin County at the Sunny Hills facility.

It will be used, together with other gifts in memory of Braverman, forc onstruction and furnishing of new facilities.

Sign Vandals Hit

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A resolution calling for interim investigation of vandalism to street and highway signs has been introduced in the Legislature by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka. Collier said that, aside from the nearly million-dollar cost annually for replacement of damaged signs, the damaging causes a hazard to the motoring public.

Firm Denies Fault For Sewer Break

Members of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board argued for nearly an hour Tuesday with representatives of a San Francisco landscaping firm over the cause of a break in the district's major sewer line in the Del Miramar area.

In dispute was a January break in the sewer line across 16 Malvina Court. The district charges that the break was caused by undercutting of the pipe by Valentine Corp., which was landscaping the lot. Valentine Corp., contends the main broke as a result of a naturally caused landslide and refuses to pay a $1,000 bill for repair of the line.

The board continued the matter to a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the district's pumping station at Tiburon and Trestle Glen boulevards.

Engineer Loses Out On Demotion Protest

The Marin County personnel commission has ruled that there was no de facto demotion for Walter R. Noll of the county department of public works.

Noll claimed he was demoted when the number of engineering steps in the department was cut from three to two, placing him in the bottom step rather than the middle step, his former position.

Marin History Class Extended

Guest lecturers will again be featured in the class on Marin County history given by the Tamalpais High School District adult evening school.

Classes for the spring term are scheduled for Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, 7:30 to 9:30. George Irvin, Tam High history teacher, is instructor.

Topics will include land grants in Marin, railroads, the Bolinas area settlements, geological and biological aspects and the pioneer activities of William Richardson, John Reed and the Brione family. Class activities also include field trips, movies, slide presentations, and display of historical documents.

Druggists Offer Advice Against Poison Tragedy

Marin County druggists will give away one-ounce bottles of ipecac syrup next week as the Marin Pharmaceutical Assn. observes National Poison Prevention Week.

They also will be offering a set of common-sense tips about how to make homes safer from the danger of accidental poisoning.

Among those tips will be these:

1. Keep medicines out of the reach—and even out of the sight—of children, which means putting them back even if you have to leave the room for an instant. Same rule, say the druggists, applies to cleaning fluids and other household products.

2. Store internal medicines separately from other household products to avoid an easy error.

3. Keep products in their original containers, be sure they are properly labelled, and read the label before using. Cups and soft drink bottles mean food and drink to children.

4. Never give or take medicine in the dark. You may mistake one container for another.

5. Don't take medicines in front of children, lest they want to imitate you, and avoid calling medicines by made-up names so children will think they taste good. Use the real names, always.

6. Clean out your medicine cabinet regularly. Flush old medicines down the drain, wash out the containers and discard them.

Even the syrup, considered a good emetic, will carry a set of warnings.

If you get one of the bottles of ipecac, say the druggists, you should let your family doctor know you have it in the house.

Even in the event of an accidental poisoning, they say, you should not administer the syrup unless your doctor tells you to.

Finally—once more—keep it out of the reach of children.

Drunken Driving Fines Imposed

Milton Hendrix Jr., 42, Richmond, was fined $166 and placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol on March 6.

Josselyn William Hogue, 55, of 52 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Greenbrae, was fined $249 and placed on a year's probation, also for drunken driving. He was arrested Saturday by the patrol on Highway 101.

NOSE DOWN IN TROUBLE—Five high school students were on a joy ride in this car when it went off Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur and landed in the Larkspur Lumber Co. yard yesterday. Three of them suffered serious injuries.

Five Joy-Riding Students Wind Up In Wrecked Auto

Five Tamalpais High School students, four girls and one boy, took someone else's car for a joyride when they should have been in school yesterday and landed in more trouble than they could have imagined.

Particularly, they landed in the Larkspur Lumber Co. Yard at 11:30 a.m., the car nose down against a stack of lumber and three of the girls seriously injured.

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said the car, with an unlicensed, 15-year-old girl at the wheel, made a fast, sharp left turn from Doherty Drive onto Magnolia Avenue, then continued in an arc, skittered back across Magnolia, and plunged down a 15-foot embankment to the lumber yard below.

When police arrived, they found three injured girls. Barbara Morgan, 15, of House 130 and Patricia Young, 18, of 204 Drake Avenue, both Marin City, were slumped in the front seat of the car with the broken windshield. Deborah Turner, 15, of 55 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, was lying on the Magnolia Avenue sidewalk.

Clark said he later learned that two others had been in the back seat of the car with Miss Turner. After the crash, he said, they helped her up to Magnolia, where she slumped to the sidewalk, then ran. He said they were Charles Huff, 15, of 301 Drake Avenue, and Hattie Brooks, 15, of 11 Cole Drive, Marin City.

Miss Morgan, the driver, suffered a concussion, a broken rib, and a cut right knee. She was given emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital, then reportedly transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco. However, Kaiser Foundation reported today she had not been received at any of its hospitals.

Miss Turner and Miss Young were both in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. Miss Young, whose head broke the car windshield, has a severe cut on the forehead, a concussion, a broken left shoulder and a cut left leg. Miss Turner suffered a concussion and multiple bruises.

Miss Brooks, who ran away after the accident, walked into Marin General Hospital at 3:45 p.m. yesterday and received treatment for a bruised left arm and knee. Young Huff, her companion in flight, went to the Larkspur Police Station last night to report his complicity and leave his name and address, Chief Clark said.

Miss Morgan reportedly told police at the hospital that the youngsters had been riding around and had stopped at Redwood High School. They had just left Redwood and were heading back for their own high school when the accident happened, she said.

Miss Morgan said she stopped at the intersection of Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue. Then, she said, Miss Young, who wanted to beat traffic coming from the right, shouted "give it the gun!" She did so. The car spun in an uncontrolable arc and went off the road.

The auto, a 1961 Oldsmobile, is registered to Lily Mae Knott of 15 Cole Drive, Marin City. Miss Morgan said she had permission to borrow the car from her sister's boy friend and both she and Huff had keys to the vehicle. There was a key in the ignition, Chief Clark said.

However, Levester Kilgore, who works for Mill Valley Refuse Service, Inc., at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, called Larkspur police yesterday and reported the car stolen.

Kilgore, who gave no address, said he had left the car parked at the refuse company since Friday.

Cruiser, Auto Contents Stolen

Theft of a $500 radio-telephone from a 44-foot cabin cruiser moored in Shelter Bay at 633 Redwood Highway, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said the instrument was dismantled from the open cockpit of the boat, owned by James R. French of Atherton.

Commission Cancels

The scheduled workshop meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday night was cancelled because two commissioners—Robert H. Lee and William G. Fleckles—were absent. Commissioners were to have discussed the planned district zone, but those present did not want to proceed without a full commission.

In San Francisco County, monthly average temperatures vary only from 50 degrees to 62 degrees.

Bircher Tells Of Freedom Loss

Breakfast Club Hears How Reds Chipping Away

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Using two modern-day parables—one about seagulls, the other about hogs—a John Birch society official explained to a Marin County audience this morning how his group feels the international conspiracy of communism is chipping away at freedom in this country.

Robert Newell, Northern California coordinator for the society, spoke to the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club at the Meadows in Terra Linda.

Each of his parables had a Florida setting and the theme was largely the same: if any species of animal loses the initiative to work for its own survival, it loses its freedom.

The first, he said, was a true story. It dealt with the seagulls which once thrived off St. Augustine. The birds were long admired for their stubborn initiative until they found out they could live off the spoils thrown overboard by fishermen.

In the process, said Newell, the birds traded opportunuity and liberty for security. Then, when the fishing fleet moved on in search of better waters, the birds died out.

Wild hogs were the victims of the young Birch Society official's second story, laid in the Okefenokee Swamp.

In this tale, a stranger entered the swamp, scattered ears of corn and began building a low fence. As he built up their confidence, he slowly raised the fence and put on a gate. One day, the man slammed the gate and the hogs were his.

"Fellow hogs," said Newell as he came to the point, "we've been fenced."

From there, he went into biographies of two men: John Birch, "first casualty of the cold war" for whom the society is named, and its founder, candy manufacturer Robert Welch.

He described Birch's background as a top student in schools in Macon, Ga. and a Fort Worth, Tex. Baptist Bible college, then told how Birch became involved in World War II while in China, where he had gone as a missionary.

Birch met American fliers who bailed out over China after bombing Japan. He offered to help the Allied forces and was made intelligence liaison for the 14th Air Force, better known as the "Flying Tigers" in China. He was later termed the most important man in the Chinese theater of war, said Newell.

Ten days after the war's end, communists captured Birch, tied him to a stake and bayonetted him to death. His parents were told he had died but found themselves up against a well of State Department secrecy in learning the details of his death, according to the speaker.

Newell contended that it was only after former California Sen. William F. Knowland, then Senate majority leader, waged a vigorous fight to uncover the facts that Birch's parents learned how he died. This, he said, was five years later.

Turning to Welch's life story, Newell described the Birch Society leader as a brilliant man, versed in five languages, higher mathematics and history, who became so disgusted with "Felix Frankfurter's socialism" that he quit Harvard Law School in disgust.

Hearing about the Birch affair, Welch wrote a book about the martyred missionary. Later, he formed the society.

Newell said the society bases its beliefs on "four cornerstones," each of which its members sees as slipping away.

These are beliefs in God, in the U.S. Constitution, in private property, and in individual responsibility

Americans' religious faith, he said, provided a morality which made possible a system of credit to distribute the nation's wealth to most of its citizens.

The Constitution, he said, "differs from those of most other countries, or the charter of the United Nations," in specifying a limited form of government, not to be expanded without the express consent of the people.

Of the third cornerstone, Newell contended "freedom of speech or the press is impossible unless you secure your property rights."

The society, he insisted, is "not just anti-communist," but is devoted to promoting private enterprise and to "getting people off their duff" so they will take a more active part in the affairs of their country.

He said the Birch program is based on "four levels of action," which are the education of members and others about what they feel is happening in the country today; "going on the defensive" against the onset of socialism, and "positive programs" to counteract the spread of communism.

Newell did not spell out any of these programs, however.

In reply to questions by members, Newell disavowed any association with actor Ronald Reagan, now a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and said the society "is not a political organization" although members "work in both political parties."

He declined to give the number of Marin County members in the society, saying such figures are kept secret, but estimated there are 100,000 members in the nation.

Asked how many of those in Marin were Negroes, Jews or members of other minority groups, Newell insisted such persons do belong to the society.

He said Birchers are for civil rights, but deplore some of the things which have happened in the name of these rights and are convinced the Communists have stirred up many racial demonstrations.

"They are not going to accomplish anything in the streets," he said.

Finally, asked his reaction to charges the society is an extremist group, Newell said members do not see it that way.

Viewed from a political spectrum starting at "ground zero" —where people believe in no government at all—the group is "a middle of the road organization," he said.

Sausalito Library Changes Planned

The Sausalito Free Public Library is being re-organized to meet accepted national criteria, Mrs. Audrey Kay Berteau, head librarian, reported last night to the library board. She said she is devising procedural manuals to the Sausalito library will conform with other public libraries.

Mrs. Berteau also reported that she has prepared a list of about 35 persons who are delinquent in returning borrowed books, the list to be posted in the library.

Trustees discussed the 1966-67 budget and new by-laws but took no action, according to Mrs. James J. Carroll, board president.

The newspaper will be a "cooperative" venture, with a share of stock including a subscription.

High School Students Outdo Elders In College Studies

By STEPHEN COOK

Almost three-quarters of the Marin County high school seniors who enrolled in courses at College of Marin last semester received higher grades than their average college student classmates.

Statistics show that 30 per cent of the high school boys and girls received final grades of "A", 40 per cent "B" and 30 per cent "C".

The grades were no fluke, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students at the college.

High school students enrolling in the college's credit program for high school seniors since its inception in 1961 have consistently scored better than the average college student, he said.

Nor are the high school students mollycoddled by instructors at the college. "The boys and girls receive the same treatment as our regular college students. Most of the time the faculty doesn't even know they are high school youngsters," Diamond declared.

Diamond has an explanation. "To get into the program, the youngster must be a special student," he noted. The students, most of whom have completed their high school graduation requirements, must be recommended by their high school principals.

All are seniors and most are among the top students in their class. They have time for an elective course and find the high school does not offer what they want to take.

Diamond said the college gets two types of high school students: Those taking courses in their major interest area and those who want a head start on one of the college's special programs, such as the popular two-year data processing course.

The college recommends that the students only take one course a semester at the college, and most of them follow that suggestion. But some do not heed the advice and still prosper, Diamond said.

The dean cited the cases of three students who have been in the program. One girl had accumulated 24 college units before graduation from high school. Two other students had completed 15 units, the equivalent of one semester of college work.

"We expect these high school youngsters to do better than the average College of Marin student," Diamond said. "They are specially selected, they have good study habits, they take fewer courses, and they respond very well to the independence of college life."

The high school students favor no particular course at the college. The selections of the 51 youngsters under the program this semester range through the whole spectrum of courses offered at the college.

Many students who have taken all the mathematics courses offered by their high schools will take a college course in calculus, Diamond said. Others try to get such college required courses as English 1-A, American history, and political science out of the way.

Students under the program this semester include 14 from Tamalpais High School, 13 from Redwood, nine each from San Rafael and Terra Linda, and three each from Sir Francis Drake and Novato high schools.

The college watches the progress of the students throughout the semester, Diamond said.

"From time to time we run into some unable to adjust to what is expected of them in college life," he said. "We usually try to get them to drop the course if we see it coming in time."

All students, including the occasional few who fail, report their introduction to college life as worthwhile. In answering college questionnaires, most say, "I helped me become acquainted with the kind of course I will meet in college."

All students in the program claim their high school studies do not suffer because of it. At least a third have responded that their high school grades improved when they entered college, Diamond said.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE MARIN COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT
RESOLUTION NO. 8834
RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE MARIN COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT SPECIFYING ITS INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A REVISED PROJECT FOR FLOOD CONTROL ZONE NO. 9—ROSS VALLEY

WHEREAS, this Board of Supervisors has heretofore established Marin County Flood Control Zone No. 9, being a portion of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, and

WHEREAS, this Board has heretofore determined to undertake a project comprising the construction and improvement of Corte Madera Creek as specified in Resolution No. 8793, adopted January 11, 1966, and

WHEREAS, it now appears that the revision, by increasing the scope of said project, is necessary and useful in carrying out the purposes of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District Act, and

WHEREAS, this Board has received an engineering estimate of the cost of said project as revised and expanded:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED as follows:

1. This Board hereby specifies its intention to undertake a revised zone project for and on behalf of Flood Control Zone No. 9, which said project consists of the construction and improvement of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Channel within said Flood Control Zone No. 9 for the purposes hereinabove set forth.

2. It is hereby determined that said project, as revised, should be carried out, for the benefit of a single zone, to wit: Flood Control Zone No. 9, and that the cost thereof, other than reimbursable costs, shall be borne by said Flood Control Zone No. 9.

3. That certain map, dated March 8, 1966, and prepared by the Marin County Department of Public Works, which is on file with this Board of Supervisors, is hereby adopted as a map showing the general location and general construction of said revised project. The engineering estimate of the cost of said revised project is $2,450,000. However, the cost thereof, if any, to be borne by the Zone is minimal and cannot be ascertained with certainty since it is proposed that said project will be entirely financed by the United States of America and the State of California. Prior to imposition of any of said costs upon said Zone, a hearing will be conducted pursuant to Section 68-11 of the Water Code Appendix.

4. The 28th day of March, 1966, at 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the Supervisors' Chambers at the Civic Center, San Rafael, California, are hereby fixed as the time and place for a public hearing on this resolution.

5. Notice of said hearing shall be given by publication of the within resolution pursuant to Section 6066 of the Government Code, to wit: Publication once a week for two weeks with at least five days intervening between the respective publication dates, not counting such publication dates, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation circulated in said Flood Control Zone.

6. The Corte Madera Town Hall is hereby designated as the public place in said Flood Control Zone No. 9 where a copy of the aforementioned map of said project, as revised, may be seen by an interested person, and the Clerk of this Board is hereby directed to post a copy of said map in said above designated public place at least two weeks prior to the time fixed for said hearing.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District held on the 8th day of March, 1966, by the following vote:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Women More Likely To Encounter Trouble With Anemia Than Men

VAN DELLEN

Women are more likely than men to develop iron deficiency anemia for several reasons. The amount of iron lost during menstruation is approximately the same as that absorbed from food, assuming that she is on a reasonable diet. This balance is easily upset when the diet is iron deficient or menstruation is profuse. This explains why a woman, throughout her menstrual life, requires two to four times as much iron as does a man.

DURING PREGNANCY a woman also must provide considerable iron for her baby. It comes from extra amounts in the food even though menstruation has stopped. Meanwhile there is always a possibility of bleeding from other sources or that nausea and vomiting will lessen the dietary intake.

It is important for pregnant women to eat foods rich in this element because the iron passed on to the baby must last the tyke until solid foods are started. Both human and cow's milk are low in iron content and babies develop anemia after six months if they subsist on bottle or breast. Anemia will develop sooner if the mother's dietary iron was deficient during pregnancy. The baby stores most of its iron during the last few months and many premies are anemic because they were born before they obtained their full allotment.

WHEN TOO LITTLE iron is consumed, the body takes what it needs from its storage deposits. When these stores are depleted, the amount in the blood (hemoglobin) begins to fall. In other words, the blood count and hemoglobin do not drop until the reserves are exhausted.

Any iron preparation given in adequate doses will correct this type of anemia. Exceptions occur when it is not possible to correct the cause. The normal person absorbs from 5 to 10 per cent of iron from food or tablet, but the anemic person may absorb as much as 40 per cent.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS RASH

Mrs. F. F. writes: My doctor says the rash on my arm is caused by hostility or frustration. I thought I was mature emotionally. What would you suggest?

REPLY

The skin often mirrors the emotions, and if your eruption is on this basis, take stock of your life situation and see what changes can be made. There also is a possibility that the diagnosis is wrong, and a consultation is suggested if the rash fails to improve.

CLOT IN THE EYE

B. C. writes: I lost the vision in one eye quite suddenly. The doctor said it was a blood clot. Why does my eye keep getting bloodshot? Is there any treatment or medication for this?

REPLY

None to my knowledge, unless a remedial cause can be found. There is a difference between a blood clot in the retinal vessels and a red "bloodshot" eye.

BIG BOY NOW

Mrs. V. writes: Should a 5-year-old boy still be eating strained baby foods instead of regular meals?

REPLY

No. There is no harm in this practice, but don't you think he is getting a little old for this type of food?

CHICORY

B. G. writes: Coffee causes my heart to palpitate and I am thinking of switching to chicory. Does this

Shelley Urges Bay Government

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley called yesterday for a new form of government to handle area-wide problems for cities around the bay.

He asked the board of supervisors to endorse a limited government to control such things as air and water pollution and transportation. The endorsement would be sent to the Association of Bay Area Governments, a volunteer group.

The new government must be an elected body, Shelley declared, "on the basis of one man, one vote."

Braden Predicts Senate Scandal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publisher Thomas M. Braden, president of the State Board of Education and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, says a public scandal will erupt in the state Senate.

Braden said in a news release yesterday that Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has made large profits by trading in savings and loan association stocks.

And, concerning the senate, Braden said "the conflicts of interest which rage in that body will someday make a first-class public scandal."

Muir Woods Assn. To Discuss Zoning

Rezoning of undeveloped land in Muir Woods subdivisions, pipe line tract, Muir Woods terrace and Marin View acres to larger parcels will be discussed by Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. members at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse, Ridge Avenue off Panoramic Highway.

Rezoning is proposed to retain the open, uncongested feel of the area, according to Margaret Hardy, club member. Members are also to discuss clubhouse and grounds development, 1966 fund raising activities, and the Marin Assn. for planning.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

District s Levy Up To A Dozen 'Override' Taxes For Services

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The number of "override" taxes levied by school districts in Marin County ranges from one to 12.

"OVERRIDES" are the taxes a school district is permitted to levy on top of the "maximum" rate authorized by the electorate and the payment on bonded indebtedness (which, of course, has also been authorized by the voters). Twenty - seven such overrides are permitted by state law, but no one district can use all of them, as some are restricted to certain kinds of districts and others duplicte each other.

The Marin district which levies only one override is tiny Point Reyes School District, which operates a one-room elementary school. Point Reyes District levies six and one-half cents for education of the mentally retarded. It also has the lowest total tax rate of any school district in the county—68.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (This, of course, is for the elementary school only).

THE DISTRICT levying 12 kinds of overrides is Novato Unified School District. It should be noted, however, that the combined overrides of elementary and high school districts elsewhere in the county often total 12 or more. Novato is the only district operating both levels of schools.

Novato's 12 overrides are for teacher retirement (10.3 cents), retirement of other employees (6.8 cents), social security (3.9 cents), "community services" (7.5 cents), adult education (10 cents), education of mentally retarded (8.5 cents), education of handicapped (6.5 cents), alleged "excess cost" of junior high school (28.5 cents), public loan repayment (37.9 cents), state loan repayment (6.4 cents), education of physically handciapped (one cent), and Olive Avenue Assessment District (3.2 cents). These are all in addition to its general purpose tax rate of $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation, and bond redemption levy of 63 cents, producing a total tax rate for elementary and hikh schools of $5.275. Its overrides total $1.215.

Novato is one of four Marin County districts that have taken advantage of a 1964 lay that permits an additional levy for junior high schools without asking voter approval — one of the strangest of the 27 overrides permitted under state law. Reed Elementary District levies 38 cents this year for this purpose; San Rafael Elementary District 8.1 cents, and Sausalito Elementary District, 5 cents.

AMONG the county's elementary school districts, the top number of overrides is eight. Lagunitas, Larkspur, Reed, San Anselmo and San Rafael all have this many, but their total varies greatly, from 25 cents in San Rafael to 50.5 cents in Larkspur and 55.1 cents in Reed.

District-by-district, here are the numbers and totals of the override school taxes levied, all in excess of the "maximum" authorized by the voters and not including repayment of bond issues:

Elementary School Districts:

Bolinas-Stinson, five totaling 10 cents; Dixie, seven totaling 29 cents; Fairfax, seven totaling 24 cents; Kentfield, six, 41.5 cents; Laguna, two, 97 cents (this huge amount is because residents of this district pay a 91-cent tax for junior high school tuition in Petaluma); Lagunitas, eight, 44 cents; Lincoln, two, 8 cents; Mill Valley, seven, 38.5 cents; Nicasio, three, 10 cents; Point Reyes, one, 6.5 cents; Reed, eight, 55.1 cents; Ross, six, 17.5 cents; San Anselmo, eight, 28.5 cents; San Rafael, eight, 25 cents; Sausalito, six, 19 cents; Tomales Bay, five 14.5 cents; Union, three, 42.5 cents; West Marin, seven, 39 cents.

Unified District (includes elementary and high schools).

Novato, 12 totaling $1.215.

High School Districts:

San Rafael, six, 16.5 cents; Tamalpais, five, 13.5 cents; Tomales, five, 18.5 cents.

IN ALL the elementary school districts making up Tamalpais High School District, there is an additional 67-cent levy which the voters imposed on themselves indirectly. This is decreed by the state under the Unruh Education Act because unification of these districts with Tam High School District failed to pass in an election last year. Having collected the levy, the state then redistributes it among the districts to give adidtional money where voters favored unification. This is done under one of those complicated formulas so dear to state education officials.

There is also a county-wide school tax of nine cents for "equalization aid offset" and education of mentally retarded (for which latter purpose many of the districts also levy their own tax).

Switchboard To Expand In Sausalito

Completion of a building addition in Sausalito to house equipment for Southern Marin telephone service was announced today by Troy E. Lewis, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager.

The addition to the company's central office at 414 Turney Street is a one-story reinforced concrete structure which adds 3,000 square feet for installation of new telephone switching equipment.

When the overall $180,000 project is completed later this year, the added gear will provide service for some 1,000 new numbers and augment existing equipment to meet the increasing volume of telephone usage in Sausalito and Marin City.

Lewis said the front of the building addition is to be landscaped and that off-street employee parking is provided.

Building contractor was Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

Alameda is derived from Alamo . . . poplar or cottonwood. Alameda was first called Encinal . . . oak grove.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Women More Likely To Encounter Trouble With Anemia Than Men

VAN DELLEN

Women are more likely than men to develop iron deficiency anemia for several reasons. The amount of iron lost during menstruation is approximately the same as that absorbed from food, assuming that she is on a reasonable diet. This balance is easily upset when the diet is iron deficient or menstruation is profuse. This explains why a woman, throughout her menstrual life, requires two to four times as much iron as does a man.

DURING PREGNANCY a woman also must provide considerable iron for her baby. It comes from extra amounts in the food even though menstruation has stopped. Meanwhile there is always a possibility of bleeding from other sources or that nausea and vomiting will lessen the dietary intake.

It is important for pregnant women to eat foods rich in this element because the iron passed on to the baby must last the tyke until solid foods are started. Both human and cow's milk are low in iron content and babies develop anemia after six months if they subsist on bottle or breast. Anemia will develop sooner if the mother's dietary iron was deficient during pregnancy. The baby stores most of its iron during the last few months and many premies are anemic because they were born before they obtained their full allotment.

WHEN TOO LITTLE iron is consumed, the body takes what it needs from its storage deposits. When these stores are depleted, the amount in the blood (hemoglobin) begins to fall. In other words, the blood count and hemoglobin do not drop until the reserves are exhausted.

Any iron preparation given in adequate doses will correct this type of anemia. Exceptions occur when it is not possible to correct the cause. The normal person absorbs from 5 to 10 per cent of iron from food or tablet, but the anemic person may absorb as much as 40 per cent.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS RASH

Mrs. F. F. writes: My doctor says the rash on my arm is caused by hostility or frustration. I thought I was mature emotionally. What would you suggest?

REPLY

The skin often mirrors the emotions, and if your eruption is on this basis, take stock of your life situation and see what changes can be made. There also is a possibility that the diagnosis is wrong, and a consultation is suggested if the rash fails to improve.

CLOT IN THE EYE

B. C. writes: I lost the vision in one eye quite suddenly. The doctor said it was a blood clot. Why does my eye keep getting bloodshot? Is there any treatment or medication for this?

REPLY

None to my knowledge, unless a remedial cause can be found. There is a difference between a blood clot in the retinal vessels and a red "bloodshot" eye.

BIG BOY NOW

Mrs. V. writes: Should a 5-year-old boy still be eating strained baby foods instead of regular meals?

REPLY

No. There is no harm in this practice, but don't you think he is getting a little old for this type of food?

CHICORY

B. G. writes: Coffee causes my heart to palpitate and I am thinking of switching to chicory. Does this beverage contain caffeine?

REPLY

No.

Shelley Urges Bay Government

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John F. Shelley called yesterday for a new form of government to handle area-wide problems for cities around the bay.

He asked the board of supervisors to endorse a limited government to control such things as air and water pollution and transportation. The endorsement would be sent to the Association of Bay Area Governments, a volunteer group.

The new government must be an elected body, Shelley declared, "on the basis of one man, one vote."

Braden Predicts Senate Scandal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publisher Thomas M. Braden, president of the State Board of Education and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, says a public scandal will erupt in the state Senate.

Braden said in a news release yesterday that Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has made large profits by trading in savings and loan association stocks.

And, concerning the senate, Braden said "the conflicts of interest which rage in that body will someday make a first-class public scandal."

Muir Woods Assn. To Discuss Zoning

Rezoning of undeveloped land in Muir Woods subdivisions, pipe line tract, Muir Woods terrace and Marin View acres to larger parcels will be discussed by Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. members at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse, Ridge Avenue off Panoramic Highway.

Rezoning is proposed to retain the open, uncongested feel of the area, according to Margaret Hardy, club member. Members are also to discuss clubhouse and grounds development, 1966 fund raising activities, and the Marin Assn. for planning.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

District s Levy Up To A Dozen 'Override' Taxes For Services

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The number of "override" taxes levied by school districts in Marin County ranges from one to 12.

"OVERRIDES" are the taxes a school district is permitted to levy on top of the "maximum" rate authorized by the electorate and the payment on bonded indebtedness (which, of course, has also been authorized by the voters). Twenty - seven such overrides are permitted by state law, but no one district can use all of them, as some are restricted to certain kinds of districts and others duplicte each other.

The Marin district which levies only one override is tiny Point Reyes School District, which operates a one-room elementary school. Point Reyes District levies six and one-half cents for education of the mentally retarded. It also has the lowest total tax rate of any school district in the county—68.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (This, of course, is for the elementary school only).

THE DISTRICT levying 12 kinds of overrides is Novato Unified School District. It should be noted, however, that the combined overrides of elementary and high school districts elsewhere in the county often total 12 or more. Novato is the only district operating both levels of schools.

Novato's 12 overrides are for teacher retirement (10.3 cents), retirement of other employees (6.8 cents), social security (3.9 cents), "community services" (7.5 cents), adult education (10 cents), education of mentally retarded (8.5 cents), education of handicapped (6.5 cents), alleged "excess cost" of junior high school (28.5 cents), public loan repayment (37.9 cents), state loan repayment (6.4 cents), education of physically handciapped (one cent), and Olive Avenue Assessment District (3.2 cents). These are all in addition to its general purpose tax rate of $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation, and bond redemption levy of 63 cents, producing a total tax rate for elementary and hikh schools of $5.275. Its overrides total $1.215.

Novato is one of four Marin County districts that have taken advantage of a 1964 lay that permits an additional levy for junior high schools without asking voter approval — one of the strangest of the 27 overrides permitted under state law. Reed Elementary District levies 38 cents this year for this purpose; San Rafael Elementary District 8.1 cents, and Sausalito Elementary District, 5 cents.

AMONG the county's elementary school districts, the top number of overrides is eight. Lagunitas, Larkspur, Reed, San Anselmo and San Rafael all have this many, but their total varies greatly, from 25 cents in San Rafael to 50.5 cents in Larkspur and 55.1 cents in Reed.

District-by-district, here are the numbers and totals of the override school taxes levied, all in excess of the "maximum" authorized by the voters and not including repayment of bond issues:

Elementary School Districts:

Bolinas-Stinson, five totaling 10 cents; Dixie, seven totaling 29 cents; Fairfax, seven totaling 24 cents; Kentfield, six, 41.5 cents; Laguna, two, 97 cents (this huge amount is because residents of this district pay a 91-cent tax for junior high school tuition in Petaluma); Lagunitas, eight, 44 cents; Lincoln, two, 8 cents; Mill Valley, seven, 38.5 cents; Nicasio, three, 10 cents; Point Reyes, one, 6.5 cents; Reed, eight, 55.1 cents; Ross, six, 17.5 cents; San Anselmo, eight, 28.5 cents; San Rafael, eight, 25 cents; Sausalito, six, 19 cents; Tomales Bay, five 14.5 cents; Union, three, 42.5 cents; West Marin, seven, 39 cents.

Unified District (includes elementary and high schools).

Novato, 12 totaling $1.215.

High School Districts:

San Rafael, six, 16.5 cents; Tamalpais, five, 13.5 cents; Tomales, five, 18.5 cents.

IN ALL the elementary school districts making up Tamalpais High School District, there is an additional 67-cent levy which the voters imposed on themselves indirectly. This is decreed by the state under the Unruh Education Act because unification of these districts with Tam High School District failed to pass in an election last year. Having collected the levy, the state then redistributes it among the districts to give adidtional money where voters favored unification. This is done under one of those complicated formulas so dear to state education officials.

There is also a county-wide school tax of nine cents for "equalization aid offset" and education of mentally retarded (for which latter purpose many of the districts also levy their own tax).

Switchboard To Expand In Sausalito

Completion of a building addition in Sausalito to house equipment for Southern Marin telephone service was announced today by Troy E. Lewis, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager.

The addition to the company's central office at 414 Turney Street is a one-story reinforced concrete structure which adds 3,000 square feet for installation of new telephone switching equipment.

When the overall $180,000 project is completed later this year, the added gear will provide service for some 1,000 new numbers and augment existing equipment to meet the increasing volume of telephone usage in Sausalito and Marin City.

Lewis said the front of the building addition is to be landscaped and that off-street employee parking is provided.

Building contractor was Olsen Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

Alameda is derived from Alamo . . . poplar or cottonwood. Alameda was first called Encinal . . . oak grove.

Schools Hit By Vandals, Burglars

Three Marin County schools were victims of burglaries or vandalism during the past few contest in Point Reyes Station. yesterday.

Mrs. Antonette Richtman, secretary at Bel Aire School in Reed School District, told deputies that juveniles climbed atop the school's auditorium and broke out $800 worth of skylight windows.

The vandals also filled a plumbing vent with rocks, and dropped other rocks through the broken skylights onto the auditorium stage below, officers said.

John Guendner, custodian at Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield, reported burglars pried open and disassembled a window of the library, then took about $20 cash from the library clerk's desk and stole two dissecting kits from the science department.

Burglars smashed a door window of the Marin County Child Care Center at Manzanita School, Marin City, and scattered food and school supplies within.

Hub Police Say Suspect Tells Of Burglaries

Carl P. Umland III, 18, a transient arrested Friday for car theft by San Rafael police Tuesday admitted two thefts in San Anselmo, according to San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

The chief said Umland admitted taking a rope, compass, blanket and bilge pump from a boat stored at the Signal service station at 717 San Anselmo Avenue on March 2. The only property owners Mr. and Mrs. Frank Danis of 2360 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, were able to recover from the youth was the blanket, the chief said.

Umland also allegedly admitted taking a battery from the car of Evelyn Siegne at 1556 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo. The chief said the battery was recovered from a 1962 Thunderbird the youth allegedly stole from Paragon Motors, 1532 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Buchignani said the youth will be tried in juvenile court.

Clay Faces Draft Board: Rifle Or Mop?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay may learn today whether he will spend the next two years in the Army or as an orderly in a mental institution.

Clay was to appear before his Louisville draft board to appeal his recent reclassification from 1-Y to 1-A. He was classified 1-Y when he twice failed Army intelligence tests.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of Clay's draft board, said he understood the champion would attempt to stay out of the Army by claiming to be a conscientious objector or on a dependency claim.

"Under Selective Service law if we rule that Clay is a conscientious objector then he will spend the two years working at a nonprofit civilian project in the state," Sherman said.

"The ones we have had in the past from Louisville have served as orderlies for the Central State Mental Hospital," he said. Sherman said some are also sent to the home for mentally retarded children in Frankfort.

As for the dependency clause, Sherman said he understood Clay would claim he was the sole support of his mother and also had to pay off $177,000 in alimony payments to his ex-wife Sonji.

"I am sure that alimony wouldn't come under the dependency clause," Sherman said.

If Clay's request is turned down by the local draft board he can take it to an appeal board.

When Clay said "I ain't got no quarrel with them Viet Congs" after being notified of his reclassification he set off a flap heard round the world.

Last month Clay was to defend his title against Ernie Terrell in Chicago March 29.

At the present Clay is going to fight George Chuvalo at Toronto, Canada. Only the date is the same—this far.

In the first game of his three-game series Foe rolled 11 straight strikes, but left the nine pin standing on his 12th ball for a 299 game.

Lanier New 'Boom-Boom' Boy In Giant Arsenal

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

Patrick O'Connor Saves The Day–Ex-Irish Champion Here

O'BOY, O'BOY!—Just look at the sports headlines today! A shame, it is. Not a good Irishman in the lot. Somehow Cassius O'Clay, Sandy O'Koufax and Jack O'Nicklaus just don't sound right.

'Tis a shame. A fine newspaper like ye olde I-O'J today should be greener than an inexperienced caddy, but, o'hell, I can't even find a bragh in the lengerie ads. The theater page at least could have advertised "Inside Daisy Shamrock" just for today.

We sons o' Ireland turned 18 shades of green yesterday when we turned to the I-J Food Page, there to find a recipe for Cannelloni!

MY ST. PATRICK's Day was on the verge of ruination until Mr. James J. Kean, our fine photographer, jigged into the office bright and early today with a photograph of Patrick O'Connor.

I didn't care if Mr. O'Connor were a ballet dancer, I had to have an Irish face on today's sports page and his was it.

AH, SUCH a fine name. And that face! Why it's the map of Ireland. Those eyes are Belfast. Sparkling. The nose is County Cork. The mouth? Blarney! And yes, Patrick, the chin's Dublin.

My St. Patrick's Day became even finer when I learned that Mr. O'Connor of 38 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo is a gardener. Ah, the greenery!

AND THE day became complete when I further discovered that Patrick O'Connor was middle and light-heavyweight boxing champion of Ireland back in the 1940's.

I checked old newspaper clippings to learn that O'Connor fought professionally for 12 years, retiring in 1950. Although Patrick himself can't remember his total record, clippings show he won 18 straight fights in the United States.

I TRIED to interview him this morning, but couldn't decipher the brogue and wound up with a notebook full of hash. (Corned beef hash.) But, ah, that thick brogue was music to my ears. What I did learn (I think) is that Patrick, now 45 years of age, is a native of County Cork and that his wife, Ann, also is a native of Ireland. Patrick came to Marin County in 1950 and his wife came here in 1960.

I wish the O'Connors a very happy St. Patrick's Day. Here I was wrestling around with Clay and Koufax and Mays and Cepeda. Not an Irishman in the lot when suddenly up pops a local angle with the name of Patrick O'Connor, ex-champ of Ireland, living right here in Marin.

I'll be a son of o'gun.

Sandy, Don In Tour To Japan?

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Pitchers Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax who have joined forces in holding out for $500,000 on three-year contracts from the Los Angeles Dodgers may make a movie and may tour Japan—for money—if their demands are not met.

Their agent, attorney J. William Hayes, said they will meet with Paramount movie officials today to discuss playing featured roles in the movie, "Warning Shot," starring David Janssen.

A Paramount publicity man said yesterday they had already signed movie contracts but this was denied by Hayes.

The so-called final offer to the dynamic duo by Dodger general manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi was $95,000 to Drysdale for the 1966 season and $105,000 to Koufax, according to Hayes.

In connection with the Japan junket on which they would exhibit their pitching wares, Hayes said it would last 30 to 60 days and would bring them American dollars "in six figures."

Bavasi has expressed resentment that Koufax and Drysdale who won 49 games last season hired an attorney to negotiate for them and would not talk to him without Hayes on hand.

Koufax, however, told Herald-Examiner sports editor Bud Furillo yesterday:

"I am willing to talk to Buzzie without Bill Hayes being present, but I feel that Don should be there.

"People have been playing Don and me against one another for years, comparing us and what have you. We are not competing. We're on the same team. People don't seem to understand that."

Koufax also said, "I'm sure that on certain things we can negotiate. Of course, it's possible, but nobody has offered to sit down and talk, so I don't know. We're not mad at Buzzie and I don't believe Buzzie is mad at us. This is a business deal. I hope it works out. If it doesn't, and I need a couple of tickets to a Dodger game this summer, I might even call Buzzie and ask for them."

Independent-Journal Sports Gives Bat Coach A Birthday Gift

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP) — San Francisco Giants' second baseman Hal Lanier presented his batting coach, Hank Sauer, a birthday present a day early.

Sauer wasn't 50 until today but his efforts in helping Lanier with the bat were rewarded yesterday when the lanky young infielder belted an inside-the-park homer and two singles.

The homer came off the Los Angeles Angels' right - handed ace Dean Cahnce and started the Giants toward a 7-3 victory, their fifth without defeat in Cactus League exhibition play. Hal hadn't homered since 1964.

Lanier singled in runs off Dick Egan in both the fifth and seventh frames.

A great fielder, Hal hit just .226 last year following a .274 production after joining the club in mid-1964.

So Sauer was given the job of helping the 6-foot-2 infielder. Sauer, a big guy who won the National League's most valuable player award with Chicago in 1952 and later wound up his career with the Giants, has proved a good tutor.

"He showed me how to get more whip into the bat and how to time inside pitches so I can swing at them and not be all tied up," says the son of the former major league pitcher, Max Lanier.

Sauer was as happy with the production yesterday as Lanier and commented, "I think we're accomplishing something. The main thing was to coordinate the bat and the feet. Last year he was jerking the bat and his head went with it. You can't watch the ball that way."

Lanier explained that he now was trying to time the pitches and watches the hurler long before his time to come to bat.

"I don't think I'll get fooled as much as I did before," he added.

Even though he's played only one full season of major league baseball, Lanier is the infield captain of the Giants, a title bestowed by Willie Mays who appreciates fielding prowess.

Afield, there also have been changes. Lanier decided he'd have a better chance positioning himself a couple of steps in when there's a runner on first base.

"That gives me a better chance for a double play," he explains. "But basically this spring, I'm trying to improve my hitting."

The Angels scored three runs in the first inning yesterday helped by three San Francisco errors, two by Orlando Cepeda who is trying to become accustomed to playing left field. Then came the comback as Mays, Tito Fuentes and Cepeda knocked in runs after Lanier's homer broke the ice.

Right-hander Bill Wade, slated for pitching duty in the Pacific Coast League, helped his own cause twice—first when he retired the side after loading the bases in the fourth and again with a sacrifice bunt that set up the third San Francisco run.

Warriors Await Word On Vitally Important Protest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"It's vitally important," says San Francisco Warrior Coach Alex Hannum, "that the players believe as I do—that this game was no contest — it was never played."

More than this, Hannum wants his players to believe they are still in the race for third place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

He hopes for a double victory today—a victory over the third-place St. Louis Hawks tonight at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium preceded by the league office's allowing his protest of Tuesday's game.

The Warriors have asked NBA Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy to make an early decision on the protest—possibly before tonight's final game of the season against the Hawks.

In the disputed contest at San Jose, Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco got into a brief shoving match in the third quarter that resulted in a double foul.

Referee Norm Drucker awarded each player a foul shot. Beaty made his and Thurmond missed. The Hawks went on to win 110-109.

The victory gave St. Louis a 34-41 record while the fourth-place Warriors sank to 33-44. There are 80 games in the regular season.

Hannum brought out the rule book yesterday at a news conference, citing Rule 12, Section 11 on Page 42, "On all double fouls, a personal foul is charged to each player but no foul tries are attempted."

Hannum would prefer to have the game declared a tie so that a five-minute overtime could be played before tonight's game. Other alternatives suggested by Hannum were resuming the game at the time of the foul or replaying it entirely.

Rochester and Philadelphia replayed an entire game several years ago after the only allowed protest in the 20-year history of the NBA.

Warriors owner Franklin Mieuli has sent a telegram to NBA headquarters in New York followed by the required letter and $200 check, which must be forfeited if the protest is turned down. Once the protest is made, the league office has five days to reach a decision.

"There is absolutely no question as to the decision," said Hannum. "The only question is when the decision will be made."

Just to make sure NBA authorities knew he was serious, Hannum phoned Kennedy in Connecticut and then supervising official Sid Borgia in New York after the game Tuesday—at 3 a.m. Eastern Time.

Hannum also informed the two game officials of his protest and read the rule to them. He had the official scorer make a notation at the time of the incident. And the Warriors also have a movie of the entire contest, in case the commissioner should want more evidence.

PREP TRACK AND FIELD

San Rafael Sweeps All Three Classes

San Rafael swept all three divisions in a practice track and field meet with Ukiah yesterday at San Rafael, but two other Marin County high schools didn't fare too well on the cinders.

Novato lost all three divisions to Santa Rosa High and Marin Catholic had little success in a four-way meet at Sebastopol.

San Rafael's Class A team was led by double-winners Bob McLennan and Jeff Chan in downing Ukiah, 66-33. McLennan won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.9 seconds and the 440 in 56.9; sprinter Chan copped the 100 in 10.4 and the 220 in 23 flat.

Other Bulldog winners were Ragnar Fanning, two mile, 10:47; Joe Barni, mile, 5:15. John Balzan, high jump, 5-10; and Randy Swanson, broad jump, 18-7.

San Rafael won Class B, 57½ to 54½ behind Herb Rowland's three victories in the 100 at 11 seconds, 120 low hurdles, 14.4, and broad jump, 18-3. Ken Johnson won a pair for the Bullpups: 70 H.H., 10.6, and shot put, 39-9.

In Class C, it was San Rafael 43, Ukiah 30. San Rafael's Steve Bariski was a triple winner: 660, 1:34.8; 220, 25.0; high jump, 5-3.

SANTA ROSA beat Novato 74½-47½ in Class A, 43-34 in Class B and 79-34 in Class C.

Novato's varsity winners were Bruce Palmer, high jump, 5-9½; Clint Harless, mile, 4:59.4; Denny Goedel, broad jump, 19-6; and Walton Daren, two mile, 10:26.5.

MARIN CATHOLIC varsity had three individual stars at Sebastopol: Ollie Logomarsino who won the half mile in 2:08.3 and quarter mile in 55 seconds flat; Gary Wittenmeier who took the discus at 135-9 and Greg Ball who won the mile in 5:04.

The final team scores: Class A—Analy 71, El Molino 61, Marin 60, Calistoga 19; Class B—Analy 80, Marin 39, Calistoga 38, El Molino 33; Class C—Analy 71, Calistoga 41, El Molino 21, Marin 13.

Laver Paces Aussies To Pro Net Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Australian pro tennis stars have scored an 8-4 victory over the United States team in challenge cup play.

Four straight wins clinched the title for the visitors last night before 4,926 fans at the Sports Arena.

Rod Laver, the world's top-ranked pro, took just 29 minutes to overwhelm Butch Buchholz, 10-1, in the opening pro-set singles match. Australian Mal Anderson then downed Pancho Segura, 10-5.

The doubles team of Anderson and Laver assured the Aussies of the title by outlasting Buchholz and U.S. team captain Pancho Gonzales, 14-12. And Australian captain Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad completed the sweep with a 10-5 triumph over Segura and Alex Olmedo.

Dodgers, Twins Big Flops In Spring; Both Winless

Independent Journal Sports

36 Thurs., March 17, 1966

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's October in March.

Turn the Grapefruit League standings upside down and you've got the World Series all over again.

Pennant winners in 1965, the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Dodgers are learning how the other half lives this spring. Their combined record is a less than championship 0-11 pace.

The American League champion Twins dropped their seventh straight yesterday, bowing 2-1 to baseball's specialists in losing, the New York Mets.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers continued to show how easy it'll be to defend their world title without holdouts Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale by taking a 9-0 thumping from the New York Yankees for their fourth straight setback.

The only other winless team is Washington, which dropped its fifth straight 6-2 against the Braves. Boston and the Chicago Cubs managed their first victories, the Red Sox clipping Philadelphia 5-3 and the Cubs downing Cleveland 3-1.

In other games, San Francisco whipped the California Angels 7-3, the Chicago White Sox thumped Cincinnati 10-4, St. Louis downed Detroit 4-2 and Kansas City whacked Pittsburgh 12-5.

Eddie Bressoud, an American League refugee, drove home the winning run for the Mets with a 10th inning single against the Twins. Chuck Hiller started the winning rally with a single and moved up on an infield out before scoring on Bressoud's hit.

Johnny Lewis homered for New York and Tony Oliva, making his first appearance of the spring after ending his holdout, drove in Minnesota's only run with a seventh inning single.

The Yankees pounded five Dodger pitchers — none of them named Koufax or Drysdale — for 13 hits in running up their victory over the world champs.

Clete Boyer led the Yanks' attack with two singles and double while veterans Whitey Ford, Bill Stafford and Steve Hamilton limited the Dodgers to five singles.

Rookie catcher Glen Clark drove in three runs as the Braves handed Washington its fifth straight setack. Tom Cheney, attempting a comeback, hurled two scoreless innings for the Senators.

Boston ended a six-game losing string by beating Philadelphia with ex-Phil Dennis Bennett getting credit for the victory. Jim Bunning struck out seven in his five-innings but took the loss. Johnny Herrnstein rifled a two-run homer for the Phillies.

The Cubs got off a five-game slump with rookie outfielder Byron Browne pounding a 400-foot home run in the ninth inning that beat Cleveland. Browne had tripled and scored Chicago's first run in the first inning.

Outfielder Ken Berry snapped an 0-for-17 slump with a double and a triple that drove in three runs as the White Sox ripped Cincinnati. Rookie Dennis Higgins, bidding for a spot on Chicago's pitching staff, worked three hitless innings and has allowed only one hit in three spring appearances.

Rookie first baseman George Kernek walloped a three-run homer that lifted the Cardinals past Detroit. Norm Cash accounted for both Tiger runs with a two-run shot.

Stanford's Soph Ace On All-League

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Southern California center John Block and Oregon guard Jim Barnett are the only unanimous choices for the all Pacific Coast basketball team announced today.

The team was picked by the conference coaches and also included Charlie White of Oregon State, Mike Lynn of UCLA, and Art Harris of Stanford.

Lynn is a junior, Harris is a soph, and the other three are seniors.

Named to the second team were Bob Bedell of Stanford with a tie for the other forward post between Loy Peterson of Oregon State and Kenny Washington of UCLA. Jim McKean of Washington State, Mike Warren of UCLA, and Russ Critchfield of California round out the second team.

Honorable mention: Edgar Lacey of UCLA, Dave Hovde and Gordon Harris of Washington, Ed Fredenberg and Scott Eaton of Oregon State, Ray Kosanke of Stanford, and Harvey Dillon of USC.

Nicklaus Choice In Juicy Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus insists he doesn't expect to be "real sharp" until time to defend his Masters title, but it appears his golf game is coming along faster than he realizes.

Although making only his third tournament appearance of the year, Nicklaus has been installed as the favorite in the brand new $110,000 Florida Citrus Open which begins today.

The Citrus Open is the richest and most star-studded tournament so far this year and pairs off the "big three"—Nicklaus, top 1966 money winner Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open champion Gary Player—for the first time since last August.

The list of entries reads like "Who's Who" of professional golf, with only two of the year's top 50 players—Billy Casper and Paul Harney—among the missing. But Nicklaus was favored to win the $22,000 first prize on the basis of his final three rounds in the Doral Open last week and his record-breaking performance in yesterday's pro-am here.

3 Lotus Cars In Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Colin Chapman of London, builder of the world champion Lotus race car, entered three autos today for the 50th Indianapolis 500-mile race May 30.

The entries did not end speculation whether Jim Clark of Scotland would be back in a Lotus-Ford to defend the Indianapolis crown he won last year. The Ford Motor Co. has not given any indication of renewing its contract with Chapman, but its special racing engine is available to him.

The entries, forwarded through the Royal Automobile Club of London in the international manner, said only that information concerning drivers and engines would be provided when the team reaches Indianapolis.

Chapman did say Dave Lazenby again will be chief mechanic for the team.

Clark ran off with last year's race, and his teammate, rookie Bobby Johns of Miami, finished seventh. Clark finished second in 1963 and won the pole position in 1964 before tire failure caused his suspension to collapse.

The three Chapman entries increased the field to 22 cars, with about 50 more expected before the April 15 deadline. They will be reduced to 33 starters in time trials.

The FISHIN' FOOL

STEVENS

Generally speaking, the local fishing picture continues to brighten. The take of salmon outside the Golden Gate for the past few days has been very good. Perhaps the fastest locale has been the Point Reyes area, with fair to good results being had by the Farallones; best news for most skippers as well as their passengers, is that a fairish run of salmon invaded the Light Ship area.

Boats out of Berkeley Harbor, Sausalito Boat and Tackle, and Caruso's popular spot at Sausalito have been having a field day, with many of them filling out limits and heading for their home port early.

BETTY URBAISE of Sausalito Boat and Tackle phoned to report weekend results very good for the deep sea rock fishermen with the Blue Horizon boating 560 rockfish for 28 rods working, and 31 lings to 28 pounds — "Most of the rockfish were Red Snappers," reported Betty. The take of salmon was probably a bit better on Saturday, but everybody seems well content for their share of the booty. On Sunday, boats New Merrimac, The Blue Horizon and the Chief netted something over 80 salmon, all of good size—8 to 18 pounds.

Joe Wun of the Castro Valley Sports Center had himself a real fun day with Jack Duball, aboard Duball's cabin cruiser, when he limited out with salmon to 14 pounds in the Point Reyes area. Both Joe and Jack released several salmon, kept legal limits and headed for the barn by 10:30 a.m. Joe used a silver Andy Reeker No. 5.

APPARENTLY striper striving in the San Pablo Bay and in the Pump House area has been good to anglers from China Camp to Crockett. Talking to Henry (Hank) Dowrelio Tuesday morning I learned that the party boat, Dowrelio No. 5, took limits of stripers in the Pump House sector on Sunday and repeated the stunt on Monday. Asked what bait was used, Hank said, "Bullheads and grass shrimp, Steve." Fish taken were of good size, around 12 to 14 pounds. Some flounders were taken in the same Pump House area, but very few sturgeon. Many of the stripers came in on shrimp baits.

EVEN THE back country seems to have come to life. Mrs. Louie Patrick of Patricks Three-Mile Slough spot reported one boat taking two limits of catfish, and one steelhead, at the mouth of Three-mile slough. Gene Hagler landed a 42-inch sturgeon, and a private boat out of Patrick's hooked three legal sized surgeons, but lost two of them.

The lads and lassies who went north to Lake Shasta sure had themselves some wild and wooly fishing. Brown trout to six and eight pounds have been taken and black bass seem to be scattered all over the lake. Best bet on lures is Hulu Poppers, and live minnows run a close second.

UNPACKING JOB — Maury Wills, Los Angeles Dodger captain and shortstop, unpacks his uniform at Vero Beach, Fla., after ending his holdout. Although Wills signed his 1966 contract for an estimated $75,000, Dodger pitching stars Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are still holding out. (UPI Telephoto)

Baseball's Reserve Clause Explained

By MIKE RATHET

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — What can Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati's Jim Maloney do if contract negotiations remain at their current impasse?

Quit.

They can go to work in another industry or they can retire, but they cannot in any way get another job in what is termed organized baseball — the major leagues, the minor leagues or any other parties to their various rules and agreements.

Koufax and Drysdale, as well as Maloney, and other holdouts such as Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw of San Francisco, are bound to the clubs they played for last year by baseball contract, which contains the unique, much-discussed and highly controversial reserve clause.

Under the reserve clause, each player becomes the property of the team he signs with until that team relinquishes rights to him, either by trading him or giving him his release.

If the team does not wish to let the player go, the player must sign with that club in order to play organized baseball. He has no other recourse.

The reserve clause is one of Wisconsin's key exhibits in the trial now going on in Milwaukee with the state trying to prove baseball violates anti-trust statutes.

In other sports, the player's contract differs in this key aspect. Pro football for example has a contract with an option clause. Under that clause, when a player signs, he signs for one year with an option for another year's renewal.

If a player does not want to continue playing for his present club he can "play out his option" in the second year of his contract by not signing another pact. He then becomes a free agent and can sign with any club he wishes, even one in the same league.

That can't be done in baseball.

So when Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi says he will not contact Koufax and Drysdale and tells Manager Walter Alston to plan on playing without them, then Koufax and Drysdale face the prospect of not playing baseball in the United States this season unless they give in.

And when Maloney says the Reds have told him to have "a nice summer in Fresno" it's highly likely Maloney will wind up in the same situation as the other two pitching stars if conciliatory moves are not made by one side or the other.

That's the way the game is played.

California's Growing Waterfowl Problem

By JERRY HARRELL

SACRAMENTO (AP)—It isn't hard to get agreement among such diverse groups as hunters and birdwatchers that something must be done to save what's left of California's waterfowl habitat.

But trying to find agreement on how to do it is about as easy as locating a specific anchovy in the Atlantic.

Most of the state's great central valleys once consisted of permanent or seasonal wetlands, natural living quarters and feeding grounds for the million of ducks and geese that migrate to California each year.

But the available wetland has dwindled from 3½ million acres to less than 500,000 and still more shrinkage is taking place almost daily.

And without the wetlands, there will be no ducks and geese.

"Birds, fish and all animals, like man, must have a suitable environment to live in," noted Walter T. Shannon, state fish and game director.

"Without it, they die."

State fish and game officials, backed by private consultants, have outlined an eight-point program in the California Fish and Wildlife Plan to save the wetlands.

The plan includes several highly controversial proposals—like making cheap publicly developed water available for private duck clubs, which provide nearly half the available wetlands in the state. Another proposal is a system of leases and easements for private land to assure that existing private wetlands are maintained.

Still another urges wetlands conservation programs much like existing schemes which offer incentives or subsidies for conserving soil or developing farm ponds.

The remainder, less controversial, center on accelerated state, federal and joint acquisition of wetlands and damage payments for habitat lost to water developments.

"It is easy to prescribe government acquisition of wetlands as a solution to the problem," the proposed master plan noted. "Necessary as this may be . . . it alone is not enough."

The idea of cheap water for private clubs — traditionally the hunting grounds of the rich—ran into trouble at the first legislative hearing on the plan.

Chairman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, of the Assembly Conservation and Wildlife Committee warned that complex contract problems would arise for the water, and that strong opposition to "subsidized" private preserves was certain.

Robert L. Jones, deputy director of fish and game, answered that, "each of these duck clubs plays an important role in keeping these vital areas in marshland."

"We feel that there should be some assistance by the government," he said, noting waterfowl that rest on private land also fly out to other areas.

California is the wintering ground for 51 to 70 per cent of all waterfowl on the Pacific Flyway, in recent years about 8 million ducks and geese, but in bumper years as high as 15 million.

The numbers vary with conditions on the Alaskan and Canadian breeding grounds, which have had drought in recent years.

The wildlife planners noted that water development in Mexico is producing good conditions for waterfowl there.

"It is quite possible that highly mobile species like waterfowl could desert California for suitable habitat in other areas," they warned.

19 U.S. Cities To Carry Clay On TV; None In S.F.

NEW YORK (AP) — Theaters and arenas in 19 U.S. cites are lined up to carry the closed-circuit telecast of the Cassius Clay-George Chuvalo heavyweight title fight, it was announced yesterday.

Michael Malitz of Main Bout, Inc., the group which controls ancillary rights to the March 29 match in Toronto, said it would be beamed to the following cities:

New York; Washington; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Buffalo; Cleveland; Akron, Ohio; Chicago; Houston; Fort Worth, Tex.; San Antonio, Tex.; Louisville, Ky.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Albuquerque, N.Mex.; Los Angeles and Cherry Hill, N.J.

Malitz said the telecast also will be seen in about a dozen Canadian cities and estimated that eventually there will be 40 or 45 outlets in some 35 cities in the United States and Canada.

The fight, originally set between Clay and Ernie Terrell, initially was expected to be telecast to about 225 locations in 130 cities.

Boreal Ridge Ski Area Is Great; Terra Linda Group Tries Again

It's hard to keep a secret, when a couple of thousand other people know about it, so here goes: Boreal Ridge is great! Even though we'd like to keep it undiscovered and avoid the crowds, it's only fair to report that the Sierra's newest and most convenient ski area is attractive, well run, and has a good intermediate hill with many different ways to come down.

On Sunday, in spite of what seemed to be hundreds of junior racers in helmets and team sweaters, Boreal had a very short wait in the chair lift line. There are also three double T-bars and several poma lifts and rope tows.

THE DAY LODGE is particularly pleasant, with a big sundeck for lunch and non-skiers, food and refreshments inside, and an elegant carpeted floor.

Children have their own snowplay area, for flying saucers and inner-tube sliding.

Boreal Ridge is at Donner Summit on the new Interstate 80 road, just off the freeway at Castle Peak interchange. You can see the sign from the highway. There's a big paved parking lot and the ski area is just a short walk away.

WE SAW EVERYONE from grandmothers enjoying the sun on the deck to tiny tots just rolling in the snow. It is a great place for families, because the action funnels down the mountain in front of the lodge and it's like a continuous floor show.

There was lots of action at Boreal on the weekend. More than 150 youngsters aged 8 to 16 were in the Junior Qualifying Race on Sunday, with two courses being used simultaneously. Babs Fisher and the committee figured out the results in jig time, and the winners proudly received their handsome gold cups at 3 p.m.

THE PACIFIC Coast Intercollegiate Ski Championships were also going on at the 30-meter jumping hill at Boreal. We followed a trail across the ridge and came out at the top of the jump hill.

A man asked if we'd like to try it. Wow! Straight down for what looked like the height of a six-story building. No thanks—we'll break trail through the trees.

Squaw Valley was nice on Saturday, but the weather surprised almost everyone. Looked like sunny warm spring skiing in the morning, but on top of the mountain, the wind was blowing and it was cold.

HOWEVER, THAT didn't stop Dr. Benton Mathews and his wife, Sally, and their boys, Joe and Bill, from Belvedere. They and Knut Wibroe and daughter Susie from Sausalito, enjoyed the Shirley Lakes run.

Sandi Massen from Fairfax skied Squaw while husband Charlies inspected the Marin Boy Scout Camp.

Norman and Louise Ginsberg from Fairfax brought their children, Lori and Michael, up to Donner Ski Area, and they all stayed at Marin Ski Club.

THE TERRA LINDA group is going to try it again this weekend. Their previous trip was cancelled at the last minute, when most of those signed up same down with the flu. Harry Schrauth, acting director of the Terra Linda Park and Recreation Center, is in charge, assisted by Bill and Pat Mann.

New Date For Liberty Bowl?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The 1966 Liberty Bowl game probably will be played on Dec. 10, a week earlier than last year's game, Bud Dudley, promoter of the post-season football attraction, said yesterday.

The earlier date would avoid a television conflict with the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston but would conflict with the small-college playoff games. The new date would have to be approved by the extra events committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Here Are Deductions For Auto Expenses

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Automobile exenses are deductible. Here are the rules:

If you are in business and your auto is used exclusively for business purposes, the cost of its operation is allowable as a deduction in Schedule C, Form 1040.

P. J. Wikel

If you are an employee and are required to use your car entirely in your work, you may deduct the entire cost of its operation. Such expenses include the cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, garage rent, insurance, depreciation, interest on the purchase of the car, taxes, licenses, etc.

If both personal and business use is made of your auto, you must divide your expenses between business travel and personal travel. Suppose you are a salesman and drive your car 20,000 miles during the year, 8,000 miles for business travel and 12,000 miles for personal. Only 8,000/20,000 or 40 per cent of the total cost of operating your car may be claimed as a business or employment expense.

Under Revenue Procedure 64-10, you are no longer required to keep detailed records of your automobile expenses. Just keep a record of the business use of the car. You can deduct a standard mileage rate of 10¢ per mile for the first 15,000 miles and seven cents per mile for miles over 15,000 miles in each year.

The miles must be for business use and you must have a record of them.

Also under Revenue Procedure 64-15, you can deduct a standard mileage rate of five cents per mile for the use of your car to secure medical care, or for charitable contributions, where automobile expense qualifies as deductible as a medical expense or as a charitable contribution.

These standard mileage rates are in lieu of all other deductions for automobile costs or expense in connection with business use, or medical expense use, or a charitable contribution use of the car. However, you can also deduct parking fees, bridge tolls, etc.

Certain non-business auto expenses are deductible if you itemize your deductions on Page 2, Form 1040, even though you use your automobile entirely for personal purposes.

These expenses include: Gasoline taxes — California seven cent per gallon, except it was eight cents from March 1 to Sept. 1, 1965; state and local sales taxes; interest on auto loans; casualty and theft losses not compensated for by insurance or otherwise over $100.

Caution. If you have used your car partly for business and partly for personal travel, and if you itemize your deductions, be sure that you list on Page 2 of your return only that part of the interest, taxes, etc., which were not claimed as a part of traveling or transportation expense elsewhere on your return. An expense may be deducted only once.

Car pools. The cost of repairs, gas and similar items in connection with an automobile used in a car pool to and from work is a personal expense and is not deductible. Amounts received from the passengers for such services are not included in income except to the extent such amounts exceed the expenses.

Fines and collateral for violation of traffic laws or other laws and regulations are not deductible.

The name of the Town of Coloma in El Dorado County is derived from "Koloma," a Nishian Indian tribe. James W. Marshall discovered gold there Jan. 24, 1848.

Variety Store Changes Owners, Serves As 'Retirement Venture'

New name for Mill Valley 5 and 10 Cent Store is Village Variety, and new owners are John and Elizabeth Blodgett, Mill Valley residents for a number of years.

Blodgett has made a long career of the exporting business, with trade to the Far East. Village Variety is something of a "retirement venture," although it keeps him almost as busy as he ever was.

Former owners Carlton and Joelle Nicholson are planning a trip to Europe.

TWO MARIN MEN have been admitted to general partnership in the securities firm of Sutro and Co.: Richard Blum of San Rafael and Daniel Williams of Greenbrae.

Blum, 30, is one of the youngest partners ever to be admitted to the firm. He began his career with Sutro in 1958 as a sales trainee and has been an account executive in the San Francisco office.

Blum

Williams

Williams joined Sutro in 1955 as a securities analyst after experience with two other securities firms. He subsequently became registered and assumed sales-research duties leading to his present post as sales manager for Northern California offices.

The Town of Concord was first named Todos Santos (All Saints) in 1862 by Salvio Pacheco, owner of Rancho del Diablo. Later the name was changed to that of Concord, Mass.

CROWNED 'BOSS OF THE YEAR'

Robert L. Dias, manager of Marin Masonry, Inc., San Rafael, receives from Mrs. Esther M. Dearth this year's honors as "best boss" awarded by the Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Marin County. Dias won the crown and a certificate of excellence thanks to Mrs. Shirley Rubenstein (left), whose essay extolling his virtues was judged best of all entries submitted.

Today is Thursday, March 17, the 76th day of 1966 with 289 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening star is Jupiter.

American golf champion Bobby Jones was born on this day in 1902.

On this day in history:

In 1897, James J. (Gentleman Jim) Corbett lost his everyweight boxing crown to Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev.

In 1898, John Holland's submarine—said to be the first practical one in history—was submerged off Staten Island, N.Y. It remained under water for almost one and three-fourths hours.

In 1953, the last price control set up during World War II in the United States was discarded.

A thought for the day — Novelist W. Somerset Maugham said: "People ask you for criticism, but they only want praise."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Intuition Can Sadly Obscure Some Pretty Obvious Problems

Readers of this column must help me hide it from my wife.

I have spent years concealing my masculine opinion of feminine intuition at the bridge table, and I hate to see all that diplomacy go down the drain.

Still, my duty to my readers compels me to speak up.

South, a lady who relied heavily on her intuition, thought the bidding indicated that West had the king of diamonds.

More important, however, her intuition backed up this indication.

She was positive about that king.

CRYSTAL BALL CLOUDY

West led the king of clubs and then led the queen of spades to dummy's king. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and then led the queen of clubs to the ace.

West returned a club, and South discarded the queen of diamonds. Intuition told her that this play eliminated a loser from her hand.

Unfortunately, the spades broke badly, and South had to lose two spade tricks.

Down one.

All because of intuition.

INTUITION WAS RIGHT

Please, ladies, don't write indignant letters to tell me that South's intuition was right. It's true that West did have the king of diamonds.

The trouble was that South was so busy intuiting that she didn't think.

South should discard a spade instead of the queen of diamonds on dummy's good club. Then she cashes the ace of spades.

If spades break, she leads a third spade and gets to dummy with a trump to discard the queen of diamonds on dummy's fourth spade.

When the spades break badly, South takes the ace of diamonds and leads the queen of diamonds to make West take the trick.

West must return a club or a diamond, and dummy ruffs while South discards her last spade.

Intuition at the bridge table is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't take the place of thinking.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one notrump.

You have the maximum count of 18 points, but the weak doubleton in diamonds is a flaw. The trouble with opening with one spade is that you then have the problem of rebidding if partner responds one notrump.

A raise to either two or three notrump may cause you to miss a game in hearts.

Terra Linda Group Plans Bonds Stand

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District agreed last night to take a vote at their next meeting on the county park bond issue scheduled for the June 7 ballot.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker will speak on the $4.3 million proposal at the April 6 meeting chairman Jack Brandon of the district board said today.

By April 6 supervisors are expected to decide whether the bond funds for cities will be allocated on a population basis or on a project basis.

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District also:

1. Agreed on special recreation programs, including movies, during Easter vacation week which starts April 4.

2. Proposed Dr. Michael J. Franzblau for appointment to the vacancy on the Marin County Planning Commission, endorsing earlier action taken by the Terra Linda Community Services District board.

.3 Agreed to urge the county to expand the recreation program for the handicapped to other areas of the county. The program has been underway this fiscal year at the Terra Linda Recreation Center as a pilot project.

4. Learned that the search for a recreation director to replace William A. Gordon, who resigned, is still in progress. Gordon said that earlier negotiations on a candidate fell through and the position is being readvertised.

Variances Denied

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments last night denied John J. Apffel variances to permit an addition to the rear of his house at 25 Flying Cloud Course which would not leave sufficient setbacks. Variances to permit Herman Fuetsch to add a second story to his garage at 3 Hickory Avenue were affirmed.

Berlin Escape Plotter Freed From East

BERLIN (AP) — A young American just released from an East German jail said today he was caught trying to help an East Berlin family escape to West Berlin and he would try it again if he had it to do over.

John Van Altena, 22, Milton Junction, Wis., was released from a prison in Communist East Berlin yesterday. He was brought to West Berlin by a New York attorney, Maxwell R. Rabb, who had taken an interest in the case.

Van Altena was released after serving 17 months of an eight-year sentence for what the East Germans call aiding refugee flight.

He told a news conference he had been in five prisons, was given no work and for the "first 12 months I was alone in a cell big enough for two men."

He was allowed 20 minutes of exercise a day in what he described "as a sort of cage."

Van Altena, down 10 pounds from his normal weight of 165 pounds, was pale, his hands shook and he smiled nervously.

He said he tried to help a family of three escape and was caught at the Communist wall crossing point opposite the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. The mother of the refugee family and her daughter, 5, were in a false compartment in his car, he said.

Van Altena said he had built the hidden compartment into his American car at his own expense and—if he had succeeded in bringing out the mother and daughter—he would have gone back two days later to get the father.

"If I had it to do over, I would do it again. But I would do it more carefully," he said.

Burglars Visit Church, House

Burglars broke an office window of the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, Los Ranchitos, to enter and scatter files, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Rev. Lincoln Brown Wirt told officers nothing was apparently missing, however.

Samuel Grossman, 8 Irving Drive, Sleepy Hollow, told deputies someone entered his home via his rear garage door and ransacked the kitchen and bedrooms. It was not determined if anything was taken, officers said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

42 EDITORIAL PAGE Thurs., March 17, 1966 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

University In Marin Could Be Worthy Goal

A University of California campus somewhere in the North Bay (Marin, Napa, Solano and several other counties) is a distinct possibility, perhaps as early as 1972.

Now is the time to start thinking about creating an atmosphere conducive to a UC campus in Marin.

The Marin Development Foundation sounded out the University about a year ago in a letter to the Chancellor, offering to provide information about land availability and other data that the University Board of Regents may need in selecting a site. The Marin Development Foundation director, Carroll Snyker, has promised to keep in touch with the University so that Marin will not be overlooked in the site selection.

A UC campus in Marin should be an asset both to our county and to the university.

The University Growth Plan, just adopted by the Regents last month, contains statements that appear to be made to order for a Marin campus.

"These campuses might capitalize on their metropolitan setting by a close association with the junior colleges in the area . . . Part-time adult students might, in particular, make effective use of such centers to work for degrees. Greater leisure, greater income and the need for greater skill may all combine to create a greater need for higher education at all age levels."

The Growth Plan speaks of museums, concerts, art groups and meetings of civic boards, which could all provide the subject matter of classes. "The presence of creative and performing artists of high quality could be a great resource . . ."

Development of a university campus would be compatible with Marin's strong inclination toward conservation of natural beauty and emphasis on culture.

San Francisco, of course, is the metropolitan center in the Bay Area. However, it may be handicapped by the scarcity of open land for a campus that will stretch over several hundred acres.

Marin still has such areas, especially in the northern part of the county. Compared with other counties like Napa or Solano, Marin also has the advantage of closer proximity to the cultural and civic centers of the Bay Area.

Just as industrial executives find it attractive to live in Marin and commute to work in the metropolitan centers, the county provides an ideal setting for university faculty and graduate students to live and pursue their studies.

The University Growth Plan calls for one new campus by 1972 and a second campus by 1975. San Francisco metropolitan area is one of the considerations; the other is in Los Angeles.

The state Coordinating Council for Higher Education may recommend one of the campuses to the Legislature in 1969. Both Marin legislators (Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley) have expressed interest in seeing a UC campus located in Marin.

A start has been made to focus attention on Marin as a desirable campus site. That effort should be continued so that when the time for decision arrives, the University Regents will be fully apprised of the benefits we have to offer. We must not miss this opportunity by default.

Republicans In Congress Leading Way In Anti-Bias Jury Legislation

WASHINGTON—The Republican minority in Congress — which may well not be such a minority after the fall elections —is beginning to put on an animate and positive performance.

The GOP leaders apparently see that it is simply not good enough for them to show how much they oppose the Johnson administration. They realize they must stand for things, not just against things and that, above all, they must show their own wares.

In the past few days Republicans have been showing what they would do if they were in charge.

With alert initiative, 18 House Republicans led the way —ahead of President Johnson —in offering concrete legislation to end racial discrimination in jury selection.

BY PUTTING together into one package a variety of measures to aid the underprivileged, the House Republican leaders have offered a solid alternative to the administration's widely criticized anti-poverty program.

Through sustained criticism —often through the voice of a strong civil rights spokesman, Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, the Republicans have forced the administration to come forward with plans to put some new push behind its enforcement machinery. This bears particularly on denying federal financial support to programs where discrimination is practiced.

After a six-month study 25 liberal House Republicans are issuing a report this week pressing for wide-ranging improvements in the foreign aid program.

IN THESE FOUR areas the Republicans are bestirring themselves constructively. The effect is to keep the administration on its toes, to force the anti-poverty program to look closely at itself in the mirror and to prove that the GOP is steadily returning to its historic home as a leader in the cause of civil rights.

Nothing has yet come from the administration on non-discriminatory jury selection.

But something very positive has now come from Republican congressmen.

Their premise is that "it is futile to take civil rights controversies from the streets into the courts if the administration of justice lacks equity and force."

Their solution is to require that federal jurors be selected at random from voting lists and to provide that a defendant in state court could have his case tried in federal court if the federal court found the state jury selection system to be discriminatory.

THE GOP bill would also tighten existing statutes and increase penalties against both public officials and private citizens for harassing or hampering people exercising federally protected civil rights.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, of New York, and Rep. Albert H. Quie, of Minnesota, contend that the Republican "Opportunity Crusade" will "infuse new vitality and new realism into programs for training, educating and motivating the prisoners of poverty in our midst." A major ingredient in this package is the human investment bill, which would give an incentive to private industry to spend more money to train and employ people with low skills.

Even without enough votes to get their own way very often, the Republicans are making themselves felt.

High School Concert, Conductor Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last night (March 18) I had the privilege of attending the San Rafael High School concert band's Winter Concert under the direction of Mr. Terry Summa, a newcomer to Marin. These young people, less than 50 of them and mostly freshmen and sophomores, gave a most exciting performance. The depth and clarity of their playing was outstanding; the various solos played with understanding and feeling. Mr. Summa more than deserved the standing ovation he received at the conclusion.

Their next concert is in May. Those of you interested at all in the music program for students in Marin County should plan to attend. You will experience a truly delightful evening.

Good Forces Needed For Youth

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have been deeply concerned over the article appearing in your paper concerning the feeling of a few members of the Board of Trustees of Marin Junior College of wanting to abolish the Newman Center which was recently established.

I have four teen-agers who will soon be students at the college, and it was so gratifying to know that finally there was a Newman Center on the campus. The Newman Club was, and still is, such a source of good for the students when I was attending the University of California at Berkeley.

I am very concerned and amazed that there are those who for personal reasons wish to abolish the Newman Center at Marin J.C., especially when we need all the forces of good for our youth. There is enough tearing down. Please do not destroy any source of good, especially the Newman Center at Marin J.C.

I commend the Independent-Journal for its excellent articles concerning this matter and especially for bringing such a grave matter to our attention.

Perry Candidacy A Good One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Two years ago my family and I moved out of Sausalito, because I could no longer cope with the spending of that city and its management as well as the county. Taxes have put me out of the real estate investment field.

Now I read with interest that Matts Perry, Sausalito's retired fire chief is in the campaign for councilman.

If we had men like Matts Perry to run the city of Sausalito, I would have never moved to Sebastopol.

To this I want to say that whenever Sausalito again creates a governing body consisting of men like the retired fire chief, I will move back to the city of Sausalito, which gave me a happy home for 20 years.

Union Dues Not Deducted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On page eight of your edition for March 8 you had an article concerning a suit brought by the Barbers Union against a San Rafael barbershop owned by Fred Esparza.

In this article you implied that the union policy was for deducting and paying dues for employee barbers.

This has never been the obligation of the employing barber and we would appreciate having you correct this article.

This litigation is in the process of settlement and I hope to be able to advise you that the matter is settled.

'No Parking' For Cleaning

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The express purpose of the ordinance banning all night parking is to free our streets for the street cleaner. Our street (Brookside and Berkley) in San Anselmo has been cleaned once in four years, and then only in front of our house and because of a complaint we voiced to Mr. Flautt. As a taxpayer, I would like to park as I like or have the service for which we pay. Fair?

Some Wrongs In San Rafael

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Writing as a businessman of San Rafael, I would like to point out some of the things that are wrong with our town.

First—the most complaints I hear from my customers are the parking meters.

Couldn't the City make the meter girls ease up just a little, instead of having a contest to see how many they can write.

I had one man tell me I just spent $100 up on Fourth Street and come back to find a $2 ticket on my car.

The Chamber of Commerce also could look at San Rafael, not just see what they can do for Fourth Street. Everyone in business isn't on Fourth Street. Also the small businessman who works and runs his place six sometimes seven days a week.

So the large places as the banks, furniture stores—their managers can become very active in the chamber. They don't have their life savings on the line, and they have their time to give. Yes, people will shop elsewhere, free parking, no walking two or three blocks. The big places can always open a branch or move, the small places will stay because they don't have that big money, but the Chamber and the I-J will still go on telling us what's best for us. No wonder the small businessman loses interest in the town.

No wonder most of them won't join the Chamber.

I guess we should start our own chamber at $10 a year and really get something done, because if you believe it or not, there are more of us than there are of you.

Deal With Hanoi, Kosygin Advises

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Premier Kosygin gave some astonishing advice to Vice President Humphrey when they met in New Delhi at the funeral of Prime Minister Shastri.

Kosygin's views are being cited by Humphrey to support his strong opposition to Sen. Robert Kennedy's contention that the Communist Viet Cong should be given a role in the South Viet Nam government.

In their two-hour talk, Humphrey quotes Kosygin as saying, "The Viet Cong guerrillas are controlled and directed by North Viet Nam. If you want to negotiate a peace settlement, your government must deal directly with Hanoi and no one else."

IN RELATING these details of his meeting with the Soviet leader, Humphrey stressed that Russia regards the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, as completely under North Viet Nam domination.

WITH THIS remarkable Kremlin confirmation on U. S. assessment of the Viet Cong role, Humphrey contended he could do nothing but explode when newsmen in New Zealand showed him Kennedy's proposal.

"I couldn't remain silent and let an irresponsible statement like that go unchallenged," declared Humphrey. "If I did not publicly denounce Kennedy's proposal, we could have just as well kissed the government of Prime Minister Ky good-bye. It would have collapsed."

The vice president stated flatly he consulted no one before caustically characterizing Kennedy's stand as comparable to "putting a fox in the chicken coop or an arsonist in the fire department."

"I tried to use language that any person in the world could understand," explained Humphrey bluntly.

While obviously pleased with the battleground chosen by Kennedy for their first foreign policy clash, Humphrey insisted that he also was disturbed that Kennedy would favor forcing a coalition government on South Viet Nam.

VICE PRESIDENT Humphrey made several other startling observations concerning the Viet Nam war in his meeting with the Foreign Relations Committee.

"As we increase our military strength and firepower," Humphrey said, "it is my opinion that the Communists may just fade away into the jungles, and the fighting will evaporate as it did in Greece."

Pressed for the reason for this belief, Humphrey explained:

"In my talks in Saigon and to an extent with other Asian leaders, I found that most of them believe there will never be a peace conference. They suspect, as I do, that there will be a gradual diminution in the fighting as our military superiority becomes clear to North Viet Nam."

HUMPHREY SINGLED out General Westmoreland for high praise as both a "great military and civilian general."

Except for a tense moment at the start, when Chairman Fulbright questioned Humphrey before allowing him to make an opening statement, the session was friendly and without incident.

"Who gave you authority to grant loans of $100 million to India and Pakistan?" demanded Fulbright. "What was your authority for making those announcements?"

"THERE IS nothing mysterious about why I made them," replied Humphrey pleasantly. "The authority came from Congress. As I am sure you will recall, the Senate and House approved these loans last year. The money was not given to India and Pakistan because of the outbreak of their fighting over Kashmir. All I did was to make the announcement after the President decided the two countries were living up to their cease-fire agreement and should be given the funds already voted by Congress."

BROOKLYN BOY MAKES A ROBOT

A copper-colored robot performs 11 different tricks on command of the 19-year-old Brooklyn youth who put it together.

Among other things, the 6-foot 5-inch giant can walk, talk, spin its body in half-circle and light up in the dark.

Over 100 lights illumine the robot, while 475 feet of wires make it responsive to the 23-switch control panel.

The youth also has dreams of building an entire family of robots controlled by radio waves.

Imagination, hard work and a streak of genius are required to bring off such a feat.

But it too often happens that young people go through life scarcely aware of the great potential for good that God has planted in them.

Anything you can do to help teen-agers actively to fulfill their irreplaceable mission to contribute to the betterment of others will be effort well spent.

"Insist, that they who believe in God may be careful to excel in good works."
(Titus 3:8)

Let me be alert, O Lord, to the power of youth to surpass their ordinary expectations.

Governor Brown Adds Confusion To Idea Of Full-Time Legislature

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Governor Brown, in placing some phases of constitutional revision on the special call, one of which was the question of full annual legisiative sessions, said:

"Annual sessions, accompanied by improved legislative salaries, will provide better government for California, and will attract more candidates for Senate and Assembly seats. This wider choice is in the best interest of our Democratic system."

THE GOVERNOR further has complicated the issue by insisting on conflict of interest legislation, which in effect appears to be designed to further the complications of a professional legislature running the state.

Whether the concept of a professional legislature, with members theoretically deriving all of their living from a legislative salary, is good, bad or indifferent, remains to be seen.

THE GOVERNOR no doubt rightly insists on some legislation of this type before the people of the state vote to turn over the matter of legislative salaries to the Legislature itself, if they so vote.

On the theoretical side, the change would appear to be highly desirable. Legislators would be empowered to vote themselves salaries compatible with their status as representatives of the people, and under prospective law, would be prohibited from engaging in activities with the interests of the people they represent.

However, like many another theory, the proposed system has some holes.

IT HAS BEEN found time and again that passing a law does not eliminate an undesirable situation. Nor would revising the constitution, no matter how much the document needs revision.

The vague line between conflict of interest and representation of the people cannot be specifically defined, and therein lies one of the loop-holes.

California has been fortunate in the over-all quality of its legislators. To change the ground rules could lead to deterioration of this quality. On the other hand, legislators are entitled to recompense equal to the service they are supposed to perform.

Apparently, there is no easy answer to the question.

MARVIN MANDELBAUM, the gate keeper, was reading his evening paper when his wife, an inveterate bargain hunter, arrived home with a big package under her arm. "Marvin," she exulted, "I picked up this gorgeous bridal gown at a clearance sale for only $12.50!"

"What earthly use have you for a bridal gown?" groaned Mr. Mandelbaum. "Don't you know we've been married already 44 years?"

"Of course I know," snapped Mrs. M. undeflated. "But for $12.50 it can hang in the closet."

COLORFUL HARRY Oliver, self-styled "desert rat," tells about two lady tourists in Nevada who paused at an old prospector's lay-out and were served generous portions of his stew for luncheon.

"Best stew I ever ate," enthused one of the ladies. "I'll give you twenty dollars for the recipe."

The prospector's eyes lit up, but unfortunately, he had dumped so many leftovers and what-not into the stew that for the life of him he couldn't remember half the ingredients. In desperation he rushed a can of the stew to his pal at the U.S. Assay office, and got back a 3-page list with this P.S.: "Charlie: If you eat a plate of this stuff for dinner tonight, I'll give you 3 to 1 you won't survive till breakfast time tomorrow."

"IT USED to cost two bits," recalls Fletcher Knebel, "to watch Cary Grant flirt with the grandmothers of the girls he flirts with now for $1.75."

Ascherman Might Be Better Off To Lose On Local Case Hearing

The lengthy and expensive hearing on the appeal of San Francisco's Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital is in its death throes. Observers (and there are not many of them left after three long-winded months) predict the show in the hospital's blue room will close before the month of March does.

The hearing will be ended, they say, mainly because the cast of attorneys has long-standing commitments in other courtrooms during the month of April. Otherwise, the implication is, the hearing could go on indefinitely.

HOSPITAL district attorneys still have to call a couple of minor witnesses to the stand. Following this testimony, the schedule calls for Hearing Officer Thomas C. Nelson to hear final arguments from attorneys for the hospital district and Dr. Ascherman. Just when all this will take place is uncertain. Most of the participants were committed elsewhere this week and the hearing was adjourned indefinitely.

Just because the end of the Ascherman hearing is in sight though, does not mean that one should assume this will also mark the end of the case of Dr. Ascheman vs. Marin General Hospital District. Harry Gonick, attorney for the doctor, said recently that he fully expects to be beaten in the hearing.

Gonick indicated he is getting fidgety, eager to move the case into the court structure of the State of California. There would be benefits, he said, in losing the hearing and winning in court. A courtroom victory, he said, could carry the order for the hopsital district to pay the doctor's legal expenses.

IN KEEPING with the season, it should be noted that the Town of Corte Madera has the best park for kite flying. The town park on Tamalpais Drive is new and the trees there, naturally, are small. The short foliage and the scarcity of utility wires combine to provide unusually free sailing for the kites. The fact that the park is on the lowland does not detract from the kite flying. As town park tennis players remarked to the Town Council a couple of months ago, the park area is seldom free of healthy winds blowing in from the bay.

Officials of the Larkspur School District were enthusiastically pounding themselves on the backs this week. Students from the district's two schools with seventh and eighth grades racked up a remarkable number of awards in the county science fair over the weekend. Of the 28 students from Neil Cummins School entered in the fair, 24 received awards. Of the 11 from Henry C. Hall School, nine took awards. These ranged from grand prize to honorable mention.

One of the factors in the coup, said the educators, was the district requirement of one hour of science a day for seventh and eighth grade students. This requirement is commendable. So were the initiative and imagination shown by the students entered from the two schools.

Dixie School Tax Backers To Meet

The district board proposal to hike the maximum "operating" tax rate from $2.45 to $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation will go before the voters April 19. the district's tax rate this year totals $3.125.

Speakers at the meeting will be Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff; Earl H. Koehler, chairman of the board, and Thomas Campanella and Douglas McVae, members of the finance committee.

Boating Safety Class Offered In Novato

With the advent of the spring boating season, a course in the operation and safety of small boats has been scheduled at the adult evening high school at Novato High School, according to Principal Robert McKeay.

This course will be taught from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Thursdays starting March 24. Instructors will be provided by the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Fire Board To Meet

Unwitting Fifth Column Makes Lord Haw-Haw Look Like A Piker

I don't scare easily at so-called horror films, and "thrillers" like "Frankenstein's Son" and "Dracula's Daughter" start me giggling rather than breaking into a cold sweat. But I have just seen a genuine blood-curdler that has left me shaking.

It was a private showing, since "While Brave Men Die" is in no sense a Hollywood production: It cost little, the lighting is poor and the sound only so-so. Yet, in the hope that you might want to arrange to see it, I give the address of the makers: Newscope, 1010 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

NOT THAT THIS 30-minute documentary is gory: It is merely a collection of clips of the many demonstrations against our Viet Nam policy. We have all heard and read of them and perhaps witnessed one in our own community. But, somehow, the cumulative effect is altogether menacing.

For you realize that the enemy, too, undoubtedly has these pictures and—for once, without doctoring them — is reaping a billion dollars' worth of propaganda from them. This is the real McCoy and the voices are those of American intellectuals, not those of Lord Haw-Haw and Tokyo Rose.

EXAGGERATED? Well, try the shoe on the other foot. Suppose our government showed you authentic photos of anti-war demonstrations in North Viet Nam? Suppose you saw prominent legislators and ministers and professors calling on Ho to stop this insensate killing of innocents and let the South Vietnamese alone? Suppose you saw the students of Hanoi University and other campuses marching in a seemingly endless procession with placards reading, "Red China, Go Home!" and "Ho-Chi-Minh is a Murderer!"? That they tore up their draft cards and then chained themselves to the gates outside the president's home?

Wouldn't you be certain that the Hanoi regime was ready to quit and that just one more push would force it to sue for peace? And that it was about time to get the U. S. S. Missouri in shape for the official surrender?

And that — in reverse, of course,—is the false impression our unwitting Fifth Column has left on Hanoi and Peiping. And, by so doing, has actually prolonged the war.

LET NO ONE take this as an argument against freedom of speech. Until the very moment of ultimate decision, I am for debate to the fullest extent. But, once the Rubicon has been crossed, no country can tolerate dissension that gives aid and comfort to the enemy while its own men are dying. Self-preservation is the first law for governments, too.

There was honest and bitter debate amongst us before our entry into World War II—but can you imagine what would have happened if, after Pearl Harbor, there had been such organized demonstrations as we are now witnessing even as our boys die in Viet Nam? And the latest figures show that our casualty list now exceeds that of the War of 1812 and the Spanish-American War combined.

And my reading of history tells me there were highly honorable Tories who opposed our own Revolution — and were, consequently, treated as enemies after the shooting started. Indeed, Ben Franklin, who believed with all his heart that "there was no such thing as a good war or a bad peace," tried to the last to get the ministers of George III to the conference table. But, once the die had been cast, no one worked harder for the American cause than Poor Richard.

FOR NO WAR, justifiable or not, can be waged as though it were a Town Hall meeting. While we're in it, democracy must take a furlough for the duration. When the command comes to go up a hill, the order cannot be put to a popular vote. To disobey is treason.

I happen, philosophically, to hold the unpopular opinion that we might well, with enormous benefit to the world, have followed George Washington's advice about entangling alliances and thus kept out of some wars. Just as I believe that, had we not connived at the overthrow of Diem, we might still have just a handful of advisers in Viet Nam instead of what may soon be 300,000 soldiers.

AND I FIND it interesting that LBJ, then vice president, opposed Diem's overthrow, while some of the current demonstrators were all for it.

But that's water over the dam. At the moment our boys are in it up to the hilt. And, in the bloody carnival of war, who isn't for us is against us. And that goes for intellectuals, too.

Three Sought For Threats With Knife

Sheriff's officers today were seeking three Negro youths who pulled a knife on two Shoreline Market clerks in Tamalpais Valley Tuesday evening after being caught stealing three cartons of cigarettes.

The clerks, LeRoy Roscoe Riecke and William Louis Green, told deputies the trio entered the store at 207 Flamingo Road, about 6:55 p.m. One bought a package of cigarettes, according to the report, but the clerks saw the others stuffing the cartons under their coats.

Confronted, one of them drew a knife, opened its eight-inch blade, and threatened: "Are you going to argue with this? Are you going to argue with this knife?" according to the clerks.

Deputies said the trio then feld afoot on Shoreline Highway, tak ing the cigarettes with them. They were all described as about 17 years old.
